YUMA TO REBUILD AFTER BIG FLOOD

Levee Will Be Reconstructed of Rock, Town Made More Substantial Than Ever.

COLORADO RIVER FALLING

Railroad Brings in Material for Complete Water and Light Plants: Mexican Quarter of City Virtually in Ruins.

TUMA, Aris. Jan. 23.—With the waters of the Colorado River receding, work of rescuing Yuma Valley flood sufferers was carried forward today by local authorities, aided by officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad from Tucson, Arin, who arrived here with equipment to supply the city temporar-ily with water, gas and electricity. It was estimated that the damage from the flood would amount to more than types one

During the morning the river fell 24; feet and was still receding. At that time, however, the river was above the 33-foot stage. Under the direction of T. H. Williams. Under the direction of T. H. Williams, superintendent of the Tucson division of the Southern Pacific Railroad, men were engaged today in repairing the break in the levee at the Four-Mile Post, which released the torrent of water that inundated this town yesterday.

Mexican Quarter in Ruins.

Practically every house in the Mex-ican quarter of the city was in ruins today. Many of the business houses still were flooded with water and the two newspaper plants were out of commission.

The people faced the situation with the sentiment unanimous that the town should be rebuilt on a more substantial basis than before. It was practically determined to rebuild the broken leves with rock. Steps already broken levee with rock. Steps already have been taken for a bond election to meet the expense of this work. A $50,000 bond issue has been proposed and it was expected that plans to raise more money by this means would be taken in a short time.

Conditions in Yuma Valley were not as bad as it was first feared they would be, owing to the fact that Government irrigation canals were holding the water between them and the breaks in the levee along the river front.

Railroad Helping Needy.

Working in conjunction with the cit-izens' relief committee, the Southern Pacific officials opened the big club-house of the railroad to the homeless and is aiding in feeding and caring for and is aiding in feeding and caring for the needy.

During the day a dozen Southern Pacific officials brought from Tucson equipment for a complete water and electric light plant. The city water, electric light and gas plants were still submerged, there being about 10 feet of water about these buildings.
The last reports from the lower part of the Imperial Valley said that water.

The last reports from the lower part of the Imperial Valley said that water was within six inches of the top of the levee. Since then a further rise of three feet must have reached that place, it was believed here, although it was impossible to get definite information, owing to the severing of telephone and telegraph communication.

"We live in the greatest military age ever known to history, both in equipment for national defense and aggressive warfare. Our country has grown in its relations with other nations far in excess of what it was a few years ago. But our means of defense have not proportionately grown. "Yet we find ourselves defending principles absolutely at variance with those of other nations, inviting enmity, provoking fealousy and laying the very foundations for a possible war. We are growing richer, the very object of enmity for nations burdened object of enmity for nations burdened with poverty.

I can see greater dangers from aggression because temptations will be greater. Some say that wars do not break out suddenly, and that there is due time for preparedness when occasion arises. Yet the present war. casion arises. Yet the present war broke out in 24 hours. And it is the duty of a nation to defend the integ-rity of its people.

Duty to Nation Is Emphasized. So is it the duty of the individual to bear his share in the fulfillment of that obligation. The man or the woman who shirks this obligation is as culpa-ble as the man who shirks his taxes. The man or woman who lacks in a love of his country—that greatest emo-tion of the soul-is not worthy of being a citizen. The mother is not worthy of being a mother who would withhold her son from the service of the nation. And the woman who teaches the doctrine of weakness, the non-recognition of those essentials of citizenship, because she believes she loves her son so much—this woman is a disgrace to any country.

"I have two boys. And I should be absolutely ashamed if the time should come—be it tomorrow or next week—to protect this glorious nation, if they did not immediately volunteer. And I should be ashamed of that type of mother who would stand in the way of the protection of that kind of liberty that makes life worth living."

President Has Confidence.

President Has Confidence, President Has Confidence.

Rev. Mr. Morrison expressed confidence in the judgment of the President in advocating increased armaments.

"I am certain that he would not go before the people of the nation and ask preparedness if he were not aware of a mistrust of some of the great nations of the old world," he continued. "And if we must be prepared, let's do it in first-class shape.

All she needs is a very little help.
Constipation is caused by accumulated waste in the Colon (Large Intestine), which, under our present mode of living. Nature cannot entirely remove without a little help.

The rank poisons in this waste get into the blood circulation too, and make us feel depressed, hise, bilious and incompetent-really sick—if allowed to go a little too far. All the help that Nature asks, however, is Internal Bathing with Warm Waier, applied by the "J. R. L. Cascade." This, in a perfectly natural and rational way, cleans out all the waste and poisons from the Colon and keeps it as sweet, clean and pure by occasional use as Nature demands for a perfectly healthy condition.

So invariably successful has this new and improved method of Internal Bathing proved to be that over 300,000 Americans are now enthusiastically using it to cure Constipation, ward off disease, and keep them bright, vigorous and efficient.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being shown by the Woodard Clark & Co. Drug Store in Portland. Call and let us explain how simply it accomplishes these great results.

Answers to Doubters

TE recently announced the sale of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, 11th edition (guaranteed, authorized and complete), in a compact and convenient "HANDY VOLUME" form, at one-third the price of the Cambridge University issue-the only other issue of this great library-the entire Encyclopaedia Britannica shipped under our sweeping guarantee for a first payment of only $1.00 down.

We have received hundreds of letters from people who cannot believe what we said about this bargain in our announcement. We want to answer everyone who has any doubts.

Here are some of the questions we have received and our answers to them.

Questions

(α) "Is it the genuine Britannica that you are selling at a reduction of 64% and on a first payment of only $1.00?

"Do you really means that you are selling an issue of the Britannica for 64% less than the Cambridge issue and that it is a well-made book? I don't see how you can do it.!"

"Do I correctly understand your advertisement of the 'Handy Volume' issue of the 11th Edition Britannica to mean that this issue contains absolutely all of the contents of the Cambridge University issue, word for word the same? That seems too good to be true.'

(d) "I cannot believe that the type is legible. If you have reduced the price and the size, isn't the type in the 'Handy Volume' Britannica so fine that one cannot read it?"

(e) "I want the Britannica and always have wanted it, but I never could afford it. Now the price you are offering it at is so low that I am afraid the print, paper, binding and get-up don't suit the scholarship and reputation of the splendid encyclopaedia I've always longed for."

"You guarantee that the contents are the same in the 'Handy Volume' issue as in the Cambridge issue that costs three times as much. Does this mean text only-have you left out the hundreds of beautifully colored maps and color plates?"

(g) "Is there any time limit on this offer?" In other words, could I get this set in a year or two, at the same price and on the same terms as now?"

(h) "What will you do if I order and don't like the books and send them back and they come to you in bad condition? Won't I have to pay for them?'

"Are the 'Handy Volumes' well bound and solidly made? I have often been disappointed in the quality of materials and the workmanship of books that I've bought from glowing descriptions in circulars and advertisements.

(k) "I don't like to doubt what you say in your advertisements. I have had dealings with you and know other people who have bought from you. I have always been satisfied and I have never heard of anybody who thought you treated them unfair, but I want to be sure before I order. How can I see for myself the printing, paper and bindings of the 'Handy Volumes?'

Answers

(a) We guarantee that the "Handy Volume" issue is the genuine and most recent edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The Britannica is copyrighted in the United States and it is impossible for anyone to sell or offer for sale anything called the Encyclopaedia Britannica unless it is the genuine work. The "Handy Volume" issue is manufactured by the same printers and binders as the more expensive book, for the Encyclopaedia Britannica Corporation, the American publishers of the "Handy Volume," issue and the Cambridge University issue.

(b) How we can do it is a long story. Much too long and full of minute detail to tell in this place. It was the result of a long series of experiments-here one saving, there another, both small, then another a little bigger, then a dozen others each so small that by itself it hardly counted, but the dozen together making an appreciable difference. We didn't see ourselves how it could be done. But we know it has been done. We can prove that. If you like the product you need not bother over the process.

Everything that is in the new Encyclopaedia Britannica issued by Cambridge University of England is in "Handy Volume" issue; every page, every article, every line of text, every picture in black and white outline or half-tone; every illustration in just the same colors; every map-absolutely the same contents. If we did not send out the complete Encyclopaedia Britannica, it would be as fraudulent as if we delivered only the New Testament after advertising the Bible!

(d) Professor Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School, a well-known authority on jurisprudence and an eminent botanist, writes us as follows, after seeing and examining the "Handy Volume"

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 17,1915. The new form of the eleventh edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica is nothing less than marvelous. To put that great work in such small compass and in so useful a form is of itself an achievement; to do so and yet make a page which I can certify is no more trying to a pair of bad eyes than the original edition is a landmark in bookmaking. You are doing a public service in putting these indispensable volumes within the reach of everyone. Yours very truly.

This is only one of many letters of the same tenor from people who purchased the higher-priced issue and therefore know the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and who have examined the "Handy Volume" issue.

(e) The following letter answers this better than we can. It was written by a professor of English at Harvard who paid three times as much for his set of the Britannica as you will need to pay.

Harvard University, Nov. 17, 1915. As a subscriber to the original edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, I have been curious to see how the problem would be solved of making the work more compact and cheaper without rendering it illegible. An examination of the new issue proves that the solution has been found. The type, though smaller, is no less clear than before, the illustrations and maps are in no ways impaired, in appearance the volumes are just as attractive, and the reduction in size makes them infinitely easier to handle. I have seen no achievement in the art of bookmaking

Yours very truly.

W. A. NEILSON.

(f) The maps and color plates are all there and all in the same colors. Not one of them is left out. Most of them are from new color blocks so that the colors are brighter, clearer, better and more accurate than the last printings of the color plates in the big books. Color-printing and all other details of manufacture are supervised by the publishers and are done for them, not for us, under the same strict rules of "the best, no matter what the cost," that governed the manufacture of the Cambridge issue.

(g) We advise you to order now. Orders can be filled promptly from stock now on hand. But there will be a long waiting list when the first supply of sets is exhausted; the second supply will come in slowly, because the manufacture of these fine books cannot be rushed. The offer is limited. We can't say when it will be withdrawn. But you can be sure that you cannot "get this set in a year or two at the same price and on the same

(h) We take all the risk. We expect you to be satisfied. We know the quality of the work that is in the "Handy Volumes" and we know how useful and valuable the Encyclopaedia Britannica is. We want you to test the set. If you are not satisfied, we want the books back and we will return your money. If the books come back showing no signs of use, we should not feel sure that you had given them a fair test. Under no circumstances will you be asked to pay for any damage. (Note: We pay all shipping charges on any set returned because it is not satisfactory-no matter why.)

(i) The "Handy Volumes" are well made and well bound. What we say of them is simple fact and not "brag." They are made from the same grade of raw materials, paper, cloth and leather, as are used for the more expensive Cambridge issue. The two issues are manufactured by the same paper makers, leather manufacturers, printers and binders. The saving in price does not come from any skimping in quality of materials or of manufacture. There is no skimping.

We will send you a booklet with reproductions in color of the different bindings and sample pages; or a sample volume in any binding you like; or both.

WE STAND back of everything we say in this and all other advertisements of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. We have a reputation for honest and fair dealing, for understatement instead of any "advertiser's exaggeration or bluster"-a reputation we have worked hard to earn and that we can modestly say we really deserve. We know that no one advertisement and no number of advertisements can tell all we know and want you to know about the

"Handy Volume" issue. Remember that we stand back of what we say in these advertisements and besides

We stand back of the whole "Handy Volume" issue. We know that all the details of manufacture, of price, of terms, etc., in this offer are all right. You need have no doubt about them.
