Direct from sunny San Francisco where it sprinkled a few minutes Sun-day for the first time in 45 days, to Portland, where the wettest Spring for s good many years is being endured Manager Harry Wolverton and his San Francisco ball club arrived here yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry accompanied the club. This is the San Francisco magnate's first visit in Portland for seven years.

Yesterday's game was postponed be-Cause of the soggy condition of the grounds. Walter McCredie and the Portland team tramped around in the mud for a few minutes and then telephoned to baseball headquarters that there was nothing doing. The bright sunshine of yesterday afternoon dried out the field, and if J. Pluvius is kind there should be a game today. Today will also be ladies' day.

fine shape. "You'll note that we are down to 17 "You'll note that we are down to 17 men, and that's the way we intend to stay, unless Harry happens to pick up a promising-looking youngster," said President Berry yesterday. "Sheehan can play both the infield and outfield, and as our boys all want to play in all of the games, and we are able to carry seven pitchers among the 17, we figure that we can get by nicely."

Yesterday's postponement was the first one encountered by the San Francisco club this season. The weather has been ideal in San Francisco and Los Angeles since the season opened and the Seals have not played outside of that radius.

According to Berry and Welverton, old Jupiter Pluvius Sunday paid San Francisco a brief visit after an absence, unprecedented at this time of the year, of 45 days. Team Not at Top Speed.

They had just finished playing Portland opening week and the only two pitchers on whom Boss Harry could depend were Couch and Steen. San Francisco was lucky to win the opening series with the Benvers and poor pitching was the reason they did nose out Walt McCredie's crew.

With the exception of the first two weeks, however, the Seals have played consistent ball. The supplanting of Sammy Rohne at shortstop by the veteran Jack Coffey and the rounding into form of the Seal pitching corps is the reason for the club's spurt after the disastrous week with the Tigers.

All the San Francisco pitchers are in fine fettle now and the Beavers will have to hustle or they are likely to get the same dose that the Oaks got last week from Wolverton's men when they lost six out of seven contests. The big first baseman halls from Lafayette. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Oregon loses two of her star ball-players this year by the graduation route. Bill Tuerck has been varsity pitcher for four years and Anse Cornell, captain the past season, saw four years of service at short and second. But with the left-over material of this year and with what has been showing up well among the freshmen, the possibilities for a winning aggregation next year are particularly bright.

and a fast runner on third. Davis wanted the catcher to make a throw to second so that the fast man on third might have a chance to reach home on the play. On a pitched ball Davis ran to second, but the catcher did not brow the ball, deciding to play it safe Davis did not touch second; this is a Davis did not touch second; this is a most important point in the play. He went within a foot or so of the bag and then dashed back to first. He repeated this trick several times, each time failing to touch second base. Since he did not touch second, first base still belonged to him, and he had the right to return if he so desired.

A few years ago Herman Schaefer brought up another phase of this play. A great many believed it was simply a repetition of what Davis did a number repetition of what Davis did a number of years before, but as a matter of fact Schaefer pulled a distinctly different play. Conditions were the same as in the Davis play, two out, Schaefer on first and a fast man on third, Clyde Milan, I believe. Schaefer ran to second, hoping the catcher would make a play on him, thus giving Milan a chance to beat it home with a much-needed run. The catcher decided to play it safe and take a chance on the batter, consequently did not make the throw to second.

Schaefer acquired possession of sec-

Baum, of the Lague, on account of a squabble last Saturday at Los Angeles.

Risberg accused Quinlan of the gow with a play in the eighth inning, and in an ensuing scuffle most of Quinlan's shirt disappeared.

When Manager Rowdy Elliott, of the loaks, Iured Elwood Martin out of the wilds of Pleasanton, Cal., let it be whispered that young Martin, who was about to blossom forth as a young author was hard at team, has asked that the Elma team, says that he will consider the request before answering.

Can Schaefer after he has become the occupant of second run back to first? There are those who contend that in doing so he is running contrary to the rules of the game. They point out that if a batter hit a bail and ran toward third instead of first the umpire would call him out for so doing. There are others who believe Coach Dunning, of the Elima team, says that he will consider the request before answering.

When Rowdy Elllott flashed an Oak contract upon him.

Martin is undecided yet whether or not to continue with the masterplece. He is also on the fence regarding "moving-picture rights."

UMAPINE, Or., May 2.—(Special.)—

The fifth baseball game of the season's series of the Central Umatilia County Baseball League was played between the Umapine Braves and Helix teams at Helix yesterday. The score was 12 to 9 in favor of the Umapine Braves.

When Rowdy Elllott flashed an Oak contract upon him.

Martin is undecided yet whether or not to continue with the masterplece. He is also on the fence regarding "moving-picture rights."

"Ballplayers now are welcomed at the best hotels." a headline informs us. Is it a wonder? In the olden days most first he should have been declared out, just as a batter who, seeing he is about plan. Now they operate on the European plan. And you know those base-him contract upon him.

Ametrin is undecided yet whether or not to continue with the masterplece. He is about and ran toward that if a batter hit a batter who are others who believe that Schaefer had the right to take such a chance if he so desired. There are others who believe that Schaefer had the right, but the moment he retouched first he should have been declared out, just as a batter who, seeing he is about to be touched out between first and home, retraces his steps toward the plate, to give other runners a chance to advance. Umpires make it a rule to call the runner out the moment he passes back over the plate, for if there was no line of division the runner could have the fielder chase him all over the lot. The play offers many situations and is the cause of many arguments. If all were unanimous that Schaefer in running contrary to the laws and rules the game was out for so doing, then of course it would be easy.

La Grande to Send Special Train to Big Games at Baker.

LA GRANDE, Or., May 2.—(Special.)
—La Grande supporters of the high school track team are working up a special train to Baker next Saturday, when the annual Eastern Oregon scholastic classic is to be held there. La Grande, Pendleton and Baker are prominently in the race for first honora. Pendleton's stellar performance against Walla Walla last Friday is admittedly proof that the Round-up town has a strong team. Pendleton is practically certain of 25 points, La Grande contends she can muster about that many and Baker likewise is going to get 25 or 26 points, ahe contends. With scattering point-winners certain to bob up, it is believed the meet will be taken by not more than 30 points, and probby not more than 30 points, and probably by a margin of one or two points over the nearest competitor.

Last year Pendieton won the meet by one point over La Grande.
