PULLMAN TO ALTER RULE ON FRESHMEN

Colin V. Dyment Says Washington State May Adopt Non-Freshman Plan.

OLD CONFERENCE DOOMED

President of New Pacific Coast In tercollegiate Association Sees Handwriting on Wall-Dietz' Opinion on Oregon Out.

Washington State College is preparing to adopt the non-freshmen rule in athletics. Professor Colin V. Dyment, athletica. Professor Colin V. Dyment, of the University of Oregon, president of the newly organized Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Association, was a Portland visitor a day or two ago and tipped off this information.

Of course, it is too late this year for Washington State to take any action resarding the playing of freshmen in baseball, track and football. At the next meeting of the Pacific Coast Association, however, it is expected that Washington State will have delegates present and will apply for membership.

membership.

The University of Idaho, too, is said to be on the verge of failing in line with the larger universities and accepting the inevitable.

With Stanford University already practically assured as another member of the big Coast Association it takes no abnormal stretching of the imagination to see the doom of the old Pacific Northwest conference.

At present two conferences are in existence. The Pacific Northwest embraces Washington, Washington State,

The impatient Hunt Club coursers, in their warm stalls, tugging at their halters and threshing around nervously in anxious attempts to get out and race away over the trail mapped out for them by Mrs. Natt McDougall during the last week of December, seem to be imploring the weather map to be kind anough.

No one can explain to the horses about low barometers, storm pressure areas or any of the reasons for the postponements. Usually New Year's day in Oregon is always balmy, or, at the worst, only drippy and drizaling, with plenty of sloppy mud-puddles, and as the horses splash along through the woods they are used to swishing their tails over sprouting ferns and tender pussy, willow buds. The horses can't be made to believe that they are not being discriminated against, and from looking at them, seemingly pining for the day of the chase, one can tell that they are kicking about it.

Bezdek's outlook at Oregon will depend in great measure upon whether his 1915 players return to college or not. Last year all the 1914 crew were eligible and Bez was looking forward to a great season. Then Sam Cook described a great season. Then Sam Cook described to go to Montana; Bryant and Parsons found their finances too low to permit them to enter and Wiest and Garratt also were missing at rolicali.

Welcomed by Wolverton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—(Special.)

—The first contract of 1916 has been signed with the San Francisco club. Jerry Downs, the second baseman, got together with Manager Wolverton today and put his name to the documents.

"I am mighty pleased to sign up Jerry," explained Boss Harry, "We have been dickering for the past week, and now everything is settled, with both sides satisfied. Jerry played great ball for its last season. He improved wonderfully in his fielding, and his timely hitting was a feature of our victories. He looks good, and I am counting on him being of much value to the club this coming season."
