

RAILWAY AGENTS ON VISIT ARE AMAZED

Southern Pacific Party, Despite Admission of Wonders, Remains Loyal to East.

RETURN TO BEGIN TODAY

Committee Welcomes Delegation and Sights About Portland Make Day One of Revelations.

The corps of Eastern agents of the Southern Pacific arrived in Portland yesterday morning and in the succeeding 12 or 15 hours saw about everything that could be crowded into that brief space of time.

Now the conventional thing would be to make an elaborate pretense of being in love with the community and utterance to extravagant promises to make Oregon their future homes.

After breakfast the party was entertained with an exhibition of the Berger-Jones pictures of the Columbia River Highway and then started on a trip toward the highway itself.

Following is the personnel of the party: C. H. Vogel, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. B. Brown, Boston, Mass.; J. A. Blaser, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Anderson, New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kiphauf, New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mandan, St. Louis, Mo.; George H. Siebert, Cincinnati, O.; L. J. McFarland, Kansas City, Mo.; W. M. Stoen, Birmingham, Ala.; H. F. Starks, Pittsburgh, Pa.

FEDERAL AID ASKED

Chamber Wants $12,855 to Make Parks Accessible.

CAMP SITES INCLUDED

Letter to Mr. Graves Calls Attention to Expenditures Already Made and Planned—Officials Here Indorse the Movement.

To provide trails and camp sites in the 14,000-acre tract along the Columbia River Highway recently dedicated for public park purposes by the Federal Government is the plan now proposed by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce in charge of that detail.

In accordance with its plan, the committee yesterday forwarded to Henry S. Graves, Chief Forester of the United States, maps and charts explaining the territory through which trails should be constructed and where camps should be built.

An appropriation of $12,855 is requested to carry on the work properly. This sum is to be apportioned under the tentative program, as follows: McCord Creek trail, $1,000; Moffat Creek trail, $1,200; Eagle Creek trail, $3,850; Deadman Creek trail and camp sites, $75; spur road to high camp, $50; trail to Huckleberry, $400; Shellrock Mountain trail, $900; Starvation Creek camp, $20; Mount Defiance trail, $450; Butte Campground, $120; Eagle Creek campground, $500; various other camp and rest grounds, $210. Unestimated minor appropriations are requested for boat landings at various places along the river.

Local Officials Approve. The committee of the Chamber is composed of the following: Jacob Kanski, Amos Benson and Emory Olmstead. They have been assisted in their work by Thomas G. Sherrard and R. S. Shelby, of the local forestry office. Their plan has the approval of George H. Cecil, district forester in Portland.

Relative to the "preliminary plan of development" for the Columbia Gorge Park, hereto attached. Our committee, known as the Columbia Gorge Park committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, has been collaborating with the local Forest Service during the past three months in an effort to secure the plan for development of the Columbia Gorge Park.

More Work is Outlined. We feel that our request for this amount is a reasonable one in view of what we have accomplished on the Columbia River Highway to date, viz., the sum of $1,666,000. We have developed the highway connecting the Columbia Gorge Park with the City of Portland by a hard-surface road for a distance of 15 miles.

Opportunity is Presented. In conclusion permit us to call to your notice the special opportunity which confronts the United States Forest Service in the recreational development of this portion of the forest.

EARLY RESIDENT AND DEALER SUCCEUMS AT AGE OF 88.

Former State Senator and German Consul Passes Away After Noteworthy Career.

Carl von Wintzingerode, a native of Prussia, but a resident of this country since 1855, died at his home, 573 Fifth street, yesterday at the age of 89 years. Old age was the cause of his death.

Mr. Wintzingerode was born in Kirchhofen, Saxony, February 16, 1827. He was educated in the common schools of his native country and at the age of 18, after taking up the study of agriculture, left that occupation to enter the German army. He served with the Prussian forces during the revolution of 1848.

In 1853 Mr. Wintzingerode, having friends in San Francisco, decided to come to this country. He reached San Francisco late in 1853 and took up agriculture. He later engaged in various business enterprises and later returned to Oregon. He settled first in Eugene and then in Portland, where he had since resided.

Upon his retirement he was appointed German Consul for the district comprising Oregon and Idaho and served in that capacity for a number of years, being instrumental in drawing a large amount of German shipping to this port.

He served in the State Legislature as a member of the lower house in the session of 1874 and was elected on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Wintzingerode was a member of the Minerva Lodge No. 19, Independent Order of Oddfellows and of Encampment No. 2 of the same order.

Beside his widow, Mr. Wintzingerode is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Henry Mett and Miss Eliza Wintzingerode.

Funeral services will be held from the Holman chapel at 2 o'clock tomorrow, with interment in Riverview cemetery.

LETTER "E" CAUSES SUIT

Action is Brought to Clear Title to 760-Acre Tract.

BAKER, Or., Jan. 27.—(Special.)—The use of the letter "E" instead of "H" is the basis for the suit today by J. R. Seufert against Henry Fritz, William Fritz, Robert Sargent, C. J. Johns and Lucy Banche and all claimants to interests in the estate of E. A. Cassidy, involving title to 760 acres of land in Pleasant Valley.

The complaint sets forth that when the land in question was transferred by the Cassidy estate to J. E. Horn in 1905, "Cassidy" was spelled "Cassedy" in the records, clouding the title. A quit claim deed to the property in question purchased by Mr. Seufert from Mr. Horn is asked.

Arrival of Mother-in-Law Is Last Straw, He Declares.

Rolland A. Heala Avers Wife's Fearedly White Teeth Are Value and That Hair He Delighted to Careen Never Was Hers.

SHE said she was 26, his own age, and that she adored him. So they were married at Vancouver, Wash., January 12, 1915.

Seven months later he caught his wife washing her teeth in a peculiar manner. She held the pearls white incisors he so admired in her hand as she scrubbed them critically.

That was the first disillusionment that shortly after he discovered the flowing tresses of chestnut brown which he had loved to caress flowing alone on the white cover of his wife's dressing table. And he saw that the locks truly her own were streaked with gray.

Then mother-in-law came to live with them. That was the last straw and Rolland A. Heala yesterday filed suit for divorce in the Circuit Court against Sarah J. Heala.

The discoverer of Heala when he really became well acquainted with his wife are all set forth in the complaint. After reciting the series of exposures that led to his belief that his wife was more than 49 years old, instead of 26, Heala recounts the coming of his wife's mother to live with them, and the
