JEW SAYS BRANDEIS SHOULD WITHDRAW

Joseph Cohn, of Eastern Mission to Hebrews, Would Avoid Criticism.

FUTURE OF RACE IN DOUBT

Movement to Restore Holy Land Depends on Outcome of War, Is Opinion of Speaker Before White Temple Audience.

"If I were Louis D. Brandeis, whom President Wilson has nominated to the United States Supreme Court, I would resign from the appointment and stop all the agitation which his selection has caused," declared Joseph Cohn, of the Williamsburg (N. Y.) Mission to the Jews, before a large audience at the White Temple yesterday afternoon, in his talk on "Palestine, the War and the Jews."

"Of course, if the United States Senate confirms Mr. Brandeis, he will be the first Jew who ever sat on the Federal Supreme Court, and it would be a high honor not only to himself, but to the Jewish race," continued Mr. Cohn. "But it would be better, in my opinion, if he did as did Mr. Strauss some years ago in withdrawing from the race for Mayor of New York, because of the agitation. Mr. Brandeis would avoid all the talk and criticism that is being made against him."

Mr. Cohn declared also that the present conflict in Europe was only a fulfillment of the prophecies set down in the Bible. "Nor is this going to be the last of wars," he commented; "for there will be fighting among nations as long as greed and selfishness and ambition and the like exist."

Jesus Is Only Peace Hope.

The only peace that can ever come must be that which can come only "through Jesus Christ, the prince of peace," said Mr. Cohn. He seemed to see no hope in the movements for permanent peace, "because it is not God's plan." God's plan was through Christianizing the nations, Jews included, he explained.

He said further:

"Portland has shown at all times a most remarkable love for the Jews, and I have been especially pleased to see how generous was the response to the present relief appeal for the stricken Jews in Poland. Eighty per cent of all the Jews in the world are now involved in the great war. The actual figures are 9,800,000 Jews, and the pathetic thing about it is that they are the helpless victims of conditions and powers over which they have no control.

"In Russia, for instance, there are, it is estimated, some 500,000 Jews actually at the front fighting for the Czar on the various battle lines. The poor Jew owes no allegiance to Russia, which has been his bitter enemy and destroyer for a thousand years, yet he is loyal to the Czar just the same.

Jews in Opposing Armies.

"Likewise in Germany there are some 75,000 Jews enlisted in the German army; Austria-Hungary also has between 75,000 and 100,000 Jews in the armies. England has so far enlisted 15,000 Jews, of which number more than 8000 have gone to the front. Thus we have the amazing spectacle of seeing brother Jew arrayed against brother Jew in battle, a thing hitherto unheard of.

"Now, about the possibilities of a renewed Palestine movement for the Jews, it is yet too early in the war to foretell with any degree of accuracy what may take place. Turkey seems doomed, and with the annihilation of Turkey there may come a greater freedom for the Jews in the reclaiming of their own land. England has already given a pledge to the Jewish Zionist leaders that, as soon as the war is ended, she will see to it that the Jews are given some sort of protectorate in the Holy Land."

RELIGION TO BE TAUGHT

BAPTIST INSTITUTE WILL OPEN AT WHITE TEMPLE TODAY.

Leaders in Denominational Educational Work Here for Meetings to Last for Several Days.

An institute of religious education under the auspices of the Baptist churches of Portland and vicinity will open today in the White Temple. Several men and women who are leaders in educational work in the Baptist denomination will make addresses. The first session will begin at 2:15 o'clock today. Among those who will speak will be Mrs. A. W. DeLong, Dr. W. E. Rafferty, of Philadelphia; Rev. S. Zane Batten and Dr. W. E. Chalmers, of Philadelphia; Miss Meme Brockway, Rev. George White and others. Between 6 and 7 o'clock a cafeteria supper will be served.

The night session will open at 7:30 o'clock.

Tomorrow night Dr. W. B. Hinson will be welcomed, and will give an address on "Evangelism." This will be his first appearance in his former pulpit since he took up the work of the Baptist Home Mission Society.

Yesterday the visiting ministers occupied the Baptist pulpits of the city as follows: White Temple, morning, Dr. Chalmers; night, Dr. Batten; East Side, Dr. Rafferty; Grace, morning, Dr. Batten; Third, Dr. George White, of Los Angeles; Highland, Dr. M. L. Thomas, of Northern California; Arleta, Dr. D. C. Williams, of Los Angeles; Sellwood, Rev. L. P. Valentine, of Los Angeles; evening, Glencoe, Dr. Rafferty; Lents, Dr. Thomas; University Park, Dr. White; St. Johns, Rev. Mr. Valentine; Oregon City, Dr. Chalmers, and Calvary, Rev. D. C. Williams.

The committee of arrangements for the institute was headed by Dr. J. D. Springston.

Four Die at Freewater.

FREEWATER, Or., Feb. 20.—(Special.)—Freewater's death roll surpassed all records yesterday. The grip claimed three victims within 20 hours, and all three being children. One was the 3-year-old daughter of W. A. Propeck, one the week-old infant of Sam Givens, and the other the month-old infant of F. S. Givens. Another death, caused by stomach trouble, was that of Mrs. W. H. Williams.

DEAN COLLINS, Editor.

EDITORIAL.

Ere we arose to the dizzying apex of journalistic responsibility and were given the job of issuing this battle flag of civic righteousness wkly., we were ardent and zealous followers of the sublime principles that we learned at our mother's knee—and also at our teacher's knee, although our posture while receiving moral instruction may mave differed on different occasions.

We are obliged to confess that while the greater part of the high moral precepts we received in those days have stuck—in our memory at least—we have been obliged to abandon some of them in the strenuous life of editorial endeavor.

For instance, there was the grand occasion of G. Washington, when he saw that his father had the goods on him in the cherry tree incident.

"I cannot tell a lie," said George, "father, I done it with my little hatchet."

For years our ambition was to be able to emulate the fast footwork of George in the arena of practical morality, but in our present position we must confess that we have abandoned that high aim.

If we were in a state of moral restraint such that we could not tell a lie, we are convinced that we would have to run half The Crawfish in boiler plate, that many of our most striking bits of news would never see the light, and that, eventually, we might find ourselves out of our position as Crawfish Editor.

In the fact that George could not tell a lie, we believe we see the explanation for his never having shined in the fields of contemporary literary endeavor.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Winnie Braden, who, we understand, is to be elected County Treasurer of Polk County, was down from Dallas last wk.

Bert Wonderly, the rising young merch. of Falls City, met us on the street the other day and promised to take us fishing next Summer, which is a sentiment we greatly approve.

John Shultz, of Dallas, was at the Perkins the other day, and said there was less repining in that city over prohibition than there would have been if they hadn't had a year to get used to it.

Geo. Hardy, manager of the Cham. of Com., is expected home this wk. bristling with more new ideas.

H. D. Sheldon, of Eugene, the w. k. psychologist, was seen at the North Bank station last Wed. with a black Van Dyke—beard, not cigar.

Theatric Notes.

W. Gilbert, the prom. thespian who guides the destinies of the Baker Players on the stage, has a corncob pipe that would be greatly envied by P. Ryan, the w. k. police reporter, we observed the other night when we were imposing on Mr. Gilbert's good nature by having him remember a song for us that we couldn't remember ourselves. We had always felt that the theatric profession scorned everything but Turkish cigarettes and cigars done in tinfoil at a retail price of two bits, and we accordingly honor Mr. G for his progressiveness. We feel that the sign "no smoking allowed," which we saw posted behind the scenes, must have been inspired by some envious chap whose nostils are not properly attuned to the nicotine harmonies of a mature and well-broken cob.

CHILDHOOD CLASSICS.

The following blossom in childhood's garden of verses was sent us by a dear old lady who informs us that it was a great favorite among the children 30 or 40 years ago, being used on occasions when they wanted to demonstrate to their playmates how recklessly bad they dared to be in their language:

As I was going to the lake
I met a little rattle-snake.
Who'd eaten so much jelly cake
It made his little belly ache.

Young Idea Seen Shooting.

Ye scribe was a guest of Eric Allen and Col. Dyment, head scriveners of the school of journalism at the U. of O., last Fri., and appeared before the students and stimulated great wisdom on the subject of newspaper verse and humor.

The latter part of the visit was devoted to an observation of the young idea shooting about the campus much as our own young idea used to shoot in days agone, and in shaking hands with Prof. Schmidt, and looking for Prof. Howe and Prof. Cloren and all the others we used to know to shake their hands, and in greeting M. Sommer, the Hen Watterson of the Emerald, and the duo of Toozes (peace and war) and Hal Hamstreet and Milt Stoddard, the short-haired poet of the campus, and others.

And coming home Sat. we wrote our Sunday colyum on the train, which was not necessary after all, for the train reached Portland too late for the colyum to be printed on Sunday.

We also met, we are pleased to state, Prof. J. Fred Thorne, for whom we conceived a deep and lasting admiration, he having informed us that he indorsed our literary efforts most highly.

"WHEN THE DOVE BIT THE EAGLE."

BY WHIXTON G. HOTAIRE.

Chapter 13.

Months afterwards, one of the survivors of Clatskanie, told me the story of Miss De Gaff's heoric stroke for peace in the trenches in front of the beleagured city.

Her jitney party arrived at Clatskanie early on the morning of Washington's birthday, for it will be remembered that she announced as her slogan: "Out of the trenches by Washington's birthday."

Hastily jimmying the back door of the defenses open with a hatchet, she led her intrepid band into the presence of Gen. White, who had moved his headquarters into the front line of trenches, owing to the crowded condition of the hotels since the arrival of Gen. Beebe and his staff.

"In the name of peace and brotherly love, I urge you and your soldiers to come out of the trenches and arbitrate with the enemy," cried the heroine, unfurling the banner of peace, while her companions released a flock of white doves, which were immediately devoured by the gaunt and hungry soldiery.

"Follow me, soldiers, to the dawn of a better system of civilization," she said again, as she leaped out of the trench.

In a single instant a rifle bullet carried away the canary bird on her hat, a bursting "75" knocked out her tortoiseshell hair pin and a hand granade covered her from head to foot with dust.

Bravely she leaped back into the trench.

"You're right, General," she said, magnanimously, crowding two Corporals out into the open to make room for herself, "the time isn't ripe to bring the army out of the trenches."

(To be continued.)

50 WEEKS AGO TODAY.

Pat McArthur received a toga from A. Walter Lafferty, who has been a Congressman, but was going into indefinite retirement.

Til Taylor, general Sheriff of Umatilla, was in town chaperoning Mlle. Stella Williams, the popular belle of the Umatilla Reservation, to Salem for a year's sojourn at the institution rendered so justly famous during the reign of O. West. Her absence from Umatilla was expected to affect materially the statistics on the per capita consumption of sipritIous liquors in Umatilla.

CERTAIN CLASSES WON'T EMULATE GEORGE.

PASTOR VOICES CRY

Men School Teachers Needed, Says Dr. Youngson.

RELIGIOUS SUCCESS CITED

Preacher Declares Boys and Girls in Elementary Classes Would Be Benefited by Having More Masculine Instruction.

"There are too few men, and consequently too many women, teaching in elementary schools," declared Dr. W. W. Youngson, pastor of Rose City Park Methodist Church yesterday, when he had as his sermon topic, "The Boy, America's Greatest Asset."

He said that the master of a boys' school recently had said with scorn, "When boys come to us it takes them about a year to get over saying 'Yes ma'am.' Hardly one boy in a hundred ever has a man teacher."

Dr. Youngson said that it would be a worthy crusade to get men represented in the earlier periods of school life. He stated as his opinion that both boyhood and girlhood would be benefited if somewhere between the first grade and college there might be more men teachers.

Religious Works Lauded.

He maintained that more men and boys are interested in the church today than ever before because the churches were never so aggressive or so attractive as now. He upheld the work done by the Y. M. C. A., the men's clubs in the churches, the Sunday schools and the laymen's missionary movement, in interesting the young men and the boys who follow the example of the best men of the day.

Dr. Youngson said in part:

"But it is mainly due to a belief in child conversion and Christian nurture, to a sane religious education and to a more judicious and patient handling of the boy in the adolescent years.

"Right here lies the opportunity and the duty of the church to guide, to challenge and marshall these newborn forces and enthusiasms of youth. The church must furnish this kind of moral leadership.

Service Means Help.

"When, therefore, service comes to mean not worship, but human helpfulness, helping humanity to be less dirty, less drunken, less ignorant, less animal, less diseased and deformed, less sorrowful, less selfish and sinful; when service means the setting apart of playgrounds in every community, thereby inevitably lessening the work of the Juvenile Court; when it means a sane solution of the tenement problem; then, I think, there will be still more boys and men to fill our pews with devout worshipers.

"The problem of the young man is the boy! Sow a thought and you reap an act. Sow an act and you reap a habit. Sow a habit and you reap a character. Sow a character and you reap a destiny. The boy is America's greatest asset."

Sermon Thoughts From Portland Churches.

The Rev. J. Allen Leas, of St. James Lutheran Church, spoke yesterday morning on the subject "At the Feet of Jesus," choosing as his text Luke x:39.

In part, Mr. Leas said: "It is an honor to be a friend of Jesus as Lazarus and his sisters were. Jesus must be a living, saving character in our lives or he will mean little to us. Martha and Mary represent two different types of Christians. The one is the nervous, active serving kind; the other is the quiet, listening, learning kind. The one supplements the other, and the golden mean is between the two extremes. In order to learn of the Savior there is required humility or repentance. We must look up to the teacher, not down.

"The Savior's call, 'Go ye into all the world,' calls us to missions; his 'Inasmuch as ye have not done it to the least of these, my brethren, ye have not done it unto me' calls us to citizenship. His 'Repent ye and be baptized' calls us to personal salvation."

"You talk too much," declared Rev. George Darsie, of the First Christian Church, yesterday morning in his charge to the elders and deacons of the church who were ordained and consecrated after the sermon.

"If you have anything kind to say, say it.

"If there is anything unkind, don't mention it.

"You talk too much; I talk too much; we all talk too much," said the pastor.

"If there is a lie told it will get round the earth before the truth gets its shoes on, it is said. Let us all determine not to repeat the things that will hurt. I say this not only to the deacons, but to all. We need reminding of our duties."

Frank L. Gloyd and Will F. Powell were ordained as elders, and the deacons were William W. Crittendon, Forrest G. King, Carl Brown, Fred C. Leibold, John F. Faust, Charles J. Winchell, George F. Alexander, Will O. Flack, R. M. McClung, Albert E. Meserve.

A warning to nations and to individuals who reach a certain stage of achievement and then fail to progress was sounded yesterday morning by the Rev. H. M. Ramsey, dean of St. Stephen's pro-Cathedral.

The danger "of an enlarged 'ego' for nation and man" was cited in the history of the destruction of Jerusalem. The lamentations of Jeremiah and the prophetic utterances of Christ were quoted. A graphic picture of the ancient city and of its downfall was presented to a large congregation, and Dean Ramsey urged his hearers to keep in the onward and upward path of spiritual, moral and mental progress.

"Christ was patriotic," said Dean Ramsey. "When he saw that the people of the nation were not taking God with them in their hearts and lives, were not making the best of their great opportunity and that doom must come to those people, as a patriotic son of a great nation, Jesus wept."

"Little real progress is made by staying in a rut, but we must break away from conventionalities, get out of the rut, in order to go forward and make progress in Christian life," said Rev. Thomas W. Lane in his sermon yesterday morning. The topic was "Getting Out of the Old Rut." Mr. Lane said that it was not easy to do this, and when the rut is forsaken there is always a jar, a breaking loose from conventionalities, but he declared it was sometimes absolutely necessary to do this to get ahead and make developments.

"I would break every law and rule in the discipline to get a soul into the kingdom of God. And hence it is necessary for the human soul to get out of the rut it has fallen into. It is necessary for the church to get out of the rut to move forward."

W. C. A.

The pageant will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the National Young Women's Christian Association. Girls of every decade from 1866 to 1916 will be seen in timely costumes, and the activities, work and departments of the association will be introduced.

LENT THREE WEEKS AWAY

Ash Wednesday Is March 8 and Easter Day April 23.

Yesterday was Septuagesima, or the third Sunday before Lent. The penitential period will begin on Ash Wednesday, March 8. Easter will fall on April 23.

The lateness of Lent this year will allow for many social events before society is scheduled to put on the proverbial sackcloth and ashes.

BUILDING TO GO AHEAD

WORK ON INMAN-POULSEN PLANT WILL START AT ONCE.

Insurance Agents Make Unusual Concession, Which Will Permit Resumption Before Long.

By an agreement of all insurance adjusters detailed on the Inman-Poulsen fire losses, reconstruction of the Inman-Poulsen plant, which was partially destroyed by fire last Thursday afternoon, will be started tomorrow morning.

The insurance representatives have enough confidence in the officials of the Inman-Poulsen Lumber Company to permit them to proceed with their rebuilding work before the damaged property is formally examined. Adjustments will proceed in the usual way, but the insurance companies have agreed that the lumber company can begin its work without prejudice. This is an unusual proceeding, and is adopted only when the policyholder merits the full confidence of the insurance companies.

It is estimated that it will require from 10 days to two weeks to make the adjustments. It will cost the Inman-Poulsen Company, it is figured, $1000 a day while the plant is idle, and this action on the part of the insurance people will therefore save the owners considerable loss.

Adjusters for every company having a loss in the Inman-Poulsen fire met yesterday with Paul C. Bates, who has handled the company's insurance, and readily reached an agreement to permit immediate reconstruction.

SCAPED CONVICT HELD

MICHIGAN FUGITIVE ARRESTED BY PORTLAND DETECTIVES.

Man Once Under Arrest as Vagrant Lingers After Ordered Out of City Until Recognized as Criminal.

Edward Shields, arrested for vagrancy, was released last Monday and told to quit the city. He is under arrest again, but will leave soon for Jackson, Mich., to finish a 15-year term for assault to rob.

Detectives Leonard and Pat Moloney were whiling away an idle half-hour with a picture catalog of badly wanted crooks and criminals.

"Have you ever seen that fellow?" was the query Leonard put to Moloney.

"Have I ever!" ejaculated Moloney.

The two detectives left headquarters hurriedly. Within half an hour they found Shields at the corner of Third and Harrison streets. He was rearrested and taken to the police station, blissfully presuming that the charge was vagrancy, as of yore.

They led the captive to their picture-book.

"Were you ever known as George Lawrence?" was the question put to him as the page was turned.

Shields denied the name; then he denied the picture. Finally he admitted his identity.

George Lawrence escaped from prison at Jackson, Mich., January 10, 1915. He had served less than one year of a 15-year sentence.

The Japanese are now manufacturing yearly about $5,000,000 worth of toys, of which 40 per cent are for exportation.

LUMBER LIVENS UP

Brisker Market Indicated by Movements of Ships.

RIVER PLANTS ARE ACTIVE

Several Carriers Are En Route for Cargoes; Some Loading Here Now; Shipments Are Being Sent East by Rail.

Brisker movement in the lumber market is indicated by the cargoes now being handled out of the Columbia River. All vessels on the coast available for handling this commodity have been secured, and a number are now en route here. Lumber is also being shipped East by rail owing to the difficulty of securing bottoms, according to lumber manufacturers.

The McCormick steamer Wapama got away from St. Helens for California ports with a million feet of lumber yesterday. A portion of the cargo of the vessel was taken on at Portland, the steamer being shifted to St. Helens Saturday.

One of the coasters regularly handling lumber from this port, the steamer Santa Barbara, got into the river yesterday. She was taken immediteely to Westport where she will be loaded by the Westport Lumber Company.

Among the off-shore lumber carriers due to arrive here early in March, is the Japanese steamer Bankoku Maru, which has been handling cargo out of this port in the service of the China Import and Export Company. She got away from Yokahama on February 10 and, after touching at a British Columbia port, will come here. She has about 200,000 feet of hardwood lumber consigned to Mitsui & Co., and after discharging this will take on a lumber cargo for the Orient.

The American schooner George E. Billings should arrive in the river within a few days to take on a cargo of lumber for Sydney. The Billings got away from San Francisco for Portland February 15, and is now six days out. She will be dispatched from this port to Comyn, Mackall & Company.

The barkentine Echo left Sydney for this port for a lumber cargo January 21. The schooner Carrier Dove is also en route here from Sydney, and will be loaded with lumber on the river.

SCHOONER SALE IS REPORTED

Hugh Hogan and Steamer Chehalis Named in Deals.

The schooner Hugh Hogan, which was in Portland harbor in October, has been purchased by W. R. Grace & Co., and will be used in their offshore trade, according to information coming from San Francisco. The Hugh Hogan was dispatched from this port from Shanghai October 20, and she is reported to have arrived there January 19. She is a vessel of 355 tons.

Sudden & Christensen are reported to be negotiating for the sale of the steamer Chehalis. The vessel is now en route from Papeete to San Francisco, after taking part in the salvaging of the former German vessel Walkure.

Cargo Removal Hurried.

In order that the American-Hawaiian steamer Kentuckian, now lying at Albers dock, may be given quick dispatch, the work of unloading the New York freight which she carries was continued yesterday. The Kentuckian is scheduled to get away from this port direct for Honolulu on Thursday of this week. She will take a cargo consisting of general merchandise, produce, brick and flour. The Kentuckian got into the river Friday.

Bark Undergoing Repairs.

The French bark Notre Dame d'Arvor is still lying at the North Pacific Lumber Company's dock, and is being rapidly put in shape for taking on a cargo of grain. After she has been lined she will be shifted for loading. She is to be dispatched from this port to Strauss & Co. The vessel arrived from Melbourne Thursday.

News From Northwest Ports.

ASTORIA, Or., Feb. 20.—(Special.)—Completing her cargo of lumber at Westport, the steam schooner Johan Poulsen sailed during the night for San Francisco.

Carrying freight and passengers from Astoria and Portland, the steamer Bear sailed during the night for San Francisco and San Pedro.

The tank steamer Washtenaw arrived this morning from California with fuel for Astoria and Portland.

The German bark Kurt was shifted last evening to the Municipal dock, where she will lie in the future.

The steam schooner Santa Barbara arrived from San Francisco and went to Westport to load lumber.

COOS BAY, Or., Feb. 20.—(Special.)—Arrived, steamship Kilburn, at 8 A. M., from Portland; steam schooner A. M. Simpson, from San Francisco, at 2 P. M.; steam schooner Yellowstone, from San Francisco, at 3 P. M., with tug Ida W. A.

Sailed, steam schooner Westerner, at 12:50 P. M.

Marine Notes.

Work of baling and putting in shape for shipment about four carloads of wool belonging to the Portland Wool Warehouse Company was in progress yesterday at the warehouse at the municipal dock No. 1. The wool is to be sent East by rail.

It is expected that the steamer Rose City, of the "Big Three" line which is now under going overhauling at the municipal dock No. 1, will be ready for the installation of new boilers in about a week or 10 days.

The steamer Washtenaw, of the Union Oil Company, got into the river yesterday, bringing a cargo of oil products from Port San Luis. She was brought up the river immediately for discharging.

The repair work on the rigging of the French bark Bayard, grain laden from this port, which put into San Francisco harbor after sustaining damage in bad weather off the Oregon Coast, will be done by Muir & Symon, according to news received from San Francisco.

BABY A SIGHT WITH PIMPLES

All Over Head and Face. Hard Crusts Formed. Cried Night and Day. Suffered Terribly.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little boy became red all over his head and face, and he lost all of his hair. Later he broke out in little pimples and hard crusts formed. The skin was sore, red, and inflamed, and it burned so he used to scratch all the time. He was nearly crazy and he cried night and day. He was a sight to behold and suffered terribly.

"The trouble lasted about two months and nothing seemed to do any good. We were told to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and we did so. They seemed to relieve him at once and he slept for two hours, and after we used two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment and about three bars of the Cuticura Soap he was completely healed and did not have a mark on him." THE VITAL ORGANS SLOWLY POISONED

Auto-Intoxication Is the Slow Self-Poisoning of the Vital Organs.

Any physician will tell you how widespread and far-reaching is the dangerous influence of catarrh, it being the cause of most all of the ailments and disease at the present time. Primarily, this condition which is nothing more or less than the slow, self-poisoning of the vital organs, was produced by a cold settling in the mucous membrane which lines every organ of the body. Local inflammation would set in which causes putrifactive germs to be excreted and carried by the blood all over the body.

The liver becomes poisoned and torpid and is unable to properly handle the accumulated waste. The neglected case of catarrh has now spread to every organ of the body and naturally that organ which is systematically weakest will be the organ to suffer most. Symptoms will appear and the patient will ignore the cause and commence treating the effect, leaving the original condition to become worse and worse.

In such cases Plant Juice acts promptly. It eliminates the germ of catarrh, gives new vigor to the torpid liver, and regulates the flow of bile. It has also great properties as a tissue builder, which rapidly enables the subject to feel fresh vigor both mentally and physically.

Plant Juice is sold in all Owl Drug Stores.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN THE EATING

What the sick want is to get well. They do not care whether they are cured by the most scientific physician or the most unlearned neighbor—they don't care how they are cured, if only they get well.

For forty years women suffering from female ills have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have been getting well; and because they have got well, that great medicine continues to have a sale equalled by that of few proprietary preparations.—Adv.
