

NORTH UNIT ADOPTS BRIGADIER DISTRICT

Deschutes Project Proposition Is Carried by 65 Per Cent Vote.

100,000 ACRES AFFECTED

Special Railroad Rates Bring Out Large Crowds—Another Election Will Be Necessary to Authorize Bonds.

CULVER, Or., March 20.—(Special.)—At the election in the north unit of the Deschutes project today, the district proposition carried by a 65 per cent vote.

All of the five precincts in the district gave a majority vote in favor of the district. The railroads allowed reduced rates to non-residents who came to vote, and a large number took advantage of this. A strenuous campaign closed Saturday night, in which J. T. Hinkle, of Hermiston, and J. W. Brewer, of Portland, and local speakers participated on behalf of the irrigators. These speakers were met by the opposition, and meetings assumed the form of debates, attracting large crowds. The directorate of the new district cannot be determined from present returns.

Directors Are Elected. H. W. Gandy, D. Anderson, John Henderson, Fred Fisher and P. N. Yilbert were elected directors of the district.

The north unit project embraces nearly 100,000 acres of irrigable land, lying on the table lands along the Deschutes River, from 15 to 25 miles north of Madras, Or., and approximately 100 miles south of the Columbia River. The movement to irrigate the land has been under process for development for the last five years.

The Union Pacific system and the Oregon trunk roads serve this territory with branch roads. The land formerly was apart of the Warm Springs Indian reservation, and derives its name from that source. Most of the property in the proposed development project has been under spasmodic or periodical cultivation for many years. It is fertile in the extreme and is blessed with favorable climatic conditions. Its only defect is the absence of water.

Farmers Haul Water. Through most of the year the district is so dry that farmers must haul water a distance of five to ten miles for domestic use. As a result, the country raises little grain, which is the responsibility for the lack of natural fertilizer. The principal products are hay and grain, but the grain is raised by the antiquated summer-fallow method, and the average yield is less than 10 bushels an acre.

Yesterday's election was for the purpose of organizing a district for the purpose of bonding the land, so that it can be irrigated. After the district is organized, another election will have to be held to authorize the bonds. It is estimated that the land can be watered for less than $5 an acre. This is the figure reached by the engineers who surveyed it a few years ago, but the Government engineers say that it can be done even for less.

DAMAGES OF $3000 ASKED

Injunctions Alleged to Have Prevented Sale of $50,000 Stock.

Damages of $3000 are asked because of the injunctions which prevented A. F. Swenson and L. Y. Keady from disposing of $50,000 worth of stock in the Anglo-Pacific Realty Company while a suit was pending in Circuit and Supreme Courts, in a complaint filed in the Circuit Court yesterday.

Mr. Swenson, who also has been assigned the interests of Mr. Keady, is suing Charles Cooper and H. W. Kaupisch. In 1912, Mr. Cooper began an action in the Circuit Court to recover his share of the $50,000 worth of stock which had been assigned him as commission on a realty deal. With Mr. Kaupisch he signed an injunction bond, guaranteeing damages if the restriction proved wrongful. It is lost in the Circuit Court in October, 1913, and on appeal to the Supreme Court lost in a decision handed down on November 21, 1914.

NAVAL BASE HEARING DUE

MR. HAWLEY HAS ASSURANCE OF CONSIDERATION BY HOUSE.

Compromise on Submarine Base Is Decried, and Congressmen Back Committee From Astoria.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 20.—Representative Hawley has received assurance that the naval committee of the House of Representatives will give a hearing to the Oregon delegation and others interested in the Astoria naval base probably early next month. P. C. Hawley, chairman of the Astoria naval base committee, will reach Washington about April 1 and expects to be heard with the delegation.

The Astoria committee, which is flooding members of the Oregon delegation with telegrams in support of the Hawley-Lane bill, has opened an attack on the Puget Sound Navy-yard, and is insisting that no further money be appropriated for that yard unless the Astoria naval base is cared for in the Tillman bill.

Secretary Daniels has refused absolutely to consider the establishment of a full naval base on the Columbia River, but the Astoria committee, by wire and by letters, is insisting upon such a yard as the Hawley-Lane bill authorizes. They have this far refused to consider a compromise on a submarine base. The Oregon delegation is standing back of the Astoria committee.

GOVERNOR APPROVES ENLISTMENT PLAN AT UNIVERSITY.

Magnifying International Trouble Decried, but Precaution Advocated in Letter to Educator.

SALEM, Or., March 20.—(Special.)—Gratified at the plan of students at the University of Oregon to form a number of voluntary military companies, that the university in case of National need may be prepared to furnish its quota of trained men, Governor Withycombe today addressed a letter to E. L. Campbell, president of the university, expressing his approval of the plan.

"I note with a great deal of interest and satisfaction," says the executive, "the way in which the students of the University of Oregon are preparing to assume their part of the responsibilities of preparedness. This letter is to extend through you to the university and to the young men who are volunteering for a measure of military training my sincere congratulations.

"While I emphatically oppose everything which might tend to excite undue hysteria regarding the possible outcome of the present international relations, yet I do believe that the time is past for us to follow the example of the ostrich and bury our heads in the sands of false security."

The Hughes sentiment appeared to be growing today, although several of the committeemen are strong for Elihu Root. Definite announcement was made by Chairman Hillis today that Senator Root would not attend the convention this year. This eliminates him as temporary chairman.

Chief developments of the day may be summarized as follows: 1.—A prevailing opinion among the committeemen that Justice Charles Evans Hughes has the "call" in the White House nomination and that Justice Hughes' repeated declarations that he is not a candidate does not signify that he would decline a nomination if the convention stamped to him.

2.—Declarations from some of the old guard, among them Franklin Murphy, ex-Governor of New Jersey, that Roosevelt is "impossible," and, if nominated, would be defeated.
