BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

HOSTESS WHO ENTERTAINED WITH SUPPER PARTY FOR DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Mrs. Frank Thomas Bourgois

CALENDAR FOR TODAY.

Society.
Miss Ruth Teal, luncheon for debutantes.
Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, bridge for Mrs. Vernon Cartwright.
Portland Heights Club, tonight, dancing and card party, clubhouse.
Japanese tea, Y. W. C. A., for benefit of work in Tokio.
Laurelhurst Club, party tonight, clubhouse.
George Wright Relief Corps, sewing bee, 43 1/2 Larrabee street.
Irvington Club, dancing party for the children.

PRETTY, blonde Miss Ruth Teal, transformed into a dashing Castilian girl, entertained at her home last night at a dinner party prior to the Bal Masque. The guests came in the costumes they were to wear at the ball. The decorations for the table were in gay red carnations, carrying out the note of coloring that was found in the apparel of the young people seated about the table. Covers were placed for Miss Rhoda Rumelin, Miss Mary Stuart Smith, Miss Virginia McDonough, Miss Hazel Archibald, of Seattle; Miss Teal, MacCormack Snow, Prescott Cookingham, Merle Campbell, Edward Poulstard, Allen Green.
Mr. and Mrs. John Pipes entertained at dinner for Mrs. Von Ellinger, Miss Jean Shurtz, Kenneth Hall and Floyd Naramore. This also was a costume dinner.
Miss Elizabeth Creadick gave a delightful dinner at which the guests appeared in their mask ball attire. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Waid Pipes, Mr. and Mrs. Folger Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. N. Creadick, Miss Camille Deoch, Miss Susie Smith, Miss Agnes Brown, Miss Marjorie Forbis, John Scott, Stanton Taylor, King Tyler, Mr. Shueg, of Seattle; Leland Smith, Joseph Hill and the hostess.
Several other dinners were given. All were informal and were voted the most fun of the whole season.

A really-true Japanese lady will sing today at the Japanese tea to be given in the Y. W. C. A. This afternoon at 2 o'clock, the following girls of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Gray, will give a Japanese drill: Thelma Konworthy, Margaret Dredon, Virginia Irwin, Hazel Weinstein, Blossom Wilson and Joy Johnson. Mrs. W. Welchwright will preside at the tea table.
Interest is manifest in a concert to be given the night of April 14, at the Masonic Temple, by a trio of local musicians of prominence, Daisy E. Ross, mezzo contralto, George Taschean, baritone, and Frederick Perinor, pianist, will be heard. The following will be patronesses for the affair:
Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke, Mrs. Edward Allen Beale, Mrs. Robert Berger, Mrs. Paul R. Dorr, Mrs. Roscoe Gitter, Mrs. H. A. Lewis, Mrs. George Wilber Reed, Mrs. Herbert R. R. Reed, Mrs. Edith R. Reed, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Humason, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Boone, and Mrs. Lucien E. Becker.

STYLE TIPS FROM PORTLAND STORES

OOO! Look at the stockings. Open work! Not since the first burst of color several years ago have there been like exclamations. Now that folk have become accustomed to dined they gradually will have to adapt themselves to the "peek-a-boo" sock, she comes with no bond trimmings, nor even colors, simply a flicker of pink between the meshes of woven silk. The twinkling pink spots, after a moment or two of careful observation, take shape of a floral design, a bird or a butterfly that nestles ever so cozily on the front of the stocking, somewhere between the instep and the knee.
The "peek-a-boo" stocking is pretty, for as yet it hasn't developed any startling qualities. Some are done in conventional designs, squares, diamond shapes and the like. Cloaked hose with colored strips of embroidery running up the sides and terminating in "four-leaf" or some such design, aside from being reputed lucky, are chic. Only the skirt must be worn at a length, where the embellishment will not be hidden, and that being the case, women's skirts will not be below shoe-top level.
A polka-dot stocking, with modest openwork in a white silk and black trimmings, she comes with no bond trimmings. A bottle-green stocking with either white or black clocks and even talk about the faults of our friend when we have none of our own to talk about."

"Oh, here you are, you lazy fellow!" said a voice which made Mr. Fox jump, and Mrs. Fox came around the corner of the house with a long stick in her hand.
"Here, I sent you to market an hour ago, and I have been waiting all this time for the flour and eggs; you never do a thing but waste time. Now you hurry or you know what you will get when you get back."

I AM not a soda fountain expert; but I think that a milk shake is made by putting a little less than one-half pint milk into a big lemon-ade glass with a spoonful of crushed ice and one spoonful of sugar (or more or less as the customer directs) with or without any desired flavoring. It

THE SANDMAN STORY

By Mrs. F. A. WALKER.

MRS. SQUIRREL'S Advice.

MRS. SQUIRREL was sitting outside her door one morning knitting socks for her little ones to keep their toes warm the coming winter, when Mr. Fox came along.
"Good morning, Mrs. Squirrel," said he. "How are you this fine morning?"
Mrs. Squirrel told him she was well and hoped he was the same. "Won't you sit down awhile, Mr. Fox?"
Mr. Fox said he would be pleased to do so, and then he began to speak about Mrs. Rabbit, who lived down the patch. "She is not much like you, Mrs. Squirrel," said Mr. Fox, "she does nothing all day long but sit in a chair and read."
"How her husband can let her be so idle I cannot understand," said Mr. Fox. "Why, she never even mends his clothes I am sure, for I met him this morning going over the field with an old coat on that needed patching dreadfully."
"Perhaps he was going hunting," suggested Mrs. Squirrel. "One can't wear good clothes hunting, I am sure."
"Oh, that is all very well for you to say, Mrs. Squirrel, for you are not only neglectful of her family, but of her house as well. Why, I just looked in her back windows as I passed. You know I told you she was sitting in front of her house, so she did not see me, and if you believe her bed was not made, I don't think I can see Mrs. Rabbit's dinner is ready when he returns this noon. Oh, it is just awful the way some people waste their time. Now, when I have anything to do, I start right off and do it, and I am sure you do, too, Mrs. Squirrel, don't you?"
Mrs. Squirrel answered very quietly that she sometimes had to put off doing things just as every one did at times.
"Well, I never do," began Mr. Fox again. "No, Mrs. Squirrel, I never put off until tomorrow what can be done today. I wish more people in the world were like me. The world would go much smoother, Mrs. Squirrel, much smoother."
Mrs. Squirrel did not reply. She knitted faster than she had been, and Mr. Fox began again.
"Now, Mrs. Squirrel, I hold that Mrs. Rabbit is wasting her time, willfully wasting her time, when she should be working to help her husband."
"She may have a good reason for not working this morning," said Mrs. Squirrel, "and as for helping her husband, I know she does help him a great deal, and I think there are some husbands who help their wives, but there are also some who do not. You have talked a great deal of the faults of Mrs. Rabbit and she is not present to defend herself," said Mrs. Squirrel, stopping her knitting a minute and looking hard at Mr. Fox, "but how about yourself—have you none of the faults with which you charge my friend?"
"Why, Mrs. Squirrel, how can you ask such a thing? I have just told you I never waste time, always do what I start out to do," said Mr. Fox in an injured tone.
"Well, be that as it may," said Mrs. Squirrel, beginning to knit again, "all I have to say is this, it is time enough to

ASTORIA, Or., March 15.—I have received great help from your answers to other people and I would be much obliged to you if you could give me a recipe for parsnip wine.
A recipe for parsnip wine appeared in The Sunday Oregonian March 26. I hope you saw it. Here is another.
Boil 7 1/2 pounds cleaned and sliced parsnips with one sliced lemon in 2 1/2 gallons water. When quite soft squeeze and drain as in jelly making. Run the liquid through a cloth a second time and boil up again, adding three pounds white sugar for every gallon of liquid. Parsnips hops may be boiled with the liquid if the flavor is liked, or a little spice may be used.
