That night he sat late before the dying embers in the big chimney. His wife had gone to bed first, and he was all sione in the kitchen. Not a sound was heard but the rain pelting on the patched roof. Out into the silence sounded a faint tap on the door. "Come in," said Peter, kindly. The door opened and in tripped a tiny elf. His brown robe hung wet about his drenched limbs.

Sit by the fire," said Peter, draw, ing up a steel to the warm glow. The little elf took the ragged shoes from his wet fest and placed them on the hearth to dry. Peter felt sorry for the little man, as he gave him a drink of water and the last crumbs of the bread

Tick, tack, tick, tack went the shoe maker's hammer, and in a short the tiny shoes were as good as new. The little elf placed them on his feet joyously. "I am not dumb," he said, "but I have been for years a troublesome so

The elf dug down into his brown robe and brought up a bag.

'In this bag." he said. "are enough rubles to make you rich for life. I give them to you in reward for your kindness. Huy for yourselves land, cattle and a fine home, but remember to always be, as you were to me, kind to others. Tell your wife also to remember this caution: If she ever speaks crossly to you again all the riches will vanish and she will be left poorer than she has ever been." And with this the elf opened the door and vanished.

GOOD THINGS IN THE MARKET

THE Portland stores and markets having done splendid holiday business are now settling down to regular weekly trade, confident that the good times, which the East is already enjoying, have begun to roll like a wave across the continent and will submerge us before long.

Fiorida is consigning us "Sunshine" grapefruit in boxes of 18 to 24 at $2.25 each, and Florida grapefruit has a tang all its own.

Sold singly, "russets" are retailed at two for 25 cents: other stock at 10 cents each. California 5 cents each or six for a quarter.

Plorida oranges, 40 cents a dozen. California navel, 25 and 30 cents; lemons, 10, 15 and 20 cents. Mexican limes, 20 cents a dozen. A new shipment came by last steamer from Japan of the "pears" with which we became acquainted last Autumn. Round as apples, of uniform lightrown color, and very julcy; they bring 5 cents for two. Bananas are becoming scarce and are elling at 25 cents a dozen.

Italian chestnuts, also a novelty, re-

The fish market is enlivened by the intelligence that a considerable run of Columbia River smelt appeared in the Cowlitz on Wednesday, and consequently the price has dropped to 15 cents a pound.

A wide variety of apples from 19 cents to 30 cents a dozen is on sale, and very good Winter Nellis pears at three quands for a quarter.

Choice Buerre Bosc pears at 40 cents a dozen, and other inviting varieties at 20 cents.

Gold, of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived in Portland yesterday morning and will give several addresses in the syna-gouse of the city while here. His plan is to organize the orthodox Jews of the city with a view to re-establishing ultimately the home of that race in Palestine.

Rabbi Gold comes as a representative of the Misrachi Society, a branch of the Zionist organization.

The plan of the movement which he represents he said yesterday is to continue the work of colonization which has already been begun in Palestine.

"We do not plan to take Jews from this country and establish them in Palestine," he said, "but rather we will take Jews from the lands where they are at present persecuted."

The visitor is the rabbi of the conare at present persecuted."

The visitor is the rabbi of the congregation of Beth Jacob Anshei Shalom the largest synagogue in Brooklyn, He will speak at the First-street syn-agogue Saturday morning at 10:30 and at the Sixth-street synagogue Sunday afternoon at 2:30.
