LONDON, Feb. 28.—Attack of the German forces at the battle for the fortress is still raging today. The French forces, according to official estimates, are at the point of encirclement. The French have cause to expect further attacks from the German forces, which are reported to be strong in numbers.

The French forces, it is reported, are being supplied with fresh troops and ammunition. The French are reported to be holding their own, but the situation is critical.
