

SPECIAL SERVICES MARK PALM SUNDAY

Day's Observance Commemorates Triumphal Entry of Christ Into Jerusalem.

GREATER SANCTITY URGED

Archbishop Christy Sends Message to Roman Catholic Congregations; Bishop Sumner Rebukes Laxity of Public.

Palm Sunday, with all its impressive and solemnity of services was observed yesterday in Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches, and with special sermons, services and music in many other churches of Portland.

For about 1900 years the Catholic Church has given special significance to the day that commemorates the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem prior to his betrayal and crucifixion. The palms blessed are to carry out the picture of the long-ago day and the story of the palm branches that were strewn in the path of Christ.

In all the Roman Catholic Churches similar services were held. In St. Mary's Cathedral the elaborate mass was sung by Rev. Fathers Cunningham, O'Donnell and Heiser. The mass depicts the narrative of the day.

Archbishop Sends Message. Father Black and assistants conducted the service in St. Francis Church, and here as well as in other churches there was read the official message of the archbishop.

An extract from the archbishop's message follows: "The home environment of our young children is often not sufficiently religious as to influence the thoughts and ambitions of these little ones."

Recruits for Priesthood Sought. Many bright and deserving young men have taken to the priesthood, but owing to the economic conditions we must therefore come to their financial assistance and I request that you help in this way.

St. Mark's Episcopal Church was thronged yesterday morning, when Bishop Sumner held a confirmation service and preached the blessed and distribution of the palms, which ceremonies preceded the sermon.

Rev. J. E. Simpson, pastor of St. Mark's, presided in the services. After the palms had been blessed and distributed to the congregation, the procession in which the bishop, in purple, and including the vested choir, assistants, priests and the bishop in the hall moving in a procession, and down the side and up the center aisle of the church.

Equally impressive was the ceremony at midnight in St. Stephen's Cathedral, where the bishop conducted confirmation service and preached. He was assisted by Rev. J. M. Hanson, dean of the pro-Cathedral.

Irregulars Are Rebuked. "The great argument against Christianity is the life of the ordinary Christian," said Bishop Sumner in his morning sermon, in which he rebuked his hearers to a greater appreciation of the opportunity of living a life of godliness.

On Holy week, the bishop advocated a respect for the observances laid down by the rules of the church. He read that exacting and noble description of the last days of Jesus and his crucifixion.

"If you can read this wonderful message and have not wept, weep with me," said the bishop, "then you have a hard heart and need to make your peace with God by the cross of Christ. In crucifying him anew with our jealousies, our envy and fickleness. The world is full of sin and envy and yet we seek it."

Bishop Sumner scored so-called Christians who would think of parties and frivolous social functions in Holy week and neglect their souls.

"If some one you loved dearly was lying at the point of death, would you have the heart to go to the parties? No! I ask you to remember that this week we commemorate the suffering and death of our Lord and to seek as much time as possible for meditation.

"Truly, This Was the Son of God" was the bishop's sermon text, and he gave the moral and other proofs for the existence of the divinity. There are two classes of people who deny the existence of God, he said, "the heathen races and the men who deny God for personal interests."

HOLY WEEK IS AT HAND Greek Orthodox Church Opens Services With Palm Sunday.

Special services for Grand or Holy Week of the Greek Orthodox church, East Seventeenth and Clinton streets, opened yesterday in charge of Rev. J. Anagnostopoulos, pastor. Palm Sunday services were celebrated with community mass from 7 to 12 o'clock.

The Monday morning services were celebrated last night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Throughout the week the services will be held as follows: Monday and Tuesday, 7 to 9 P. M., for regular services. Services of extreme unction and the Thursday morning services will be observed Wednesday night, April 13, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

On Thursday, April 14, from 9 to 11 A. M., mass of the Grand Vespers will be observed. Good Friday services will be observed from 9 to 11 A. M. and from 9 to 11 P. M., when the funeral lamentation service will be held. From midnight Friday night to 2 o'clock Saturday morning the services of the resurrection will be on.

Dr. W. H. Yandell Dead. SEATTLE, Wash., April 14.—(Special.)—Dr. W. H. Yandell, a Civil War veteran, 75 years a resident of Washington, formerly physician in charge of the Swinomish reservation, died here tonight aged 82. He was the father of C. B. Yandell, secretary of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

PASSING OPPORTUNITY POINTED OUT BY PASTOR

Rev. George Darsie Calls Attention of Young Men to Great Chance in South America After War Is Over.

BY BEN HUR LAMPMAN. WITH a flash of sunny forelock and a glimpse of speed-whipped garments, Opportunity fled through the striking sermon delivered by Rev. George Darsie at the First Christian Church yesterday morning.

"I tell you, friends," asserted the minister, his eyes glowing with assurance, "God likes to see a young man with a push, progress and snap. That kind of young man finds lots of opportunities."

The entry of Christ into Jerusalem, and his被捕 and death, at St. Luke was taken as a text for the sermon. As the Savior rode along the way that led to the city the joyful throngs greeted him with branches and the roofs of his mount they spread palm branches, and even cast their garments. Yet, when the spies and temples of beloved Jerusalem rose into view it is chronicled that Jesus lamented and burst into tears, for he foretold the city's doom.

Tears Inspired by Vision. "Why did he weep?" asked Rev. Mr. Darsie. "He wept because he foresaw the Roman legions encamped round his fabled walls, his proud towers and his humbled people. He not only wept, but he burst into tears of lamentation. The city was doomed because it had rejected the Savior, despite the fulfillment of his prophecies."

Three years of miracle-working, of teaching and preaching had not prevailed against the crafty priesthood, through the hearts of the people. Christ wept, it is written, at the grave of Lazarus; again in the Garden of Gethsemane, and at the wasted opportunity of Jerusalem.

"That is one of the saddest pictures of lost opportunity in all the history of the world," declared Rev. Mr. Darsie with deliberate emphasis. Then his voice kindled with vigor.

"I hear some of you say to yourselves, 'I never had a chance. You had as much as Sir Isaac Newton. He sold his soul for the great prize. You had as much as Turner, the great painter. He was a barber's son.' He sent a volley of famous names, risen from obscurity, through the crowded pews.

"The greater the difficulty the more magnificent is the victory!"

Opportunity Before America. "The business opportunities of the next ten years will be greater than have ever before been afforded in this country," declared Rev. Mr. Darsie.

PASTORS SAY GOOD-BYE. REV. C. C. POLING PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. G. L. Lovell, of Oakley Green Church, Being Replaced by Rev. H. H. Farnham.

After having been pastor for four years of the First United Evangelical Church, Lovell, on Sunday, April 16, delivered his farewell sermon to the congregation.

Rev. G. L. Lovell, of Oakley Green Church, being replaced by Rev. H. H. Farnham.

Rev. Mr. Good's, the incoming pastor, is well known to the congregation he will serve. Rev. G. L. Lovell also preached his farewell sermon at the Oakley Green Church, and will leave for Salem next Thursday to begin his work in the Salem church.

Rev. H. H. Farnham, who begins his work at the Oakley Green Church next Sunday, has just closed four years at Wichita church. Mr. Farnham is a native of the city and was previously employed in the Gresham Outlook office in that capacity.

KNIGHTS ATTEND MASS. ANNUAL COMMUNION HELD AT ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH.

Dan J. Malarky and Roger E. Sinnott Speak on Preparedness at Breakfast Following Service.

Knights of Columbus, 400 strong, attended an annual communion service yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Philip's Church. The event is a significant one in the annals of the order, and attendance is always very large.

The communion was followed by a breakfast, served by the women of the parish, at the hall of the Paulist Fathers, East Sixteenth and Division streets.

At the conclusion of the breakfast a number of talks were made, nearly all of which emphasized the need for National preparedness. P. J. Hanley, grand knight of the order, was toastmaster.

Dan J. Malarky introduced the preparedness topic, speaking of lessons he learned on a recent trip abroad. He made a plea for better preparation for defense by the United States, and this opinion was echoed in other speeches.

Roger E. Sinnott spoke along a similar line. Archbishop Christy spoke to the Knights of Columbus in a short message by Rev. J. Lenergan, John N. Casey, A. A. Murphy, Patrick Bacon, T. L. O'Meara and C. J. Zerlan.

PERSONAL MENTION. C. T. Johnson, of Seattle, is at the Eaton. A. S. Reed, of Astoria, is at the Imperial. W. F. Weeks, of Seattle, is at the Seward.

Ridgefield Has Cleanup Day. RIDGEFIELD, Wash., April 16.—(Special.)—Saturday, which was designated as the annual cleanup day for Ridgefield by Mayor Butler, was one of much activity along this line, and the teams hired by the city were kept busy until nearly dark hauling away refuse.

Camp Established on New Line. RAYMOND, Wash., April 16.—(Special.)—The Raymond Lumber Company is establishing a new logging camp on Beaver creek, on the Eugene and Willapa Harbor line, which is expected to be in operation about the middle of June. The company now operates camps at Green Creek and at Forest, both being served by the Northern Pacific.

CHURCH IS OPENED

Methodist Congregation Takes Old Westminster Building.

50 AT INITIAL SERVICE. Rev. S. A. Danford in Charge and Dr. McDougall Tells of Effort to Find Opening in Irvington.

"We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Rev. J. W. McDougall, district superintendent, was present in charge of the initial services and about 50 persons gathered to witness the opening.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

Dr. McDougall told of the effort to find opening in Irvington. "We have raised the flag over this church, and it never shall be lowered," said Rev. S. A. Danford at the initial services yesterday morning of the new Irvington Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Presbyterian building, corner East Polk and Irvington streets.

RELIGIOUS RALLY HELD

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS WORKING FOR 1,000-000 NEW MEMBERS.

L. R. Carrick Reports That Valley Organizations Are Active in Supplying Their Quota.

A rally in the interests of the "million-new-members" movement for the Christian Endeavor organization was held at the First Congregational Church, yesterday morning.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

L. R. Carrick reports that valley organizations are active in supplying their quota. "The Christian Endeavor organization is working for 1,000,000 new members," said Carrick.

SERMON THOUGHTS

LOYALTY TO CHRIST IN UNFALTERING

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."

Dr. Doyot said in part: "Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem was a fulfillment of prophecy, but the high enthusiasm which attended it soon gave place to the tragedy of the ages. There were about 3,000,000 strangers in Jerusalem that day, and when Jesus entered the city the city was a vast sea of humanity."