

ALLIES EVACUATE LAST OF GALLIPOLI

Retirement Declared Complete Success.

ALL BUT FEW GUNS SAVED

War Office Says Only One Soldier Was Wounded.

TURKS TELL OF BATTLE

Constantinople Version Asserts Capture of "Great Enemy Camp" and Says Enemy Vessel With Troops Was Sunk.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—It is officially announced that the complete evacuation of the Gallipoli peninsula has been successfully carried out.

General Sir Charles Monro reports that only one British soldier was wounded in the evacuation and that there were no casualties among the French, and that all the guns were saved except 17 worst ones, which were blown up.

Turks Say Troops Sunk.

A semi-official report from Constantinople, according to an American dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Company, asserts "the capture by the Turks of a great enemy camp and nine guns and the sinking of an enemy vessel with troops near Seddul-Bahr."

The official communication issued this evening says:

"General Sir Charles Monro reports the complete evacuation of Gallipoli has been successfully carried out. All the guns and howitzers were got away with the exception of 17 worst guns which were blown up by us before leaving."

"Our casualties amounted to one member of the British rank and file wounded."

French Have No Casualties.

"There were no casualties among the French."

"General Monro says that the accomplishment of this difficult task was due to Generals Birdwood and Davies and invaluable assistance rendered in an operation of the highest difficulty by Admiral De Robeck and the royal navy."

The London morning papers comment with satisfaction and relief on the successful evacuation of Gallipoli. They consider, despite General Monro's generous tribute to Generals Birdwood and Davies, that credit for the remarkable double retirement should be attributed to General Monro himself. The Times says editorially: "Twice within a few weeks General Monro has managed to remove his men and guns under the eyes of the Turks and their German officers. We doubt if a precedent for such an achievement can be found in the annals of war."

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 9.—The British, as a result of a violent battle, have completely evacuated Seddul-Bahr, with great losses, says a dispatch from Constantinople. Not a single man remained behind.

EARLY HOPES DISAPPOINTED

Evacuation Is Culmination of Series of Disasters.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—With the withdrawal of the British and French forces from the southern tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula, after the evacuation of the ANZAC Cove and Suvla Bay positions on the western coast in the middle of December, there has come to an end a movement that was begun with expectations that it would have a great bearing on the outcome of the war.

Thousands upon thousands of men lost their lives in effecting landings on the Turkish coast and in the fighting since. In addition, several battleships and smaller war craft of the entire allies have been sunk or damaged.

The chief military purpose of the Dardanelles campaign, which was begun in February, 1915, was the capture of Constantinople and the opening of the Bosphorus, so that Russia might have an avenue for the receipt of munitions and also for the operation of the canal. For England success meant the prevention of another Turkish invasion of Egypt.

The sending of the fleet to force the Dardanelles without the co-operation of land forces was generally conceded to have been the big initial blunder of the campaign. The inadequacy of the land forces, when they were sent, was criticized as another.

The campaign was marked by three major operations, one by the fleet alone and two by the land forces assisted by the fleet. The net result was the conquest of the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula and a narrow segment of its middle western coast. The first disaster came March 19, when mines blew up the French battleship Bouvet and the British battleships Irresistible and Ocean. It was then announced that Admiral Carden, the British commander, had been replaced by Admiral

BARK RIDES GALE INTO SAFE HARBOR

CALLAO, SOUGHT OFF SOUND, MAKES SAN FRANCISCO.

Peruvian Vessel, Given Up for Lost After Long Search, Turns South Under Scant Canvas.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The Peruvian bark Callao, which was yesterday given up as lost by her agents, put in at San Francisco today in distress, a northwest gale off Cape Flattery having whipped away all but two of her sails a few days before Christmas. The boat sent calls for assistance to Seattle, but a heavy fog prevented the Coast guard cutter Schoenfish from ascertaining her location.

The Callao left Callao, Peru, in ballast for Port Townsend, Wash., October 24, and was within 20 miles of the end of an uneventful 4800-mile voyage when she encountered the storm that carried away her canvas. She sent word of her distress by a passing fishing boat to Seattle. Several points on the north coast sighted her. The Schoenfish went to her assistance Christmas eve and spent several days cruising in search, but the fog had swallowed her up and hope was abandoned. The agents announced they believed she had foundered.

When Captain Carlos Muller, master of the bark, found he was unable to make the sheltered straits of Juan De Fuca, he rode the gale back to San Francisco, and was taken in tow by the tug Falcon outside the Golden Gate today.

The Callao was short of supplies when it arrived, and would have put in at a northern port but for the fog. Captain Muller's wife and children were with him.

MODIFIED RULE IS ASKED

American Embassy Urges Germany to Relax Passport Requirements.

BERLIN, via London, Jan. 9.—The American Embassy is negotiating with the Foreign office to secure, if possible, a modification of the recently promulgated regulation for issuing passports for entrance into Germany. Under these regulations it is almost impossible for many Americans to enter Germany, owing to the impossibility of securing the necessary documents, such as birth certificates, in the United States.

Several days ago the American Embassy in Vienna announced that an account of the new German passport regulations three Americans had found it impossible to go from Austria to Germany.

He was unconscious when taken out and died tonight.

Lieutenant McDonald was born in 1888 in Alabama, and was graduated from West Point in 1908.

WOMAN SHOT AND KILLED BY ADMIRER

Mrs. Minnie Lee Dead; Albert Gabel Held.

ACCIDENT, DECLARES SLAYER

Victim Shot Twice, but Gabel Says He Fired Only Once.

SISTER TELLS OF THREAT

Gabel Said to Have Laughed as He Uttered Sinister Remark About Proposed Reconciliation of Mrs. Lee and Husband.

Mrs. Minnie Lee, 25 years old, was shot and killed at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Albert Gabel, aged 25, her infatuated suitor. He is held in the city jail charged with murder, despite his assertion that the shooting was accidental and that he placed the rifle against Mrs. Lee's breast in jest.

The shooting occurred in a boat-house on Willamette Slough, about a mile from Kenton, near the plant of the Coast Culvert & Flume Company, on Columbia boulevard.

The fact that Mrs. Lee was shot twice and that Gabel was seeking to kill himself when captured by City Detectives Coleman, Swensen, Smith and Patrolman Evans under Captain Bay, together with previous threats of shooting, caused the police to discredit his story.

Mrs. Lee's refusal to marry him is said to be a possible motive for the shooting.

Gabel's Suit Ardent.

Gabel had exhibited to Mrs. Lee the day before papers of his divorce from his wife during the past week. Mrs. Lee declined to file suit for divorce against her husband, Jess Lee, though she had refused to be reconciled to the latter as late as January 1, and had been separated since last summer. Gabel had been a suitor for her hand since Thanksgiving and during the past few weeks had been with her constantly.

Yesterday morning he came to the home of Mrs. Lee's mother, Mrs. Newton Stout, 1212 Burrage street, in Kenton, where Mrs. Lee lived, helped wash the breakfast dishes and at about 10 o'clock the two left. They returned in an hour, got a .22 caliber rifle and were accompanied by Mrs. Lee's sister, Mrs. Alice Patterson, saying they were going shooting on the slough.

On the river they joined Womafay Babich, and it was in his houseboat that the shooting occurred. Mrs. Lee and Gabel had stepped into an adjoining room.

Slayer Insists Shot Was Accidental.

"Oh, my God, she, he's shot me!" shrieked Mrs. Lee as Mrs. Patterson rushed into the room at the sound of a shot.

She and Babich ran out of the building, she to the home of her mother and he for a doctor, and as they left they say they heard another shot. Here the story of Gabel differs. He

WAR SUBSTITUTES AID GERMAN CAUSE

Vast Number of Inventions Developed.

FOOD QUESTION IS NOT VITAL

Electrical "Wizard" Says Na- tion Is Independent.

INDUSTRY IS REORGANIZED

Economic Branches Much Strengthened and Experience Will Be of Great Value When Peace Has Been Restored.

BY GUSTAV C. ROEDER.
(War correspondent of the New York World, editorially revised from a second year of investigation of conditions in Germany. Published by arrangement with the World.)

"Germany did not wish this war, but having the duty of defending herself to perform and being charged with the security of the future of the Fatherland, Germany is perfectly and absolutely prepared to make this struggle as long as necessary, even if the war should last for years."

"We hope it will be shorter, but we are ready to meet any emergency. We hope the war will be shortened by some sudden occurrence, of which to speak now does not seem to me to be the right moment."

The speaker was Dr. Walther Rathenau, head of the Allgemeine Electricitets-Gesellschaft, the most influential organization of its kind in all Europe. In Germany the great electrical corporation is referred to as the "A. E. G." It controls several hundred branch concerns, with a general capitalization of one billion dollars.

Genius Defies British Blockade.

Today this great electrical engineer is called the "Wizard of the Empire" and the "Field Marshal of Business," the man whose genius made it possible for Germany to defy the blockade by means of which the allies are attempting to force Germany to her knees by starvation and the keeping away of all supplies for the civil as well as the military population.

Dr. Rathenau has been successful in producing a multitude of substitutes for goods and material which in times of peace Germany had to import. His greatest achievement, as far as is known, was taking from the air salt-peter (nitrate of potash), absolutely necessary in the manufacture of gunpowder, and all of which Germany had to import.

There are hundreds of other new things, inventions and chemical processes never dreamed of before, all guarded with the utmost secrecy.

Inventions Make Nation Independent.

These inventions, the result of the blockade, the Teutons say, have proved to them an inestimable blessing. They have made Germany absolutely independent so that today the Kaiser and his people are not inclined to worry much because Eng-

STORM BREAKS IN SIERRA NEVADAS

REGION FROM SACRAMENTO TO OREGON LINE THREATENED.

Southern Pacific Rushes Snow- Fighting Equipment in Effort to Keep Way Open for Trains.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—(Special.)—No sooner had the Sacramento Valley passed through one storm, that which cleared up last night, than another one broke late today over the whole region from Sacramento to the Oregon line. Weather Forecaster Taylor predicts that the present rain will continue for another 24 hours and that the rivers of the Sacramento watershed will rise rapidly, probably reaching dangerous stages Monday. He advises all lowland residents who have not already moved their stock to high ground to do so at once.

As during the last storm, the main danger lies in the snow, which lies loose over the Sierra Nevadas, the deepest since the great snowfall of 1911. Should the rain fall on the lower portions of that snow a flood of disastrous proportions would follow. The Sacramento River rose 2.4 feet last night.

The Southern Pacific is rushing every bit of snow-fighting equipment into the Sierra Nevada Mountains, to keep the unprotected portions of its lines clear for the movement of trains. So far it has succeeded in doing so.

Portola, Truckee and all mountain points report a heavy fall of snow.

HILL IS LOST BY FRENCH

Germans Complete Reconquest of Position in Vosges.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The War Office announced today that near Hirsstein, south of Hartmannsweilerkopf, the Germans yesterday completed their reconquest of the trenches which, on December 21, fell into the hands of the French. Twenty officers, 183 chasseurs and 15 machine guns were captured.

Jury Is Out 51 Hours.

Those on whom the jury disagreed were William Rockefeller, New York; Charles F. Brooker, Ansonia, Conn.; Charles M. Pratt, Brooklyn; Lewis Cass Ledyard, New York, and Edward D. Robbins, New Haven.

The verdict was returned at 4:30 o'clock, after 51 hours of deliberation, and the jury was discharged. The final vote on the five defendants on which the jurors could not agree stood eight to four for acquittal.

R. L. Batts, chief counsel for the Government, announced that he would move for a new trial of these five. This will be done, he said, before any effort is made to try the six other former directors of the road who were indicted, but who obtained the right to be tried separately.

Deadlock Once Reported.

The jurors did not report their verdict until after they had reported to Judge Hunt early in the day that they could not agree. Up to that time—noon—they had been deliberating with a view to bringing in a verdict on the guilt or innocence of the defendants collectively. The court then instructed them to make further efforts to concur, and that if they could not agree on all to try and reach a decision on some.

The vote of the question of all at that time stood eight to four for acquittal, it was learned.

On returning to the jury-room the jurors renewed their discussion with the court's instructions in mind, and unanimously eliminated the six defendants that were excused. Two of the four jurors who had voted against the defendants originally stood firm, however, against Messrs. Rockefeller, Ledyard, Brooker, Pratt and Robbins. The other two switched to their original position, leaving eight to four as the final vote.

William Rockefeller, who is ill, and Henry K. McHarg, were not present when the jurors filed into court. The nine other defendants were in their usual seats.

Charles S. Mellen, ex-president of the New Haven and the chief witness in the case, was not in court.

SPAIN ENDS ARMS EXPORT
