the care of crippled children, the co-operation of all clubs for good roads.

Although the Daughters of the Confederacy have postponed their party, which was to have been tomorrow night, they will hold their regular meeting on schedule in the home of Mrs. A. G. Ott, 511 East Ash street, near Tenth, on Thursday afternoon.

An important meeting of Thursday will be that of the presidents of parent-teacher circles who will assemble at 1:30 o'clock in room 559 Courthouse to plan for the flag sale, which will be held February 5 for the benefit of child welfare work.

Capitol Hill Parish social affair, which was planned for Thursday evening at St. Clare's Hall, has been postponed on account of unfavorable weather until Tuesday, January 25. All those who wish to attend this affair must be present not later than 8:15 o'clock.

One of the prettiest little parties of the past week was that given in honor of the ninth birthday anniversary of Miss Geraldine Schwab, which was celebrated at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. C. Schwab, on Saturday. Nine little tots enjoyed the hospitality of the little hostess, and games and music amused them until refreshment time. Miss Schwab's guests were Geraldine Heeslein, Virginia Wentz, Helen Hennie, Stella Fishburn, Wilma Belsellere, Velma Randall, Marjorie Tilton, Jean Budelman, Clayton Wentz and John Budelman.

Miss Etta Foley, of La Grande, is visiting friends here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Deans and children are among the Portlanders who are at the Hotel Oakland in Oakland, Cal.

Mrs. George Woodruff of this city is in California for a visit. She is at the Hotel Oakland.

Mrs. Morris Summerfield, of Albany, is visiting for a few days at the home of her brother, George W. Davies, 728 Overton street.

Mrs. Clifford Foss, a bride of recent date, will be honor guest for the tea to be given by Miss Ada Otten and Mrs. Welrose Kaiser on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Korell was hostess yesterday for about 30 of the Phi Delta Sigma Sorority at tea time at the residence on Kearney street. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Dagmar Korell, in serving.

Miss Goldie Ziederman and R. W. Myers were married last Sunday, January 16, at 1176 Powell street. Judge Dayton performed the ceremony. After the wedding a supper was served. Miss Elaine Brown attended the bride. The house and tables were decorated prettily. The guests were Miss Elsie Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldstein, Judge Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fink, Mr. and Mrs. M. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Silverman and Miss Mildred Silverman. Mrs. A. M. Myers, Miss Fannie Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gustafson, Mrs. A. Cohn, H. Mazoretzky.

STYLE TIPS FROM PORTLAND STORES

SNOW hath no terrors for the milliner. She has set out her Spring bonnets fearlessly and mixed them with the Winter styles. It seems as if momentarily the hatiers have embarked upon a keen campaign of competition which is working marvels in bringing before the public eye classy, neat and stunning models. As yet the Spring hats are but to look at, for the discreet buyer realizes it is still mid-winter, so the velvet, satin and leather chapeaux are selling far better than the dainty chiffon, maline, crepe or straw hats. Then, too, the Winter hats have come down surprisingly in price and some are recent and of good lines and quality. It is most interesting to note that the jet, glazed straw, taffeta, and so the dividing line between Winter and Spring headgear is to be fine. Some are also of corded silk. There is to be an absence of reds in the Spring bonnet and odd touches are to be a feature. The jet hat will have more of the velvet, satin and leather, and will deserve it for the sparkling, dashing little black jet hat is smart and becoming to the average type of face. Wired maline and here and have been lax in our real allegiance to our country and so he has been lax. But we are waking up to this evil. We see what we must do for him, and in seeing this we realize what we must do for ourselves. The passion for our own form of government is burning with a purer flame than ever. We will no doubt forge ahead in many ways. The quickening of the American spirit will be felt in widely differing fields—in art, in literature, in educational matters, in industry. The war will have an effect upon us little dreamed of. It will rouse that passion for things American which Emerson longed to see and which, when it is once roused and in full tide, will sweep us on to achievements of which now we have but faint conceptions. For this country is young, and the passion of youth is a mighty power.

CONFEREES TO BE NAMED

IRRIGATION DELEGATION TO STATE GUARANTEE MEETING FORMS.

Acceptances Awaited in Announcement of Personnel to Aid in Drawing Up Amendment.

J. W. Brewer, president of the Oregon Irrigation Congress, will announce the appointment this week of his delegation to the conference which is to participate in drawing up the proposed constitutional amendments for the proposed state guarantee of interest on irrigation bonds. Mr. Brewer already has asked four men to serve with him on the delegation from the Irrigation Congress and is only waiting for their acceptances to announce the personnel of the delegation and set the date for the general conference. As president of the Irrigation Congress, which launched the movement in favor of drawing up and putting through the proposed constitutional amendment, Mr. Brewer will be chairman of the delegation from the congress and will preside at the general conference. The conference will be called about the middle of February, according to Mr. Brewer, and will be one of the most broadly representative gatherings that has been called in Oregon.

Besides the delegation from the Irrigation Congress there will be committees of five delegates in each from the following organizations: Oregon State Grange, Farmers' Union, Oregon Federation of Labor, Chamber of Commerce of Portland, Oregon Development League, Oregon Drainage Association, West Coast Lumber Association of Oregon and Washington, Central Oregon Agricultural College, University of Oregon, State Press Association, State Bankers' Association and Governor Withycombe as four delegates whom he will appoint. The speaker of the House of Representatives and four of the State Representatives will appoint, and one representative from each of the four daily newspapers of Portland.

MRS. C. H. SHOLES IS DEAD

Descendant of Family of Revolution Days Succumbs in Portland.

Emily E. Sholes, wife of C. H. Sholes, official reporter of Judge Kavanaugh's department of the Circuit Court, died yesterday at her home, 1539 Hawthorne avenue. On her mother's side Mrs. Sholes was lineal descendant of the Bakers and Breeds, of Boston of revolutionary days, one of the first of whom owned the hill on which Bunker Hill monument now stands.

Born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., she came with her parents, Orville A. and Susan E. Hitchcock, to McHenry County, Ill., in pioneer days. Later she passed some winters in the South, and was admitted to the Episcopal Church of Jackson, Miss., by Rev. Mr. Crane. She was married to Mr. Sholes in Chicago in 1877. She had been a resident of Portland since November, 1888. Besides her husband, she is survived by a brother in Stillwater, Minn.

WASHINGTON EDITOR HERE

Visitor Says Community Wants Republican President.

Charles H. O'Neil, editor of the Walla Walla Valley Spectator at Pocatello, Wash., was in Portland yesterday on his way home from the recent newspaper men's conference at the University of Washington. He visited while here with his friend, Dr. H. Galvani. Mr. O'Neil reports that the people of the Walla Walla country are renewing their interest in politics this year with hope of electing a Republican President. "They believe that a change of Administration is necessary to effect a more rapid solution of the tariff problem," he says. "They are ready to elect a Republican President they don't want a reactionary. A man like Justice Hughes would be a boon to the United States to strengthen the people in our part of the country."

POLICE TO AID HORSES

Animals Not Sharp-Shod Ordered Removed From Street.

"Make every teamster take his horses off the streets if they are not sharp shod." This was the order telephoned to the police last night by Mayor Albee after a conference with the City Council. So many reports have been brought to official attention of horse falls on the streets that the Council decided on drastic action. The Council upon investigation found that there is an ordinance which will enable the enforcement of the order. It was reported that there was an ordinance prohibiting sharp shoes. City Attorney La Roche says there is no such ordinance.

UNEMPLOYED TAKE SPADES

City Solicits Work for Municipal Lodging-House Inmates.

Snow shoveling squads equipped to remove snow from sidewalks, streets and other places in a hurry were organized yesterday by Commissioner Baker among the unemployed at the municipal lodging-house and will be in shape today to handle all work. People wanting work of this kind done are asked by Mr. Baker to telephone Main 3555 or A 5624. The squads will go into various parts of the city in the wake of collectors, who will try to drum up work.

BIG PRICE-CUTS IN WOMEN'S SMART COATS—USE YOUR CREDIT!

It ever there was real "coat weather," this is it! A person simply HAS to own a cozy, big Coat if she is to be comfortable these very chilly days. And CHERT'S have reduced their superb stock of Coats very sharply—but still they're granting Credit on all of them! You'll be asked for a part of the price when you select your Coat, and the rest can be paid in the easiest of weekly or monthly installments later on.

Suits also are marked down to bargain prices at CHERT'S—a splendid array of beauties in a wide assortment of the most favored current styles. Sizes in Suits and Coats are excellent now, but there's no telling how long they will be because CHERT'S CREDIT STORE is just about the most popular trading place in the city.

They also carry an elegant line of men's Clothing, Suits and Overcoats. Their place is 349-251 Washington street, and they are open Saturday evenings till 10 P. M.

MAUD POWELL Says of the Steinway Piano

MAUD POWELL, the wonderful violinist, who will play at the Heilig Theater the evening of Thursday, January 20, says of the STEINWAY PIANO:

"An artist ought never to appear before the public except under the most perfect conditions. One of these conditions, in lieu of a good orchestra, should be a Steinway grand (for accompaniments), which by reason of its beautiful tone quality, its fullness of vibration and the perfect balance of registers, more nearly approaches orchestral support than any other piano made. I prefer the Steinway piano above all others, and I have used it during my entire musical career."

The STEINWAY is universally acknowledged as the STANDARD by which all Pianos are judged.

The Steinway Piano Will Be Used at All Powell Recitals
