BRUSH TO BE CUT

200 Men to Clear Streets Near Oakley Green.

CITY TO TAKE ACTION

Attorney to Ask Council to Make Ordinance Effective and Afford Relief From Ruffians Who Terrorize School Pupils.

The Men's Protective League, organized Friday night with 200 members at Oakley Green Schoolhouse, to put a stop to the criminal activities of ruffians who have terrorized that community for two years, has already secured results.

At the meeting of the executive committee of 25 from the league yesterday afternoon, which was held at the schoolhouse, it was reported that W. K. Smith, who represents a 50-acre tract adjoining the schoolhouse, owned by the Ukase Investment Company, will at once clear the streets extending to Portland boulevard of brush. The Protective League will put 200 men at work clearing the brush between the streets in this tract.

City Attorney La Roche was consulted relative to having tracts covered with brush declared a public nuisance. He found the ordinance so faulty as to be ineffective.

Amendments to Go to Council.

However, Mr. La Roche agreed to draft an amendment that will make the ordinance effective and have it brought before the City Council next Wednesday, at which time the league will send a large delegation asking that the amendment be passed as soon as possible. Removal of the brush will eliminate the hiding places of those who have been attacking children.

Another mass meeting will be held Wednesday night at the Oakley Green Schoolhouse.

It was reported at the meeting of the committee that a man suddenly appeared yesterday from the brush near Kenton where some children were playing, but they ran away. Principal E. H. Whitney, of Oakley Green School, issued the call that resulted in organization of the Men's Protective League. Mr. Whitney said in the call:

"For years the lives of the children of this neighborhood have been threatened by villains who infest the woods in the region of the schoolhouse."

"Appeals have been made to the city authorities for relief from this unbearable situation, but no permanent relief has been given, and our little boys and girls are terrorized in our very presence, and up to date we have made no concerted move to stamp out the evil."

"If the sheep, hogs or cattle of any community are menaced by wolves or other vicious animals, as are our children in this neighborhood, the Legislature would be called upon to pass a law offering a bounty on scalps. How do you value the life of your boy or girl? What measures shall we take to protect their lives?"

"Last Monday it was your neighbor's little boy who was lured into the woods by a brute. Next week it may be your boy."

"Shall we men—suffer the lives of our wives and children to be daily menaced without a word of effectual protest? Is life so dear or ease so sweet that we would not risk all to rid our community of these degenerates who are the lives of our loved ones from hourly terror?"

BURGLAR KEY DISCARDED.

Joseph Fisher, 65 years old, died Saturday night at his home, 1284 Oregon street. He had been in ill health for nearly four years.

Mr. Fisher was born in Thun, Switzerland. He was married in 1880 and emigrated to America. A little later they located in Oregon, where they made their home ever since.

He leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters. The sons are Fred J. John V. and Philip D. Fisher, of Portland, and Lawrence and Mrs. Teasa C. Demarco, Mrs. Louise J. Doty, Mary T. Lida and O. Fisher, all residing in Portland.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 P. M. at the chapel of Dunning & McIntee.

SHORTAGE AGAIN POSSIBLE.

Transportation of Troops May Take Up Large Number of Cars.

The recent car shortage again begins to be a live subject in connection with the possible transportation of troops and cavalry horses to the Mexican border.

Officials of the Southern Pacific say that whether there would be a shortage depends on what sort of cars are demanded. Should Pullman cars be commandeered there would be a temporary shortage because that company has no excess in the local railroad yards.

There would be, it is said, plenty of empty cars on hand to transport cavalry horses.

ALASKAN BISHOP PREACHES.

Trinity Episcopal Congregation Hears of Far North.

Bishop Peter Trimble Rowe, who presided at Trinity Episcopal Church yesterday morning, gave an interesting account of some of his cross country trips in the far north. A vivid picture of the hardships and dangers of traveling by dog-sleds, and incidents in fact-of-pose and camps made the address one of unusual interest. Dr. A. Morrison assisted in the service.

Bishop Rowe left in the afternoon for Eugene.

GAME OF LOVE PLAYED.

LYRIC OFFERS DILLON & KING IN "HEARTS ARE TRUMPS."

Irish Lovemaking Scenes Are Laid at Summer Resort With Oriental Effects in Spots.

The game of love played with many variations, formed the theme of the Dillon & King musical comedy, "Hearts Are Trumps," which opened at the Lyric yesterday. An Irish variety of lovemaking was illustrated by Mike Doyle, impersonated by Ben T. Dillon, and the Jewish variety by Ike Lischinski, played by Will King. Several other variations were illustrated by Ruby Lang, Dolly Bunch, Teddy LaDuo, and other members of the cast.

A clever little plot and the introduction of number of lively songs and dances kept the interest of the audience alive to the end. A soul kiss, or something akin, was illustrated by Ruby Lang and Frank Harrington.

The scene is laid at a fashionable summer resort, giving an opportunity for a great deal of "loving."

The chorus and other members of the cast appear in every variety of costume from the affected by the women of the Sultan's harem to bathing suits.

The production opens with an Oriental dance, as a waltz, produces from various pockets and other places about his wardrobe all the materials for a meal, including a loaf of bread three feet long.

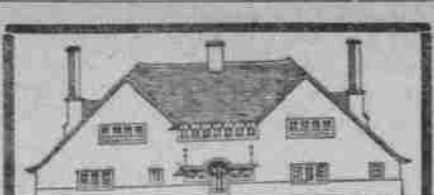

Among the popular musical numbers is "Love Is a Game," illustrated by Ruby Lang. "Love Is a Game," sung by members of the quartette and chorus, is cleverly illustrated by "When I Leave the World Behind."

PUBLIC CENTER SOUGHT.

CENTRAL EAST SIDE AND IRVINGTON NEED POINTED OUT.

Business Men's Club Takes Up Matter. Laurelhurst Plot Urged as Suitable, Convenient Place.

"Community Centers and What Is Being Done to Develop Them in Portland," was the subject of the address by L. M. Lepper, secretary of the East Side Business Men's Club, yesterday before the current events club of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Lepper reviewed what other cities are doing to develop public centers, and his neighborhood centers and places of educational interest, and then said Oregon, by legislative enactment, had thrown open the public schools to the use of the public, with the result that in Portland the schoolhouses are being generally used.

"Peninsula Park has the only real community center in the city," said Mr. Lepper, "for it has the buildings there for public gatherings, for lectures, lectures and entertainments, and a large and well-developed playground. It has swimming pools for the boys and girls, which are largely used. All these things are well worth while, and make for better citizenship. Sellwood has a swimming pool, and thousands go there from Central East Side, Portland and Mount Tabor."

"The Central East Side and Irvington," Mr. Lepper pointed out, "have no community center, and to remedy this omission the East Side Business Men's Club is urging the erection of a community center on the four acres the city has leased near the Laurelhurst Park. There are more than 16,000 children who would be tributary to such a center."

PORTLAND IDEA WINS.

DETROIT AND NEW YORK INTERESTED IN SAFETY FIRST SIGNS.

Commissioner Coffin Is Advised That St. Louis Plans to Adopt Model Produced Here.

The East will follow Portland's mode in the fashion for public safety signs. Harry P. Coffin, chairman of the Public Safety Commission yesterday received a telegram from Frederick H. Elliott, executive secretary of the Safety First Federation of America, announcing the adoption of the Portland model sign by the city of Detroit, Mich. The message is as follows:

"Harry P. Coffin, Public Safety Commission, Portland, Or.—Complete series safety first street signs originated by you adopted by Police Commissioner Gillespie for traffic direction here. Inspected by Charles M. Talbot, our vice-president, and director of streets, St. Louis, today, who plans to adopt same series for St. Louis. Congratulations. Send set to Federation headquarters, New York, for inspection of police officials, with view of adopting there."

The approval of Police Commissioner Gillespie, of Detroit, Mich., is particularly gratifying in view of the fact that he is considered an authority of National prominence on the direction of traffic and the problems arising therefrom.

There are 17 safety first signs in the Portland set. Mr. Coffin will forward the samples to New York City as requested by Mr. Elliott, some time today.
