

SOCIETY NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

THE "original afternoon" given yesterday in the home of Mrs. Lee Hoffman, for the benefit of the Unitarian Women's Alliance, proved a decided success. Mrs. Thomas L. Elliott's readings of her original stories afforded pleasure to the large gathering of society women who assembled for the unusual treat of hearing an author read her own work, and a musician, Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke, played her own compositions. Mrs. Burke's offerings were lovely little songs that were sung with perfect interpretation by Mrs. Delphine Marx, contralto, and Mrs. Jane Burns Albert, soprano. Mrs. Elliott's first story was an example of clever dialect and character work. In the story, "Why Mr. McPhinn Was Invited," there was a delightful mingling of mystery, comedy, near-tragedy and romance. "Chin Wong's Wife" brimmed with human interest and skill in the handling of the broken English of the Chinese vegetable man and vivid picturing of scenes and events.

Mrs. Marx sang the two Burke songs with fine feeling, and graciously repeated the latter song in compliance to an insistent request. Mrs. Albert also was encored.

Mrs. Hoffman and Miss Margery Hoffman received the guests. They were more popular than ever, affording delightful opportunity for friendly gatherings and social pleasure in congenial surroundings.

The children of the Irvington Club members are anticipating the next dancing party on March 21, for on that date the lads and lassies of Irvington will have one of those delightful parties that are among the loveliest of the social events in that district. The committee in charge includes Mrs. A. H. Cousins, Mrs. H. P. Dutton and Mrs. J. W. Crensh. The next regular party for the grown-ups of the club will be on April 7. There will be a card party on April 14. These events are becoming more popular than ever, affording delightful opportunity for friendly gatherings and social pleasure in congenial surroundings.

The Brotherhood of Atkinson Memorial Congregational Church will give a dinner tonight in the church parlors. Rev. Thomas Anderson, Mrs. Anderson and the women of the church will be honor guests.

On April 2 a bazaar will be given by the Jewish Women's Endeavor Society in Gevurtz Hall, First and Gibbs streets, for the benefit of the proposed Orthodox Jewish Old People's Home, which they plan to establish in their own building, which they have remedied for the purpose.

A Japanese tea will be given on Friday from 3 to 6 in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian Association. A short programme will be given at 4 o'clock, after which tea will be served. Girls in Japanese costume will serve. Mrs. D. Whitwright will preside at the tea table. All women and girls who are interested in the association are invited to attend. Miss Ruth Emerson of Tokio, Japan, will be honored guest.

Miss Emerson is the foreign secretary for the Northwest territory of the Young Women's Christian Association. A short programme will be given at 4 o'clock, after which tea will be served. Girls in Japanese costume will serve. Mrs. D. Whitwright will preside at the tea table. All women and girls who are interested in the association are invited to attend. Miss Ruth Emerson of Tokio, Japan, will be honored guest.

An interesting announcement of today is that of the engagement of Miss Hortense Jacob to Benjamin H. Lerner. Miss Jacob is the daughter of Mrs. Mike Jacob and a niece of Mrs. D. Germaine of Portland, and of Mr. and Mrs. J. Meyerfeld of San Francisco. She is an attractive member of the younger set and is popular socially among her many friends.

Mr. Lerner is a young attorney and is clerk in Judge Gantenbein's department of the Circuit Court.

Miss Jacob has visited in San Francisco frequently and has been entertained there by the Meyerfelds and by numerous friends. Announcement of the engagement is made by Mrs. Jacob. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of the late M. Mayer, one of the pioneer merchants of Portland.

J. J. O'Neill left on Saturday for San Francisco in response to a telegram from friends stating that his son, Dan O'Neill, was seriously ill with typhoid. Another telegram yesterday announced that the young man had passed the crisis and is on the road to recovery.

Invitations have been issued for the complimentary concert to be given by Rose Courten Reed in the Hellig Theater on next Monday night. Rev. Reed will present the following advanced students on that occasion: Mrs. Zeta Hollister-Pollock, Mrs. Helen Quinn Williams, of The Dalles; Mrs. Helen White Evans, Mrs. Hazel Kootz-Day, Miss Alice Juston, Miss Gertrude Hoehner, Miss Dorothy Lewis, Oscar Lawrence Woodfin and E. D. Gilhousen. Edgar E. Courten will accompany the soloists. The Treble Clef Club will assist. Miss Evelyn Ewart will be their accompanist.

An interesting party given last night by Mrs. T. M. Ramsdell and her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Himmelright, of New York, at the Irvington home of the Ramadella was a compliment to Cleo-tilia, who headed the Orpheum bill last week, and his accompanist, Carlo Edward, who shared honors at the party with Mrs. C. E. Morton. Mr. Edwards' mother, about 50 attended the party and passed the evening with music, cards and dancing.

A yellow decorative motif was carried out with daffodils and other gold-enshaded flowers. Ferns and foliage added the only other color. A buffet supper closed the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Scruggs were hosts at a luncheon Friday afternoon at their home, 369 Vancouver avenue, complimenting their cousin, Miss Anna Hale, who has recently returned from Alaska, where she spent five years.

The G. N. C. B. Girls will give a promenade and dance April 4 in Cotillion Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Berry, of Portland, who are sojourning in California, are now registered at Hotel Plaza in San Francisco.

Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal will entertain informally on Wednesday complimenting Mme. Charles Marchand and her niece, Mlle. Marie-Jeanne Coyer, who will leave soon for the East.

Luis Abell, fiance of Miss Crystal Hyland, has arrived from Bolivia. He was accompanied by his father, who will remain here until after the wedding, April 24.

Mrs. A. E. Jackson was hostess yesterday at bridge, in compliment to Miss Hyland. The rooms were attractive in a Spring day decoration of daffodils and violets. Mrs. W. M. Urdenstock and Miss Bertha Masters won honors at cards.

Mrs. Jackson will entertain at another party of Wednesday for a group of matrons.

Miss Hazel Archibald, a society belle of Seattle, arrived in Portland last night to be the guest of Miss Virginia McDonough at Alexandra Court. Several parties will be given for the lovely visitor. Miss McDonough will give a tea in her honor soon.

Miss Ruth Teal will give a dinner on Thursday for a group of young people who will attend the French ball at Cotillion Hall.

Mrs. Alvin Steigerwald is at Immanuel Hospital, where she was operated upon yesterday. Friends will regret to hear of her illness.

Saturday, April 1, has been set as the date when the Portland Grade Teachers' Association will register. An effort is being made to have 100 per cent of the members registered.

Camp Marguerite of the Royal Neighbors of America will give a dancing to-night at the Woodmen Club of the World Hall on Eleventh street.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

BY LILIAN TINGLE.

PORTLAND, Or., March 23.—Will you kindly inform me through The Oregonian your method of preparing Colman's, or any other, dry mustard with Wesson oil for table use? Thanking you. J. H.

I CANNOT give you "my method of mustard oil," because I never do such a thing. I personally like the sharp English mustard in small quantities rather than the milder French or German mustard in larger quantities.

The English method of using Colman's mustard is to add cold water drop by drop to the desired quantity of mustard powder until the paste is formed that is neither stiff nor "sloppy." It should always be fresh mixed for table use, consequently a very small mustard pot is best.

not easily obtainable by the ordinary housekeeper. Tarragon vinegar should be used if possible. Some people like to rub a clove of garlic over the inside of the cup or bowl in which the mustard is mixed. Sift together one-fourth cup flour, one-fourth cup powdered sugar, five level tablespoons imported English mustard, one-half level tablespoon tumeric, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Mix to a smooth paste with about two-thirds cup cold vinegar. Then add one cup hot vinegar and cook over hot water until thick and smooth. Then store in small glass jars and keep closely covered. A combination of tarragon vinegar, cucumber vinegar and horseradish vinegar gives rather a pleasing flavor, the proportions being a matter of personal taste.

Portland, Or., Feb. 17.—Kindly give a recipe for Roman meal cookies. Thanking you. MRS. B. D.

Roman meal cookies—One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one-third pound seeded and cut raisins, two eggs, one teaspoon soda, one scant teaspoon cream of tartar, one cup white flour, one and one-third cups Roman meal. Mix like a cake. Drop on greased baking pan from the tip of a spoon. Bake in a moderate oven.

A Back Yard Look.
WHAT do you see—say, from your kitchen window as you work? And what does this view mean to you? Sometimes a look will revolutionize a life.

I heard a story that set me to thinking how much we might get from the everyday things we see about us. A little shut-in was moved so that he had an opportunity to see into a neighbor's back yard. He had been living where he had never seen growing things, and this back yard was a revelation to him. He became interested in plant life, took up the study of botany and now he is a celebrated botanist.

That look into a neighbor's back yard, the interest it roused in him completely changed his life.

A woman, as she washed her dishes, had a view from her kitchen window of the back yards for nearly a block down the street. They were, rather nondescript back yards, but the rejuvenation of the back yard had not yet struck her town. A thought crept idly into her mind of what a waste those back yards were. Then she thought of her own back yard. She got to wondering if she could turn it to some use. As a result she planted some artichokes. And now her pickled artichokes are quite a delicacy in that town. She does not have to wash her own dishes any more.

All of us are looking at something every minute of the day, something that could have some message for us, did we have ears to hear.

Our pictures, or our furniture might suggest a more artistic arrangement, or perhaps a way to lighten our household work if it is burdensome.

A really seeing gaze out our front window might suggest some civic improvement. A searching look at our back yard might lead us to beautify it in such a way that we would stand every one else in the block to doing the same. And in a little while the row of back yards that stretched down our street might make a veritable little park.

Or we might take a look at our clothes with a new eye. If we would forget the mere edicts of fashion, and see our raiment as if we were the only person in the world wearing such a garb, we might really have a new sensation. We might awaken to a sense of how extremely strange we sometimes look, and to wondering just was in the purpose of clothing, anyway. The look might lead us to a study of what is artistic in dress, perhaps to a work of designing that might in time effect a revolution in woman's dress. Women would, I think, welcome a really artistic, comfortable and practical dress if some one would arise who would produce this combination.

Indeed, a look can be productive of fruitful results, if our look is dynamically charged with thought. We look mainly superficially. We look to see what we have already seen. If we could bring a fresh gaze, or look with a mind

NOBODY'S WEARING WINTER CLOTHES NOW, GENEVIEVE!

"Are you sure of that, Frances? Look at the old suit I'm wearing!"
"That's just why I am telling you this, Genevieve. What I meant was that almost nobody is wearing winter clothes that nobody needs to. CHERRY'S CREDIT SYSTEM is what makes the difference."

"There are probably hundreds more stylishly dressed women in Portland this Spring than there used to be—for the reason that, by shopping at CHERRY'S, they can wear smart, pretty clothes while they're paying for them."
"Surely you've heard about CHERRY'S, Genevieve. Haven't any of the girls told you about the adorable Spring and Summer displays up there now? Really, that's a shame, Genevieve! But, never mind, there's plenty of time yet. I'd go up tomorrow, though. If I were you, there's no use of staying shabby a single day longer. Just part of the price of a handsome new costume when you select it at CHERRY'S and the rest in easy installments."

"You've passed CHERRY'S store at 289-291 Washington street, in the Pittock block, haven't you? Next time don't fail to call in."

WHAT TO DO IN THE GARDEN NOW

THE excessively rainy period in March has made the whole garden season about a month late in this locality. There are many lines of garden work that can still be done which, under ordinary conditions, would have been out of season by the latter part of February.

There is still time for pruning and spraying, if it has not already been done, but the amateur gardener should not delay. Before the leaves are out on the shrubs the spray can be used at winter strength, and more effective results can be obtained than if it is delayed until the buds begin to burst and the spray has to be diluted to summer strength to avoid injuring the foliage.

Haste in this work is especially essential at this time, because, once the warm Spring weather does commence, everything is likely to develop faster than usual, and a few days will throw much garden work out of season, unless it is done at once. This is particularly true of spraying and late pruning.

The reason for early bulbs is already past, but it is not a bad time to begin to get ready for Summer blooming bulbs, such as gladioluses, tuberose and the like.

Special Message to the Women

No. 6. This is our sixth message to you. In it we want to recount some of the facts contained in our previous announcements.

Pasteurization is absolutely your only guarantee of pure butter. Mr. W. E. Jensen, president of the Mutual Creamery Company, and his brother, were the first to use this treatment of cream in the United States. Hundreds of creameries do not yet pasteurize their cream, and it is, therefore, unsafe to use their butter.

To protect butter from contamination after it has been pasteurized, it must be wrapped in waxed paper and placed in a dust-proof carton. We were the first to adopt this modern method—in fact, we introduced it. All our packages are sanitary.

You, Too Should Use This Wonderful Beautifier

Women who desire a complexion that will be admired and not questioned cannot be too careful of the powder they use. Ordinary face powders (no matter how fine they may seem in the box or between the fingers) are disappointing under the real test—on the face.

Such powders deaden the skin with a lifeless hue. Or they do worse—bespeak "make-up." To use them is to be haunted by the fear that they will fall away any minute—in the wind, in the glaring light or in the heat of the dance. There is one complexion powder that stands every test—

Carmen Complexion Powder

The one powder perfected under such a process as to impart the fresh bloom of girlhood without a trace of artificiality. It does not rub or blow off. You are sure of a charming complexion at all times—regardless of strong lights or the effects of perspiration. The scent enhances its refinement.
