

AMERICAN CAVALRY
SWEPS SOUTHWARD

Troops Go to Big Bend District in Texas to Prevent More Raids.

SOLDIER'S TALE IS VIVID

Privates Tyree and Compton Tell of Defense of Adobe Hut and of Battle to Save Lives of Compton's Children.

MARATHON, Tex., May 8.—Privates Roscoe E. Tyree and O. G. Compton arrived here late this afternoon in company with Sergeant Smythe. They were brought here in a motorcar from Glenn Springs.

Anxiety had been felt for these two men, as they had disappeared after the fight between the bandits and the patrol at Glenn Springs and Compton had been reported taken into Mexico. It is believed that the man reported kidnapped with John Deemers from below Boquillas was named Coy.

Troops Move South. The troops of American cavalry swung southward this afternoon into the Big Bend country, moving on to Glenn Springs, where three soldiers lost their lives and a little boy was shot to death in the raid by Villista bandits Friday night. The 100 and more cavalrymen belong to Troops A and B, of the Eighth Cavalry, under the command of Major George T. Langhorne. Two troops of the Fourteenth Cavalry, commanded by Major Charles H. Smith, from Fort Clark, go forward tomorrow.

A strict censorship is enforced to screen the troops in the field campaign, whether it takes the form of pursuit of the Villista brigades or the protection of the border from further attacks.

Many unconfirmed reports are current tonight at Boquillas that bodies of bandits are operating in numbers on the Mexican side. The number of cavalrymen under present orders to proceed toward the river indicates that no effort will be made to pursue the bandits into Mexico unless they are observed near the border. In that event a chase into Mexican territory may be attempted to the extent of the American forces 50 or more miles into Coahuila.

Transportation Is Lacking. Lack of transportation and properly equipped horses is a serious problem, and an extended pursuit into Mexico, and military men here do not think another punitive expedition possible because of the lack of cavalrymen. The last body of Villistas recrossed the Rio Grande Saturday morning and now are probably nearly 40 miles south of the river.

It would take a brigade of at least 2000 men to form an expedition into Mexico to effectively cope with the situation, said an Army officer here today just before the troops moved toward Glenn Springs. "The four brigades and the other that are going in can do little more than offer protection to the border, and there are no more troops of cavalry that we can draw upon."

There is now, I believe, one regiment of cavalry, the Second, at Fort Ethan Allen, N. Y., but that is the only cavalry available. All other cavalry troops are on duty at other points along the border and in the main expedition in Chihuahua. We simply have not the men for another punitive expedition.

More Cavalry Needed. "You can't chase mounted bandits with infantrymen. If we see any Villistas near the river, I imagine we will get orders to go after them, but I don't know positively. But I know we can't go far after them with but four troops of cavalry."

It was learned here today that after the raid on Glenn Springs the bandits split their forces into two bodies, one heading toward the Rio Grande and fording the river at Boquillas and the other, about 40 in number, working southeast and recrossing the river at San Vincente. It was here that the Villistas were observed by Mrs. Hart, a school teacher, who reported that the brigades, mounted on ponies and horses, crossed the river in two bodies, one Saturday night and disappeared into Mexico.

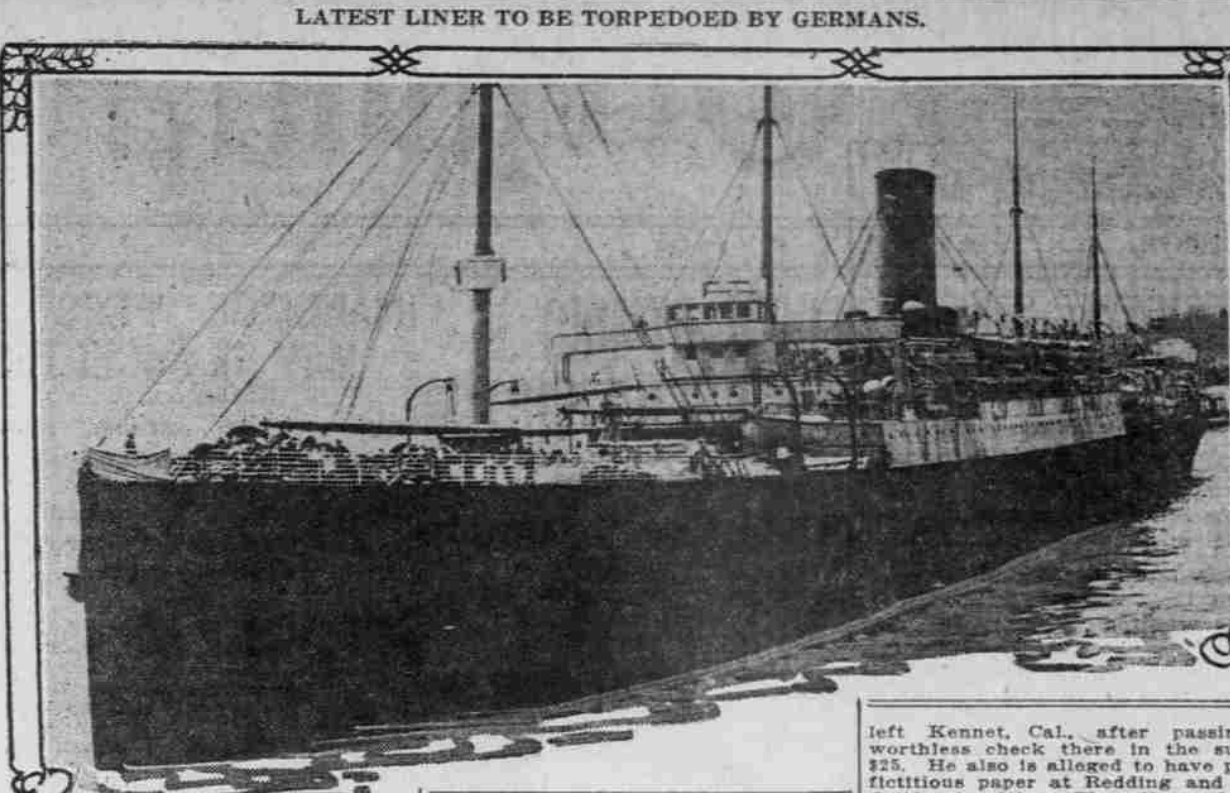

Private Roscoe Tyree, the missing soldier who was believed to have been captured by the Mexicans, was in agony when brought to Marathon tonight. His right arm and foot were badly burned by the bullets that hit him and his comrades from the adobe house. Tyree fled down a creek, where he was found the next day. Sergeant Smythe came in with him on a truck.

Compton Tells of Raid. Oscar C. Compton, also reported safe tonight, reached here in an automobile from Glenn Springs. Compton's little boy, Garnett, was killed by a bullet in the raid. Compton told how the Mexicans surrounded the little settlement with the apparent object of killing all the soldiers and then sacking the place at their leisure.

"I heard the sound of many feet upon the rocks," said Compton, whose home was but a short distance from the soldier encampment. "and then two Mexicans with handkerchiefs tied across their faces stuck their heads in the front door and asked if there were any soldiers there. I answered them, and looking out saw Mexicans coming in all directions, yelling as loud as they could."

"They opened fire on the adobe house and I went and got my rifle and counted by cartridges. I had only 100. Sitting at the window, I waited for them to attack."

"My 8-year-old girl, Louise, with her two little brothers, Howard and Garnett, tumbled out of bed. Louise put her arms around my neck and said she was scared at the yelling. I picked her up and, leaving the two boys behind, carried her out the back door to the shack of a Mexican washerwoman, who took care of her."

GYMERIC IS SINKING

No Americans Said to Be in Crew, Which Numbers 100.

Big Vessel Said to Be Unarmed When Attacked by German Submarine—Craft Due at Liverpool Yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 8.—No word has been received at the offices of the White Star line here, it was said, concerning the steamer Cymric, which cable dispatches from London reported to be sinking, when the office closed for the night at 5:30 o'clock.

The Cymric left New York April 29, with a cargo of munitions and war supplies, including 8000 cases of cartridges. She was commanded by Captain F. E. Beadnell and had a crew of over 100 men. The Cymric carried no passengers.

J. J. MacPherson, British Vice-Consul here, in charge of shipping, said that, as far as he knew, there were no Americans among the crew. The Cymric, he said, arrived here with a crew of 110 men. Twelve deserted and eight were taken on. None of those taken on were American citizens, Mr. MacPherson added. In addition to the crew, five distressed British seamen, who had been ill here, were on the steamer.

Prediction Is Made by Leader That With Proper Organization Vote Can Be Won in Five Years.

Mrs. Catt, who is president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, pleaded for stronger organization within every state and greater teamwork between the states.

Let's centralize our efforts, strengthen our organization and in five years universal suffrage can be won," she said. The campaign being conducted in Iowa in behalf of woman suffrage, which will be voted on there June 5, was discussed at length and an appeal for financial aid met with prompt response. The hat was passed and the Iowa campaign was benefited by $136.10.

HI GILL PRAISES RAIDERS. Mayor Declares Police Considerate in Not Wrecking Paintings.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 8.—Mayor Gill, who was attending the Republican State Convention in North Yakima last Saturday, when the Seattle police wrecked the new drug store of James J. Kelley, an ex-saloonkeeper, commended the police for their action when he arrived at the City Hall today.

The police did $10,000 damage to the drug store, but spared pictures which Kelley valued at $60,000. The Mayor said if he had been with the raiding squad he would have been inclined to thrust a pick through some of the oil paintings.

The Mayor again instructed Chief of Police Beckingham to demolish all drug stores whose chief business is the sale of liquor.

ARBITRATION AGAIN FAILS. Striking Engineers Insist on Demands and Hope Is Abandoned.

NEW YORK, May 8.—A conference here today, the third in a series, in an attempt to settle the marine engineers' strike, was unavailing. Approximately 4000 garment workers, whose employers are independent of the manufacturers' association and whose demands have been granted, returned to work today. Others are expected to do so tomorrow.
