CALENDAR FOR TODAY.

Society.
 Informal Orpheum party and supper by Miss Elizabeth Jones tonight.
 Dinner at Hotel Benson and Orpheum party by Miss Mae Norton tonight.
 Informal tea this afternoon, Miss Antoinette Meara hostess.
 Dinner party tonight with Mrs. Isam White as hostess, and the Lloyd Franks as honor guests, at Hotel Benson.

TEA in honor of Mrs. Clarence Jacobson for which Mrs. Kenneth Beebe was hostess and a number of dinner parties followed by line and box parties at the Ice Hippodrome to see the hockey match between Portland and Victoria teams, made yesterday a merry day. Countless smaller and more informal affairs also characterized the day.

One of the merriest and largest line parties at the hippodrome was that for which Miss Sara McCully was hostess, her guests including about 14 of the younger set. Following the conclusion of the games, Miss McCully further entertained her guests at her home with supper and dancing. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. A. L. McCully. The rooms were attractively decorated with Spring blossoms and fernery.

The party was made up of Miss Helen Ladd, Miss Rhoda Rumelin, Miss Mary Sitart Smith, Miss Margaret Meara, Miss Alice MacMaster, Miss Elizabeth Jones, MacCormac Snow, Alan Green, Maurice Dooley, Richard Christie, John C. Adams, Henry Meara and Scott Redfield.

Mrs. Beebe's tea was an informal affair delightfully charming, the guests being old friends of Mrs. Jacobson, who is popular in Portland society as well as in San Francisco, her former home. She has returned recently from an extended trip east and south with Mr. Jacobson. The tea table was decorated prettily with a profusion of delicately tinted Spring flowers and was presided over by Mrs. Morris H. Whitehouse. About 25 of the younger matrons were asked to share the festivities with Mrs. Jacobson.

The 1916 Follies committee has completed arrangements for the opening party, which will be given Friday at Christensen's Hall. The hall will be decorated to represent a midwinter scene and it promises to be a notable event. School and college sets are vastly interested in the event. Special music also will be provided.

The card party which was to be given Thursday night by the Ladies' Altar Society of St. Rose's Catholic Church, Fifty-third and Alameda streets, has been postponed indefinitely on account of the weather.

The Bachelor Girls' Club will give a stepping party at Kenton Club today. The committee is Misses Katherine Garrett, Gladys Coates, Frances Laver, Wanda Oelsner, Isabel McRae, Genevieve Ewing, Irene Slope and Elizabeth Sommerer.

A notable event of Saturday evening was a party given by Miss Martha Levitt and the Misses Reagan as a surprise for Miss Dorothy Weiser at her home in Irvington. The diversion of the evening was dancing and singing until a late hour, after which a buffet luncheon was served. The guests were favored by an exhibition dance of the new "Charley Chaplin" steps danced by Miss Nadynne Baker and Robert Cooke. About 3 of the younger set enjoyed the evening's merriment.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Miss Mildred Wilson, daughter of H. G. Wilson, formerly superintendent of the Klamath Falls Indian reservation, and Luke E. Walker, a well-known stockman of this city, were married last week. Miss Wilson formerly attended high school here. She is a talented musician.

Miss Helen Harmon entertained about 20 of the younger set last night at the home of Mr. parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harmon, on Lovejoy street, with a delightful dance. It was an informal affair and the hostess was assisted in receiving her guests by her sister, Mrs. J. J. Harmon. The rooms were decorated prettily with Spring blossoms and the evening's festivities were rounded out with a gay little supper.

Honoring Mrs. Lucia Addison, one of the most prominent W. C. T. U. women in the state, Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh presided at a charming luncheon yesterday, her guests including state officers of the organization. Covers were placed for Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Jennie Kemp, Miss Mary Houston, Mrs. Mary Russell, Mrs. Ward Swopes and Mrs. Zora Crownover, who assisted the hostess.

The table was artistically adorned with pale pink carnations and the rooms were gay with Japanese quinces and cherry blossoms.

One of the most delightful affairs of the early part of the week was the birthday party given Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spoerl in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise. The affair was given in the ballroom of the Wheelod Annex, and about 30 young people enjoyed the delightful affair. A number of specialties were introduced on the programme, one of the merriest being a "leap year dance."

A general color scheme of yellow was developed through the decorations which were Spring flowers and dainty hand-painted programmes, which made admirable souvenirs of the occasion.

A delicious supper was served and a special dance was given.

Miss Spoerl was charming in a gown of yellow taffeta and lace and she carried an arm-bouquet of violets and jonquils.

YOUNG MATRON WHO WILL ACT ON LIST OF PATRONESSES FOR SCOUT YOUNG DANCE.

Mrs. E. J. Hedlund

Margaret Cundy, Miss Margaret Mansfield, Miss Vivian Woolley, Miss Alice Bullington, Miss Mary McConnell, Collier Wheeler, Stanley Boquise, Lawrence Edwards, David Cooper, Edwin Humphrey, Harry Humphrey, A. Townsend Kuris, Herman Lind, Robert Bremner, Ralph Smith, Robert Cosgriff, William Fordyce, Alexander Miller, Biddle Combs, Bache Crofton and Roland Banks.

Miss Spoerl was Rose Festival Queen year before last and is a charming, pretty maid. She is also popular in her set.

The Nob Hill children will have an opportunity to see the film "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and the tale to be told by Miss Maude Ryan and Miss Rachel Clark on Friday afternoon. The performance will be given at the Nob Hill Theater.

Several parties representing the various residential clubs are being organized to attend the eighth of a series of dancing parties that are being given by the newly organized community dancing club, the Muriarks, who hold their parties in Muriark ballroom, every Saturday night. These parties are strictly by invitation and as a rigid censorship is placed at the door, it is important that those receiving invitations present them. On the reception committee are: Messrs and Mesdames B. Satterfield, H. V. Carter, LeRoy J. Abbott, Wilmer J. Condit and Jay W. Stevens.

The Maxilians announce their next party on Tuesday night, February 8. It will be given in Muriark ballroom. Invitations will be issued in a few days.

Society women are taking especial interest in the private exhibition of Borow Jones natural color photography slides picturing the Columbia Highway and Crater Lake scenery, as well as other beauty spots in Oregon, to be given Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the ballroom of Hotel Multnomah.

Invitations to this exhibition carry the endorsement of the following prominent maids and matrons: Mesdames William M. Ladd, Solomon Hirsch, Joseph N. Teal, Sigmund Frank, Charles S. Jackson, William D. Wheelwright, Mrs. White, Henry L. Corbett, Alice Benson Beach, Charles E. Rumelin and Miss Failing and Miss Maud Ainsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Pipes entertained Saturday with a delightful informal tea for about 50 of their friends, among the prominent guests being British Consul and Mrs. Harry L. Sherwood. The attractively appointed tea table was presided over by Miss Camille Dorsch. Red carnations were arranged effectively about the rooms and also adorned the tea table.

The regular dancing party of the Irvington Thursday Night Club will be held tomorrow evening at the Irvington clubhouse. As this will be the last party of the first series a full club membership is requested.

St. Mary's Cathedral Court, 1945, of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, will entertain with a "60" party Friday night in the Foresters' Hall, Fifteenth and Davis streets.

in my larder is a nice, fat rabbit," he croaked.

Now, Gray Wolf did not know whether to believe him or not, because he knew frogs didn't eat rabbit.

"Did it die of old age?" he asked the frog.

"Oh, it's young and tender, young and tender," grunted the frog in a voice that made Gray Wolf gnash his teeth in hunger and fury.

"What will you take for him?" asked Gray Wolf. In his most pleasant tones, hoping to get the rabbit for his supper, "One hundred buds from the whiffle tree," croaked the frog, in a deep voice.

Gray Wolf had never heard of the whiffle tree, and he did not think that frogs would eat flower buds anyway. But he was so hungry that he decided to try and get them himself. So he told the frog he was going to hunt for the whiffle buds, and trotted off. As he went he heard the frog grunting to himself. Gray Wolf thought the frog was laughing, but decided to hunt for the whiffle buds.

Gray Wolf did not know where to hunt for whiffle buds, so he decided to ask the Owl, who lived in a dead oak tree not far from the frog's pond. He found the Owl and asked him, in his polite tones, where he could find a whiffle tree.

"Hoot! hoot! hoot!" laughed the Owl, and shook so hard he nearly fell off the limb of the tree.

Gray Wolf did not wait for any more, but trotted away, so mad he did not know what to do, for he knew that the owl had laughed at him. But he made up his mind he was going to get that rabbit for his supper.

After this Gray Wolf decided not to ask anyone else for information, but to hunt for the whiffle tree himself. So he trotted to all the places he knew but could find nothing that could be taken for a whiffle tree. Then he decided to go into another wood, he had heard of and hunt. This wood, which Gray Wolf had never been in before, was dark and damp. Gray Wolf did not like it, but kept thinking of the young, tender rabbit the frog had told him of, and so kept on. When he had gone a long way he came to a little shallow hollow, and there, half dead, was a young, tender rabbit caught in a hunter's trap. With one spring, Gray Wolf caught the poor little animal, as it had just been suffering before.

When the Gray Wolf had finished his supper he forgot about the whiffle tree buds, the fat frog, and the young, tender rabbit, and trotted home contentedly.

It was only a couple of days later, however, when he was just as hungry as he had been before. He hunted all over his own woods, but could find nothing so he went back to the fat bullfrog. This time the frog told him he had a big, fat duck, which he would give Gray Wolf for 100 leaves of the whang-doodle vine.

After he had hunted all over his own woods he remembered the woods he had been in before, so away he trotted. He did not find the whang-doodle vine, but he found a big, fat duck which had wandered away from home, and accidentally hung himself in some bushes. So Gray Wolf ate the duck, and he was full and happy.

When he got home Gray Wolf began to think over his experiences, and realized that although he had not found either the whiffle tree or the whang-doodle vine, he had found both the young, tender rabbit and the big, fat duck. So he went and asked the frog again, and the frog laughed and told him that one could always find what one wanted by looking it for it long and hard enough.

LAWYER ANSWERS CHARGE

P. C. Dormitzer Says Lynching Probe Brought on Attack.

BAKER, Or., Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Sensational charges are made by P. C. Dormitzer, Portland attorney, in his answer filed today to the petition of District Attorney C. T. Goodwin, from practice in the Baker County courts. He denies the charges brought by Mr. Goodwin that he has tried to intimidate city officials into giving up the case against the Baker County defendants, to testify falsely and of encouraging litigation.

He avers that he came into Baker County because he was asked by whom the lynching of a stranger near Whitney about July 15, 1914, and that the investigation was to be pursued without collusion with local authorities, that spies were put on his track, that knockout drops were given him so that he had to go to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, after which he was arrested for passing worthless checks and was freed by a jury here.

He promises further revelations later.

SEWER ASSESSMENT MADE

Cost in Montavilla Is Estimated to Range From $95 to $105 Per Lot.

The average cost per lot for the big trunk sewer recently completed in Montavilla by Contractor Lind will range from $95 to $105 throughout the district. The statement that the cost would range to $195 was obviously an error.

This will be the last of the four assessments property owners of Montavilla will pay for the construction of the trunk sewer, which starts at the Willamette River and ends south of East Morrison street. The trunk was built in sections and for each section a district of owners were assessed. The cost of the entire trunk sewer will total about $700,000 besides the cost of laterals.
