GABRILOWITSCH RECITAL IS AT HEILIG TONIGHT

Tempestuous History of Poland Is to Be Interpreted in Music From Chopin's "Sonata in B-Flat Minor."

OSSIP GABRILOWITSCH.

THE programme to be given tonight at the Heilig by Gabrilowitsch, the famous Russian pianist, and his wife, Clara Clemens, contralto, is vitally interesting. In addition to some enchanting novelties, a "Laughing Song" and some of the latest developments of modern musical genius, there will be a number of characteristic masterpieces of various national types.

The heavy number on the programme is the wonderful Sonata in B flat minor, Chopin's masterpiece, "the greatest composition in all piano literature." The first movement pictures the life and feelings of the hero, a Polish knight of the Middle Ages, fleeing from the East to the West, fighting for king and country, cheered now and then by visions of his home and waiting bride.

The second movement, the scherzo, gives the triumphant return of the hero and the jubilant strains of martial music, broken by the same tender, dreamy love theme.

The third movement is the well-known funeral march—the greatest ever written—for the triumphant hero meets the cortege of his bride and his heart swells to an overwhelming climax of passionate pain as the procession comes to the open grave. Then is heard the sweet, trip melody, pure and tender as a prayer, and the procession leaves the grave as the music, heavy, crushing, inexorable as fate, dies into distance.

The last movement, the presto, is a marvelous tonal study, the lament of the Autumn night wind over a forsaken grave. The story pictures the climax of realism in music and in them one reads the chill, the gloom, the wild despair of the bereaved soul; also the thought that after death is formless void and chaos.

This story pictured in music is symbolic. The bride is Poland and the hero, the Polish knight, is the Polish people, the clash of steel, the music is the exultation of desperate combat, broken by tranquil, tender memories of love and promised happiness.

Today some other organization will march to their martial tones. The policemen's joke is this. Reciprocity is always in order; not bargained for, but quite subject to appreciation.

The seventh annual ball, given under the Portland Police Association, will be held February 22 in the Cottillion Hall; tickets $1.

Ball Is for Good Cause, Too. This, too, is for a good cause, just as is Letter-writing week, for the money raised is used to maintain a fund for the case of disabled, sick or wounded policemen. For policemen in making their lives for the public frequently need such assistance.

And to obtain the membership of the respective organizations played for this week, the members of the police band see a prospective field for the sale of 5000—, well, at least a lot of tickets.

They're on sale now, the officers on the street having them on hand for the anticipated demand from the several organizations.

The police beneficiary fund now contains some $5000 and the hopes are to raise it to at least $8000 this year.

Perjurer Is Sentenced. When Charles F. Reed pleaded guilty yesterday to perjury in a hearing on a homestead contest, in which the contestant was his own brother, a cripple, whose claim he had "jumped," he was sentenced by Federal Judge Wolverton to 13 months in the Federal Penitentiary at McNeill's Island and fined $1,000. The original entry on the homestead, which is near Lakaview, was made by the brother, Henry W. Reed, in 1910. He lived on the claim for three years, but had to ask for leave of absence for medical treatment. Then Charles F. Reed filed contest proceedings and produced a relinquishment with Henry W. Reed's name signed. This signature was a forgery.

SHOE THEFT LAID TO COLD. Youth of 20 Declares He Had No Money to Make Purchase. "Bob" McCrary, a 20-year-old youth working and living in the Columbia stables, told the police that he needed shoes to keep his feet warm, that he had no money, and that the cold forced him to steal some. He was arrested with two other boys by Patrolman J. P. Fones on the complaint of G. Perkel. The other boys were W. E. Bair and George Harry, both 18. McCrary took all the blame and the boys were released on their own recognizance. The case will come before the Municipal Court today.

Royal Club Satisfaction Begins With Breakfast— and lasts throughout the day. There is no finer coffee blend than ROYAL CLUB—it is a combination of the finest Sumatra and Central American Coffees—carefully blended in the green and "neutralized." To properly "neutralize" a blend it is necessary to mix the different green coffees and let them "age" for a year or more. The small roaster cannot afford to "lie up" his money in this way—he must mix his blend and roast it immediately.

The green coffees for ROYAL CLUB are bought a year in advance—blended by experts and "aged" into a perfect, smooth, satisfying and distinctive flavor. This and the high qualities we use accounts for ROYAL CLUB superiority and popularity. As one man expressed it, "you haven't tasted real coffee until you've tried ROYAL CLUB."

"JOHN DOE" ARRAIGNED

HIGHWAYMAN KEEPS LIPS SEALED AS TO HIS IDENTITY. Court Names Attorney to Represent Robber Who Tried to Loot Station "Because He Was Hungry."

Still refusing to reveal his identity and maintaining the air of secrecy which has puzzled all who have dealt with him, "John Doe," the highwayman who was shot by the station agent at Multnomah station on December 31, has argued before District Judge Dayton yesterday. He entered no plea, but asked that an attorney be appointed for him by the court, as he has no money.

Though he was wan and emaciated through confinement in hospital and jail, his spirit is far from broken, and he was as positive as ever in his determination to say nothing that might result in his mother's hearing of his plight.

At the demand of Deputy District Attorney Mowry that he tell his real name "John Doe" only smiled and affirmed his desire to be known by no name other than that that placed against him. Burglary is the charge.

He heaved a stone through the window of the Oregon Electric Depot at Multnomah station on the night of December 21, at the point of a revolver forced J. D. Stewart, the station agent, to flee from the building and proceeded to rifle the cash drawer. Stewart did not stay "fled," but returned with a rifle, with which he shot and wounded "John Doe."

"My gun was only a bluff," said John Doe at the hospital. "I was hungry and wanted money to get food."

Attorney Thomas Garland was appointed to represent "John Doe" and the preliminary hearing was set for this afternoon.
