LENTS ALLIANCE TO AID NEEDY.—The Young People's Alliance of the Lents Evangelical Church has added another department to its work, and anyone who needs help or who wants work, or who has work to offer, is asked to communicate with the committee by calling Tabor 5 or Tabor 4243, and every possible assistance will be rendered. The alliance held its business meeting at the home of William Anderson last week. Second avenue, Lents. Paul Bradford was elected president for the ensuing year; Hazel Sommerfelt, vice-president; Pearl Clark, chairman of the lookout committee, and Mrs. E. Ulrich, corresponding secretary. Reports showed all departments active. At this meeting it was decided to assist the needy in the community, every way possible, and a committee was appointed for that work.

ODDFELLOWS TO AID FUNERAL.—Odd-fellows will meet today at 1 o'clock in Orient Lodge Hall, East Sixth and Alder streets, to aid in conducting the funeral of John Hays, past grand of Integrity Lodge No. 35, who died at Pendleton several days ago. The East Side Funeral Directors have charge of the body.

I. W. W. SEES REVOLT

J. P. THOMPSON TELLS CHURCH MEMBERS IDLE RICH TO WORK. Common Ownership of Industries and Government Operation of War Factories Among Predictions.

An industrial revolution is coming, when the capitalistic class will disappear, when all the great factories and industrial concerns will be owned and operated by the community, the Government will operate its munition and other departments, and when there will be no unemployed, declared James P. Thompson, organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, yesterday before the Current Events Club of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Thompson took the place of "Mother" Lawrence, who was announced to speak on the work of the Pisgah Home, but who could not attend. Mr. Thompson said that the I. W. W. was the only up-to-date labor organization, and that all the others had outlived their usefulness and would pass away in this industrial and economic revolution. He outlined what he said is the real object of the industrial workers of the world, which was to sweep away all the idle class and put every man to work.

This revolution, he declared, "will do away with all industrial kings and labor will be supreme and all things will be held and operated in common. There will be social production where is now private production. The many and not the few will own the earth, and all industrial concerns will be owned and operated by the people. The capital, but the capitalist must go. The present industrial system is passing away and a new order of things is coming. There will be no unemployed men."

It was announced that President P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon, will address the class next Sunday on the subject "Relations of the University to the Public Schools."

ASSAULT VICTIM 'FORGETS'

Robbery Not Motive and Only Descending Hand Recalled.

John Kizer, a butcher on his way home to 813 Johnson street, remembers hearing a sound as he reached Sixteenth street on Stark street, and throwing a hurried glance behind him, caught a glimpse of a city detective. This was Saturday night at 8:30, and he knew nothing more until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when he awoke in the Emergency Hospital at the police station.

He had been found sitting in a dazed condition on the porch at 155 North Twenty-first street, five blocks from the place he was assaulted. He says he remembers nothing of the events occurring after the blow on the head. For 12 hours his mind was a blank. Nothing was taken and a motive for the assault is lacking. He says he had no enemies.

CLERK ADMITS FORGERY

Simon Sarebrosky Confesses to Passing $27 Worthless Check.

Simon Sarebrosky, a 25-year-old clerk, was arrested yesterday morning and confessed to the city detectives that he attempted to pass a forged check for $27 on the Olds, Wortman & King store several days ago. He was caught by Detectives Moloney and Swann.

PASTOR RALLIES LAYMEN

Rev. Mr. Poling Prepares Church for Canvass for Delegates.

Rev. C. C. Poling, pastor of the First United Evangelical Church, East Sixteenth and Poplar streets, devoted yesterday morning's service to the laymen's missionary movement, and at the close of the meeting appointed a special committee of men to canvass the territory for delegates.

CHURCH DISTRICT CREATED

Oregon, Washington, California and Arizona in Franciscan Province.

The Franciscan Fathers of Portland have just learned that a new Franciscan district has been created out of the states of Oregon, Washington, California and Arizona, known as the province of Santa Barbara.

This territory was formerly known as the Commissionary of the West part of the Sacred Heart province, with headquarters at St. Louis. The change has been made upon petition. It has been announced that the first provincial will be V. R. Hugoline Storr, of St. Louis.

J. E. Graves Dies in Ashland. Jerrod E. Graves, a well-known resident of Ashland, Or., died in that city Friday at the age of 73 years. Mr. Graves had been in business in Portland and was quite well known here. He is survived by a widow and one son, Thad L. Graves, of this city, who left for Ashland and will return Wednesday morning with the body. Mr. Graves was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, which organization will hold the funeral services in Ashland, after which the body will be brought to Portland and interment will be held probably at the Portland Crematorium. J. P. Finley & Son have charge of the arrangements.

3 SCALE LARCH IN SNOW

Weather Defied by Hikers Ascending Mountains on Snowshoes.

Defying untoward weather, three hikers climbed to the summit of Larch Mountain yesterday, accomplishing the feat with the aid of snowshoes. The states of Oregon and Washington, on which they were able to negotiate the difficult trails. Snow on the summit was 19 to 22 feet in depth. The lodge, built on top of the mountain for the accommodation of hikers, is almost covered by snow.

Threat to Kill Self Brings Aid.

"My wife is sick and starving, and I'm going to kill myself," Ira Daniels, a cook, told Chief of Police Clark Saturday. The police sent Daniels to jail on a charge of insanity, and on investigation found that Mrs. Daniels, a blind woman, was, indeed, ill and in want at the Amsden Hotel, Third and Jefferson streets. A small collection was forwarded to the sick woman by the officers.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO MEET

Report of Ways and Means Committee to Be Heard.

Within the next few days ex-Senator Fulton, president of the Oregon Bar Association, will authorize A. E. Ridgway, secretary, to issue a call of that body to meet in Portland within 30 days, in special session, to hear the report of the committees on ways and means. A resolution was adopted at the last convention calling for such report at an extraordinary session of the organization. The ways and means committee has raised enough money to prosecute members of the bar who have been guilty of unprofessional conduct.

SNOWBOUND RECLUSE FACES DEATH.

HILLSBORO, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Chris. Goods, an aged man, who has been living in a cabin in the woods south of Cornelius, was taken to a Portland hospital by Health Officer Wood yesterday, suffering from exhaustion. The recent snowstorm prevented his leaving his home for supplies, and when found by neighbors he had been without food for 18 days. He declares he is one of the heirs to a large estate in the East. Missouri's law code is to be revised by a commission of 15 persons.

DISEASE IS HELD REAL

CHURCH EVERYWHERE MAY SOME DAY HEAL, SAYS PASTOR.

Dr. Luther R. Dyott, However, Declares That Real Diseases Must Be Treated by Physicians.

"The church everywhere, without making any more day exercise the power of healing, but it will not do away with the medical profession," said Dr. Luther R. Dyott last night in his sermon on "Are Folks Ill? If So, What is to Be Done About It?" In answer to the former question, the pastor declared that many are ill, but that some are afflicted merely with diseases of the imagination, fancying themselves possessed of certain diseases. For those he recommended a treatment entirely different from those who have physical ailments. "Disease is a reality," said Dr. Dyott. "Jesus never denied the fact that he healed diseases. The church will I think, co-operate with the regular physicians in healing people." "At present, many incompetent persons enter the field and call themselves 'healers.' When diseases exist in the imagination only, they may effect so-called cures. "If credulous persons who really have diseases trust them for healing, and these healers allow such persons to die when they could have been restored to health by competent physicians, then such healers are criminally guilty and should, accordingly, be prosecuted. "When folks have real diseases they should have real physicians. Home remedies may be good, sometimes."
