

TRAFFIC CONTINUES DESPITE SNOWFALL

Although Official Record is but 3.8 inches, Storm is Unusual Here.

CAR RAILS KEPT CLEAR

Traction Company Employs Men, Plows and Scrapers—Delivery-men Use Sleighs—Opportunity for Outdoor Sports Set.

A force of more than 120 extra men were put to work yesterday by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company clearing the tracks of the company's lines of snow that has been recorded as the heaviest fall in the city for a number of years. Although the official record for this storm is but 3.8 inches, all but 3 of an inch falling between the hours of 3 A. M. and 5 P. M. snow was drifted in the more unsheltered parts of the city and piled up to a depth of six inches in some places.

Through the industry of the men who were sent out to keep the tracks, and particularly the curves, clear of the snow, and through the use of early yesterday morning of snow plows on the suburban lines in the city, traffic was practically unhampered.

Schedules Are Maintained. Oregon Electric officials reported a depth of from four to six inches between the city and Wilsonville, on the Salem line, and Forest Grove, on that branch, but their schedules were unbroken. The same officials also said that, although a depth of 3.8 inches was attained between Stevenson and White Salmon, on the line of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle road, their trains had been able to get through without much difficulty.

Most of the cars on the lines of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company yesterday were equipped with snow scrapers, and all the difficulty that was experienced was with the scrapers. Some of them became bent and needed and momentarily stopped traffic. The scrapers, however, proved an effective method of keeping the tracks clear and insuring easy traction.

A number of delivery men also went to work by the city street-cleaning department. All day men and carts patrolled the main streets, cleaning up the piles of snow that had been swept from the sidewalks to the gutters.

Shoes Are Used. Deliverymen who were lucky enough to have balshades at hand made good use of them in their deliveries yesterday. Even the narrow streets were passable to this particular sort of vehicle, and many deliverymen transferred their wagon boxes from wheels to runners to take advantage of the easier mode of traction.

A number of cutters appeared on the streets of the suburbs, and last night skidding and coasting were forms of recreation enjoyed by many. Clearing of snow from the sidewalks around Portland residences was a general occupation, and considerable head snow plows were in evidence in all parts of the city.

As the official forecast declares for rain or snow for today, it is possible that the snowfall of yesterday will be materially increased. However, warmer weather is predicted with southerly winds.

A maximum temperature of 34 degrees was recorded yesterday and a minimum of 27.

A gale is predicted along the coast, strong winds having been ordered up at the mouth of the Columbia River. A maximum velocity of 29 miles an hour has already been attained by the wind along the coast.

SNOW-LADEN Sleighing is Popular and Grip Prevalent in City. VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Tonight there is six and a half inches of snow on the level, of which 2.7 inches fell today.

Businessmen are having a hard time to make schedules. The ferry has been operated every other trip across the Columbia today. There is considerable ice in the Columbia River. The Vancouver city is situated on a high automobile truck slid to the bottom this morning, but no serious damage was done.

Shipping in the country is reported to be good. All sleighs and cutters in the city are engaged two days ahead. There is considerable sickness, mostly grip.

LA GRANDE IS STORM-SWEPT Wind is Described as Terrific and Snow Blocks Roads.

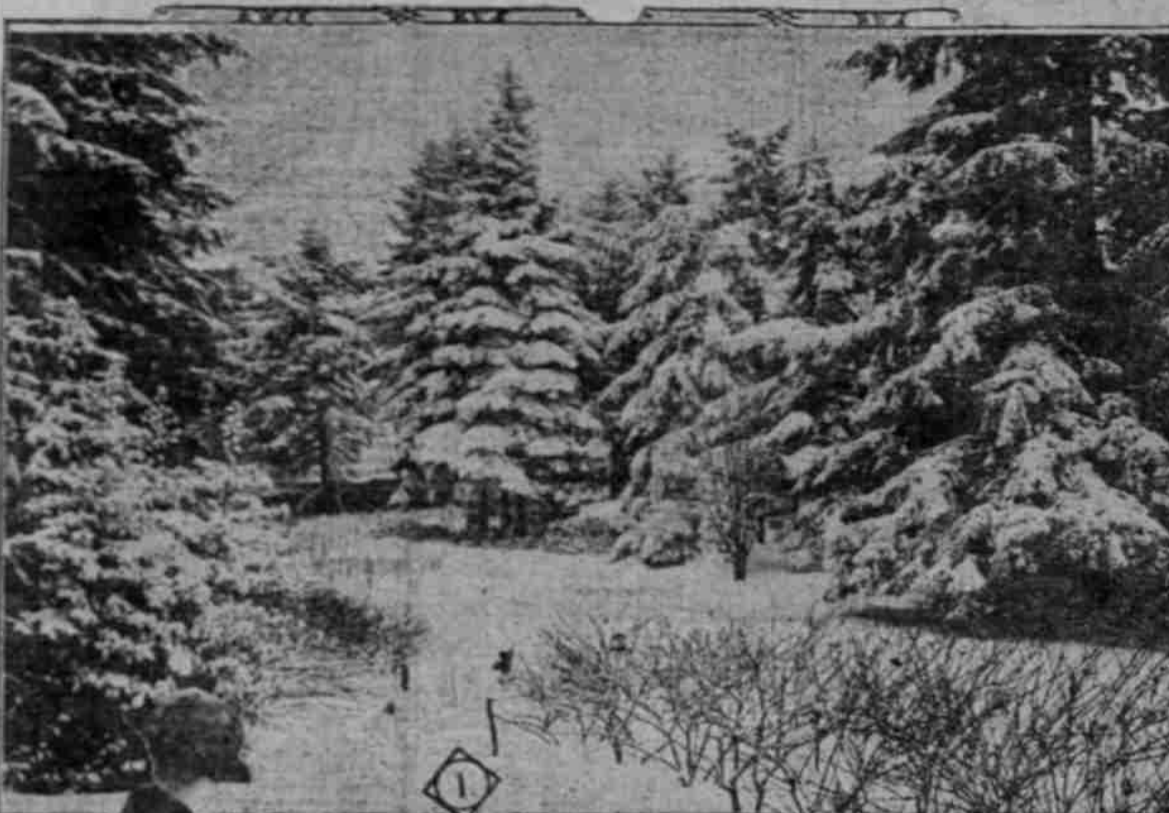

LA GRANDE, Or., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—A terrific wind storm is sweeping over La Grande tonight. County roads are practically impassable from snow drifts.

HOOD RIVER SNOW FOOT DEEP. HOOD RIVER, Or., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—A foot of snow now covers the Lower Hood River Valley, the heaviest blanket since 1912, when three feet fell. One of the heaviest storms of the past week's intermittent snowfalls prevailed this morning, when a depth of four inches was added. The depth of the snow increases with the altitude of the valley. In parts of the upper valley 24 inches is reported.

RAIN MEETS SNOW; LOGGING RESUMES. RAINMEET, Wash., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—After several heavy snow storms to-day the weather moderated late in the evening and it began raining. As a result the snow which has covered the ground for the past week is rapidly melting. Logging camps which have been closed down on account of the snow will resume operations at once.

EASTERN OREGON WEATHER MODERATE. LA GRANDE, Or., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Country and rail traffic is open to-day. Eastern Oregon is mostly clear of snow and rain is reported.

Had Spent Six Hundred Dollars Trying to Cure His Stomach Trouble.

It has been estimated that there are at least five million adults in the United States upon whom dangerous diseases are working, without the knowledge of the victim. It is a matter of record that 90 per cent of the hundreds of people rejected last year by one of the largest insurance companies on account of disease directly traceable to the stomach, liver and kidneys were unaware of their danger until the examining physician informed them of it. To these people the new herbal system, Tonic Plant Juice, is like a ray of hope. It is a modern remedy for modern ills caused by the rush and hustle of the times, and is one of the best tonics to be found for all ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood.
