

HARMONY RULES IN PARTY DELEGATION

Washington Move Afoot to Bring Republicans and Progressives Together.

PERSONAL VIEWS IGNORED

James A. Wood Discusses Offer of S. A. Perkins to Yield Place on Delegation to Chairman Hartson to Promote Good Will.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 11.—(Special.)—Although members of the Washington delegation to the Republican National Convention have individual preferences for President, no delegate will permit his personal choice to stand in the way of harmonious action.

This was made plain at the conference of the delegation today in State Chairman Hartson's office at the Hutchinson Hotel.

Tribute Paid Mr. Hartson. Mr. Wood spoke of the earnest desire of National Committeeman S. A. Perkins, publisher of the Tacoma Ledger and News, to preserve good feeling in the convention by yielding his place on the delegation to State Chairman Hartson.

Mr. Perkins, in speaking of the work of the state committee, paid a tribute to Chairman Hartson. He continued: "I believe that our delegation is the strongest ever sent from this state to a National convention. It will go absolutely free of feuds and with determination to do the best thing for the party."

Interest in Mr. Root Discussed. Mr. Perkins then called attention to the increased interest in the candidacy of Elihu Root and of his qualifications for the high office to which his friends would raise him.

"I agree with Mr. Perkins' estimate of Elihu Root," said Delegate Scott C. Bone, editor of the Seattle P. L. "In my opinion, if he should be nominated he would be elected and would be one of our greatest Presidents."

Delegate E. A. Sims, of Port Townsend, said he was glad of an opportunity to correct a prevalent impression that he had the party pledged himself to a particular candidate.

Personal Desire Overruled. "When I was in Washington last winter I was impressed with the candidacy of Senator Weeks," he said, "and appeared to me then that his chances were good and I wrote a letter to some of my friends. Since my return I have made no campaign for Senator Weeks."

"No delegate or friend ever heard me try to bring somebody over to my belief. I'm going to Chicago with the idea, and that is to do the best thing for the party, and I wish to say now that I shall abide by the decision of the majority of the delegation."

Those at luncheon were: Millard T. Hartson, E. A. Sims and Scott C. Bone, delegates-at-large; C. D. Bowles and E. C. Hughes, delegates from the first district; T. B. Sumner and Edward D. Taylor, delegates from the second district; Alex. Polson and N. B. Coffman, delegates from the third district; D. Sloan, delegate from the fourth district; County Chairman W. T. Laube, National Committeeman S. A. Perkins, State Committee Secretary James A. Wood, R. R. Fox, E. A. Batwell, W. J. Coyne, P. L. Selinas, A. S. Taylor, J. A. Callahan, E. H. Guise and Claude Ramsay.

Reconciliation Is Desired. As a result of the meeting the reconciliation of the Moose and the regulars there is a movement afoot to have both go to Chicago on the same train. Politicians here and the regulars on the train will bring both delegations to the same place when they reach Chicago.

McBride supporters in this connection claim an overwhelming sentiment of the Moose for the nomination of ex-Governor Henry McBride as the Republican candidate for Governor.

On the Republican side E. A. Sims, of Port Townsend, T. B. Sumner, of Everett, and C. P. Lund, of Spokane, are said to have kindly feelings for McBride. McBride supporters hope much from the proposed joint trip to Chicago.

The Washington delegation re-elected S. A. Perkins of Tacoma, National Committeeman on motion of Scott C. Bone, of Seattle, seconded by T. B. Sumner of Everett.

The question of transportation was left to Delegate Sims. The Sherman House will be headquarters of the delegation in Chicago.

TIED LOOKING WOMEN

Some women always wear a worn, tired look. It is the outward sign of nervousness, neurasthenia, perhaps, with its characteristic symptoms of worry, headaches and sleeplessness. Overwork, grief, undue excitement, the late hours and nervous strain of a strenuous social season, lack of outdoor exercise, any or all of these may be responsible for the trouble but the most common cause at this season of the year is the grip.

Whatever the cause, if you feel the need of more strength try a great non-alcoholic tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

Write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," a diet book. Address: Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

James street, five cases of assorted liquors were seized. Sheel Well Stocked. In a shed in the alley behind the Washington Annex Hotel, a truckload of liquor was seized.

The police seized on a steamship pier, 15 barrels and six cases containing 1968 gallons of whisky consigned to Lewis Tausig & Co., San Francisco wholesale liquor house, to James J. Kelley, whose drugstore, occupying Kelley's former saloon room, was demolished by the police last week. This is the largest seizure of liquor made since the prohibition law became effective. The liquor is being held pending determination of ownership. It is expected that the wholesaler will claim the stuff on the ground that Kelley had not paid for it and that it had not been delivered to him.

FIVE DRUGGISTS CONVICTED

Fines and Jail Sentences Imposed by Seattle Court.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 11.—Five druggists were convicted today of violating the prohibition law. Fred Billingsley, one of the former proprietors of the Stewart-street Pharmacy, which was wrecked by the police 10 days ago, was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in the city jail in Police Court. Billingsley gave notice of appeal and was released on $400 bail. Charles J. Goerner and Cyrus Paul were fined $100 each and Albert Stiles was fined $75 in Police Court. J. A. Davis, proprietor of a drugstore on the waterfront, pleaded guilty in Superior Court to selling liquor illegally and was fined $75. Police Judge John B. Gordon ordered 145 gallons of liquor seized in Smith's drugstore, Twenty-third avenue and Jackson street, destroyed. The police already had destroyed all but 45 gallons of this seizure.

WEST SIDE IS CLEANED

CITIZENS JOIN CAMPAIGN WITH MERRY GOOD WILL. Hundreds of Wagonloads of Rubbish Gathered Up Ready to Be Carted and Destroyed.

Now the West Side is getting its dose of the clean-up movement. And they say the West Side needs it quite as bad as did the East Side, which was cleaned to the proverbial frazzle last week.

City Commissioner Baker and a squad of assistants had charge of the work in District J yesterday. This district comprises all the territory between the Terwilliger boulevard and Morrison street and between the river and the western city limits. The territory was well organized and scores of men and women worked throughout the day to make it clean. Wagonload after wagonload of rubbish was carted away.

Adjutant-General George A. White is the captain in charge of the work in district K, which will be cleaned today. This district comprises all the territory between Morrison and Pettygrove streets and between the river and the city limits. A crew of inspectors went over the entire district yesterday and designated the places that needed cleaning.

Officials of the city health department joined in the work yesterday at the request of General White and cooperated with his lieutenants. Indicative of the interest taken by the people of the district was the report last night that more than 200 loads of rubbish already have been deposited on the curbs ready for removal today.

This week will witness the end of the formal clean-up campaign, but the clean-up work will continue unabated throughout the Summer. It is agreed by city officials, by Chamber of Commerce officials, and all other interested citizens that it has been one of the most successful movements of the kind ever attempted in Portland.

COMPOSER OF FILM SUES

"SECRET OF SUBMARINE" HELD TO BE WORTH $100,000. Injury Alleged Because Picture Was Advertised Extensively Without Mentioning Author's Name.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(Special.)—Supreme Court Justice Hotchkiss heard argument today on an application by Richard Barry, the writer, for an injunction restraining the Mutual Film Company from producing a film called "The Secret of the Submarine," which Barry wrote and which was sold to the Mutual Company by Russell E. Smith, former scenario editor for the Equitable Motion Picture Corporation. Barry also asks $100,000 damages.

Barry alleges that he was injured because the Mutual Company advertised the film extensively without mentioning his name in connection with it, although it was parallel to the "Birth of a Nation" in interest.

Counsel for Smith, who is named as one of the defendants in the case, admitted to the court that the scenario was written by Barry, but said that Barry had authorized Smith to sell it for $1000. Smith did so and offers to give Barry a share of the proceeds as soon as Barry arrives at reasonable figure.

Justice Hotchkiss reserved decision.

CUMMINS IS INVITED

Portland Labor Council May Hear Presidential Aspirant.

NO CANDIDATE INDORSED

Committee Is Appointed to Investigate Montavilla Sewer Records, but Engineers' Report Is Not Condemned.

It is the hope of the Portland Labor Council to have appear before that body next Thursday night Senator Albert M. Cummins, Republican candidate for President. As Senator Cummins is campaigning in the state and as he carries a card in the carpenter's international council last night instructed the secretary to issue Senator Cummins a special invitation.

An effort was made at the meeting of the council last night to name one of the members of labor organizations throughout the state the justice of writing in the name of Senator La Follette on the ballot at the coming primaries, but the effort was unsuccessful. It was not the wish of the council to give indorsement to any Presidential candidate.

Both Mr. Cummins and Mr. LaFollette received unofficial indorsement from the members of the council for their work in connection with labor legislation in the United States Senate. William MacKenzie favored Mr. LaFollette for his effort in getting the sewer bill through Congress, and he declared that the refusal of Mr. Cummins to indorse Lewis Brandeis, a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States more than offset all his work in behalf of organized labor.

A committee was appointed by acting-Chairman Rosen to investigate the records at the City Hall affecting the Montavilla sewer. It was the sense of the meeting that should be done to protect "those men who had been discharged for testifying as to existing conditions." Resolutions were adopted condemning the report of the board of engineers sent out by the city to make an investigation of the sewer, but the resolutions were not accepted by the council. It was the expert opinion of those engineers would be ridiculous. The committee named to make the investigations and report at the next meeting is composed of William MacKenzie, Pete Anderson and James Irving.

MAURICE B. SMITH DIES

WELL-KNOWN DOORKEEPER AT PORTLAND THEATER PASSES. Unique Figure in Local Theatrical Life Was Identified With Playhouses in City for Many Years.

Maurice B. Smith, for years doorkeeper at Portland theaters, died yesterday.

In the passing away of Mr. Smith Portland has lost a unique figure from its local theatrical life. He was the best-known stage-door keeper on the Pacific Coast and counted among his acquaintances the biggest stars in the stage world. He came to Portland 30 years ago. For a while he was in the tannery business on the old White House road, now known as Riverside Drive. During Cleveland's first Administration Mr. Smith was employed in the United States Appraiser's office, where he held the only political position he was ever known to fill. Later, when John F. Corday entered the theatrical field, he employed Mr. Smith on his working staff.

For years he took tickets at the door of the old Third-Street Theater, later being promoted to treasurer and ticket seller. He served in this capacity at Corday's Washington-Street Theater, and when Corday went to the Oaks Maurice Smith went to work for Sullivan & Conditine houses and later for the Orpheum. He remained at his post at the local Orpheum up to the closing of its season, early this month.

He died yesterday morning at Neabeth Sanitarium, of diabetes. The body is at Holman's parlors. So far as is known, he leaves no relatives.

Maurice B. Smith was his name, and early in his theatrical career he extended the initial B. into Barrymore for the distinguished actor, Maurice Barrymore.

He was a Mason and an authority on Masonic law. Also he was a member of the Theatrical Mechanics' Association. The funeral hour has been set for Monday morning at 10:30 from Holman's undertaking parlors.

SENATOR SHERMAN RELIEVES COLLEAGUE IN DEBATE.

Kenyon Gives Notice He Will Resume Fight for Adoption of Lump Sum Allowance of $20,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senator Sherman took up the fight against the $20,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill today after Senator Kenyon had spoken more than two days against the measure.

The Illinois Senator was speaking when the Senate recessed tonight until 11 o'clock tomorrow. He attacked the general provisions of the bill and urged an amendment to permit the state of Illinois to continue work on its project for a waterway between the Mississippi River and Lake Michigan.

Before he yielded the floor, Senator Kenyon gave notice that he would resume later his effort to have his substitute adopted, which would appropriate a lump sum of $20,000,000 to be expended on river and harbor work by the War Department.

FLYING BOAT WRECKED

HUGE, RECORD-MAKING HYDRO-AEROPLANE FALLS INTO RIVER. Loss of Propeller Believed Responsible. Two Thought Drowned, Three Are Severely Injured.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The big hydroaeroplane, with which J. C. MacCauley recently established several new cross-country records, was wrecked near Mount Vernon today with a probable loss of two lives and serious injuries to MacCauley and two other persons aboard. The craft plunged 100 feet into the Potomac, making three revolutions in its descent and collapsing as it struck the water.

Loss of a propeller is believed to have been responsible for the accident, although neither MacCauley, who was piloting, nor his mechanic, Phillip Utter, who were picked up from the water unconscious, was able tonight to tell exactly what happened.

The flying boat was en route from Washington to Newport News and was traveling fast. MacCauley, Utter and Mayo Dudley, a Washington newspaperman, the third man rescued from the wreckage, were badly bruised and suffered from shock, but all are expected to recover. Charles A. Good, of Elyria, O., a student pilot, and Louis Krantz, a mechanic, the other two passengers, were missing when the tug John Miller came to the rescue, and it is believed they were drowned.

Spending her free evenings delving in a work of reference gave a girl in a store information that jumped her salary from $12 to $50 a week. (The same great work that, in an old edition, inspired Faraday, over a hundred years ago.)

about YOU!

YOU might find in this same work one new fact—gain one new suggestion which might be worth to you many times what it would cost you. (We know of men who have.)

Needless almost to say what this great work is. You know it well by name. For 148 years it has been, as the New York Times said of it, "not a set of books, but a great institution."

THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA

(Now to be had in the new Eleventh Edition, at a phenomenally low price.)

But maybe— You are among those who instinctively think of the Encyclopaedia Britannica as only for scholars, educators and professional men—as the picturesque phrase goes, a work for "high-brows."

That is perfectly natural. Most scholars, educators and professional men do own it—95 Harvard professors and instructors, 75 at Columbia and so on.

(Throughout the English-speaking world there is probably not a score of colleges or libraries that do not possess this standard work of reference. The New York Public Library has 25 sets of the new Eleventh Edition.)

But it is not valuable for "high-brows"—alone. It is equally valuable for you. —and we would like you to realize this.

So we have prepared a richly illustrated book with nearly 200 illustrations of the most varied character and of real interest, with a hundred bits of curious information, endeavoring to present this new work from a hundred different points of view.

LABORER, 70, NOT LAID OFF

City Workman Mistakes Transfer and Makes Complaint.

When Martin Canavan, for 33 years a laborer in the city water service, complained at the Municipal civil service office that he had been laid off, he was misinformed, according to a statement made yesterday by General Foreman Gray of the Water Bureau.

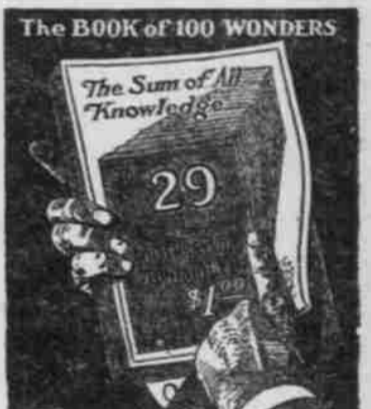

Mr. Gray says Mr. Canavan, who is 70 years of age, was transferred from work laying curb cock boxes to a trench digging gang. He got the wrong impression that he was laid off. Mr. Canavan complained about being shifted to the heavy work from his former position as curb cock box setter. Mr. Gray says this was temporary inasmuch as there was none of the other work to be done when the change was made.
