

JEFFERSON STATUE TENDERLY UNVEILED

1800 Students and Citizens Take Part in Ceremonies at High School Event.

JUDGE M. G. MUNLY ORATOR

Misses Verna Barker and Gladys Hollingsworth Pull Ribbon That Uncovers Big Bronze Piece. Mayor and Others Talk.

The statue of Thomas Jefferson, the purchase of which was made possible by the co-operation of Jefferson students and members of the Board of Education, was yesterday afternoon unveiled on the grounds of Jefferson High School.

In the presence of more than 1800 pupils and citizens the purple and gold ribbon that bound the American flag to the bronze figure was loosened by the Misses Verna Barker and Gladys Hollingsworth and cheers greeted the uncovered replica of the masterpiece of Karl Bitter.

Judge M. G. Munly, chairman of the Board of Education, was the principal speaker. After eulogizing "the architect of the American plan of popular government," Judge Munly urged that the students emulate Thomas Jefferson in his spirited desire to do the most for the common good.

"This beautiful statue, just unveiled, not only exemplifies the loyalty of Jefferson students to their school, but it shows that they have carried from their studies here the right American spirit—some of the patriotism which animated the fathers of the Republic.

Jefferson Was Many Sided. Aside from his claims to rank first among our statesmen and diplomats, he was a man of varied accomplishments. He was a law reformer as well as a lawyer; an author, a scientific farmer, an authority on economics, a financier, an architect of no mean ability, having designed and built the famous mansion at Monticello; an inventor of agricultural implements, and the real founder of the University of Virginia.

"But the work which most forever secures his fame is the Declaration of Independence. Although the gospel of the brotherhood of man and the dignity of the human soul had long been engrafted upon the Christian democracy of Europe, now for the first time in the history of the race these ideas—the recognition of the God-given right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—were written into a political document which thereafter became fused into the fundamental law of the land.

Let us on this occasion pledge our devotion to the principles and the virtues of a God-fearing race—the pioneer Americans, sobriety, industry, honesty, self-denial, good-will towards all men.

L. R. Alderman, Superintendent of Schools, pointed to the statue and asked the pupils what it meant to them. He asked that the great deeds of Jefferson be impressed upon their minds and to make his principles of justice their principles.

Mayor Albee felt "that Jefferson High School was the best high school that he had ever seen and wished that his personal interest in the school would always endure."

R. H. Thomas, school clerk, and F. A. Naramore, superintendent of properties, also spoke.

The monument that was unveiled yesterday is a replica of the original that stands on the campus of the University of Virginia. Jefferson founded the University of Virginia. The statue is by Karl Bitter, who came to this country in 1838 and soon won distinction.

The statue, at present, occupies a place in the center of the stairway that leads to the north entrance of the school.

POPCORN MEN HAVE COMPLAINT

Outsiders Sell Produce Here While They Are Restricted, Is Claim.

"Strawberries, apples and peaches from Hood River, tomatoes and grapes from The Dalles, peaches and green corn from Eastern Oregon, are sold at the public market on Yamhill street by merchants who pay no taxes nor license and often are not even residents of the county, while we, who pay much of our popcorn at the market, for the privilege of roasting and selling it, are required to pay a license of $60 a year and are restricted from selling in the business district."

This is the complaint of the popcorn men in an amended complaint filed in the Circuit Court yesterday against the City of Portland by Charles Roas, F. Wilhelm, Mohammed Kahn and Joe Doh, who ask that the city be restrained from enforcing discriminatory ordinances against them.

The Fallacy of Paraffine Base

Eastern oil manufacturers have long extolled the superior virtues of paraffine-base motor oils. Of course! Paraffine-base crudes were nearest home and freight costs lower.

But Pacific Coast motorists have proved for themselves that Zerolene, an oil made from selected California crude—asphalt-base, gave best results.

Now their practical experience is supported by the testimony of international experts.

Lieut. Bryan, a U.S. government expert, stated before the American Society of Naval Engineers, at Wash-
