

STARTING TODAY---

Harry D. Carey

One of the strongest and Most Unusual Dramas of the season

IN "A Knight of the Range"

The Most Lavish Western Production Ever Filmed

EVERY moving picture patron on earth loves a real hero, whether he wears a soldier's uniform or the chaps of a cowboy. "The Knight of the Range" is a tremendous story of the chivalry of a true-hearted son of the West, where men grow big of soul as well as of body. His sacrifices for a friend are incidental to one of the most romantic of love stories, and the magnificent Western settings, the dash and go of the spirited action combine to make a feature as noteworthy as the acting of that great favorite, Harry D. Carey.

The big play will fascinate you from the first scene to the big thrilling climax at the end.

"SKIDS" READY FOR LIQUOR VIOLATORS

Judge Stevenson Passes Out "Salty" Sentences and Says Maximum Will Prevail.

THREE ARE GATHERED IN

P. H. Swabb, Proprietor of Shasta Hotel, Betrayed by Customer Who Declares He Was Robbed of $20 and Sought Revenge.

With $500 in fines administered in the Municipal Court yesterday for violations of the local option law, Judge Stevenson announced a new policy of heavy fines and jail sentences for bootleggers.

"The skids are greased," he said, "I can see that bootlegging has commenced all over the county and I'm going to do my part to stop it. From now on every conviction will mean the maximum fine and the violators will go to jail, too, if I see fit."

Charles Thornton and Henry Oakley, arrested at 115 North Third street several nights ago, were fined $200 and $100 respectively. They admitted concealing the liquor in a sawdust pile in the woodshed. They were arrested by Patrolmen Richards and Wright, who took H. T. Colson out of jail as a decoy. All were dressed as loggers.

"We've got to be careful—there's two or three of those 'fly-dicks' in here every day, but I know them all," cautioned P. H. Swabb, proprietor of the Shasta Hotel, 288 Glisan street, as he delivered a bottle of whiskey and a bottle of beer to Patrolman Wright, in plain clothes, and accepted the policeman's two marked dollars in exchange Tuesday night.

"Well, I'm one of those 'fly-dicks,'" replied Mr. Wright flashing a star, "and you're under arrest."

He also arrested Saddle Rumpf, a pretty 20-year-old half-breed Indian girl who said she came from Coos Bay, and that she was employed by Swabb as chambermaid without wages except for room and board. The girl, it was charged, had helped serve two other bottles of whiskey and beer.

Swabb was fined $250, the heaviest fine yet administered in Portland for bootlegging since the advent of prohibition, and the girl was discharged.

The court, in this case, stated that he would throw any liquor case out of court in which it was shown that the purchaser declared himself in need of the whiskey for sickness.

The arrest had another angle of interest in that the police were "tipped off" to the place by a bridge contractor who said he had been accustomed to buy his drinks there, but declared he was robbed of $20 in the house and for revenge betrayed the proprietor. This charge Swabb denied.

When the policeman and his guide arrived at the house the girl said he was out. When he failed to return after some wait she confided an apprehension that he might have been arrested, as were Charles Thornton and Henry Oakley, next door neighbors.

Junction City Creamery Elects.

JUNCTION CITY, Or., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The stockholders of the Junction City Creamery, Inc., met in Danish Hall, elected directors and discussed business relative to the institution. The plant has two pasteurizers, and the building and entire equipment is valued at $9000. The board of directors re-elected was: S. L. Jensen, C. H. Preston, H. C. Peterson, A. R. Martin and J. A. Holcomb. Officers are: S. L. Jensen, president; C. H. Preston, vice-president; N. P. Jensen, secretary and manager. The secretary's report shows that 46,514 pounds of butter was manufactured, and the average test was 32.1 per cent.

WEBFOOT CAMP IS HOST

New Members and Campaigners Are Entertained at Banquet.

New members of the Webfoot Camp of the Woodmen of the World initiated between September 1, 1915, and January 23, 1916, and the members of the camp who had been active in the membership campaign which brought the new men into the order, were entertained by the lodge at a banquet at the Portland Hotel Tuesday night.

Nearly 500 new members were added during the campaign, bringing the total up to about 2000.

Speakers were C. W. Skewes, manager; A. L. Barber, clerk; Frank Motter, E. P. Martin, deputy head consul; William Heidt, past consul; Jay Stevens, F. W. German, past consul; J. H. Founay, consul commander, and L. G. De Young, sentry.

The Ad Club Trio and the Woodmen's Orchestra, under direction of Harry Parsons, furnished music.

O.-W. R. & N. MAP IS ISSUED

Other Lines Also Are Depicted and Details Are Declared Accurate.

A new map of the Northwest has just been issued by the O.-W. R. & N. Co. and is being distributed among patrons of the road. The map shows the company's lines in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, but shows the lines of other roads as well. It was prepared by the company's engineering department in Portland and is said to be accurate in every detail. The state and county boundaries are properly placed and towns and places not on the line of any railroad are designated. Rivers and other streams also are outlined.

A new departure in the way of maps of the Northwest territory is the inclusion of a map of Alaska, showing the railroad now being built there by the government.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Adv.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

PASTOR DEFINES COWARD

"TRAITOR" AND "ATHEIST" ARE USED BY DR. LOVELAND.

Terms Are Applied to Man Who Would Not Defend Home and Country, in Address on Preparedness.

"I believe in preparedness for defensive purposes, not for aggressive war, but to preserve this country from the wolves of the earth, and I believe that the man who will not defend his home and his country is an atheist, a coward and a traitor to his country," said Rev. F. L. Loveland, in his address last night before the Men's Club of the Central Presbyterian Church, at the dinner served by the women of the church. Dr. Loveland said that Christianity was facing one of the most stupendous problems it had ever been called on to face.

Dr. Loveland closed his address with a plea for preparedness that would defend America. He declared that it was the business of true American citizenship to see that the flag of this country is never trailed in the dust.

Dr. Loveland's address was often interrupted by applause, and his remarks were listened to with marked interest. A musical programme was rendered. Elton Shaw told of the coming laymen's convention. Ed Werlein presided.

Doty Mill Is Operating.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Jan. 26.—(Special.)—The Doty Lumber & Shingle

Company has resumed operations following a shutdown caused by the snow. An effort will be made to keep running in spite of the additional fall yesterday. There are more than 1,000,000 feet of timber in the mill boom that was washed down from the camps, and a crew of river men is working day and night in an effort to save the logs.

O. A. C. Professor Gets Study Leave.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Professor H. V. Tartar, chemist for the O. A. C. experiment station and head of the department of agricultural chemistry in the Oregon Agricultural College, has received 15 months' leave of absence to pursue advanced studies in chemistry and allied sciences in the graduate school of the University of Chicago.

Change in Act Asked.

OFFICIALS DISCUSS MEAT INSPECTION ORDINANCE.

Object Is to Make Measure Conform to Federal Rule and Need of Law Emphasized.

The City Council is to be asked next week to amend the Portland meat inspection ordinance so that features objected to by the State Supreme Court in its decision of Tuesday, in which most of the measure is held to be valid, will be changed or eliminated. City Health Officer Marcellus held conferences yesterday with Mayor Albee and with Deputy City Attorney Davie and arranged for changing the measure for presentation to the Council.

The changes asked by the Supreme Court are of little consequence, according to Dr. Marcellus and Attorney Davie, who handled the case for the city. When the ordinance first was adopted the provisions of the United States Bureau of Animal Husbandry regarding disposal of condemned meat were incorporated. Afterward the Federal Government changed these rules. It is proposed now to change them in the city ordinance to conform with the Federal rule.

City Health Officer Marcellus says there is great need for the enforcement of the ordinance, as evidenced recently, when four deaths and a number of cases of serious sickness resulted from the sale of pork infected with trichinosis.
