THE MONDAY CRAWFISH Monday, Dec. 20, 1915. DEAN COLLINS, Editor.

EDITORIAL.

The swellment that The Craw-fish wishes to express at this time is no new one, but we feel that our civit duly calls us and we must speak, even at the risk of accessing to uncorn a plantitude that was bottled about the vess occalination set in in the lib the year prohibition set in its Maine, if not before.

Brisfly, the sentiment we wish to pour out for the gen, puh at this time is none other than the w. k. and pop, hardy annual! "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

We realize that the gen, pith is rushed this senseon, as it has been in other seasons. We know this because so many of them this because no many of them are trying to save time by spating Christmas with an "X."

I the But we would urgs still greater speed, we retierate. Do your Xmas shopping early Friday night, because the owi care are going to be trowded that hight, and unless you may find some rule floorwalker or impertinent shop give up a seat to you, no matter haw tired you may be.

Confronted with the possibility of an invasion, against which the hardy sons of the West had gone elsewhere to oppose themselves, the Chamber of Commerce was at its with end. It was Charley Berg and English, of the bureau of retail merchasta, who finally discovered a way to offset the disadvantage.

Thursday, the time set by the Admiral of the heatils freet for the columbia, was set aside by the Chamber as "Columbia invasion Day." Proclamations of the Mayor and Governer backed up the idea.

The Commissioners of Multineman County declared a 20-cent bounty on all scalps of invaders brought in 60 that day, and hardware stores of the city advertised marvelous bargains in the materials necessary for sweeping the enemy into the sea, said hargains good for that day and would hard with the railroad would run ensureions to Astoria and way points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and way points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and way points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and way points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and way points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and may points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and may points on that day and would run ensureions to Astoria and Empire, and by Tuesday morning the volunteer army began to arrive by squads platoons, companies, battallons, regiments, and it was expected that on Wednesday they would begin to come in corps and divisions.
