

LOVE AND WEALTH TAGLE AND PUZZLE

North Bend Couple Find Husband's First Wife Not Legally Divorced.

RICH UNCLE FORSAKES GIRL

Mrs. Patrick Tully, Former San Francisco Convent Student, Rejects Guardian's Wishes, Weds Man Not Legally Divorced.

NORTH BEND, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Long of the belief that she was a lawfully married woman, with two pretty children, a boy aged 4 and a daughter of 20 months, Mrs. Patrick Tully, of this city, niece of William Wood, the millionaire woolen manufacturer of Boston and other Massachusetts towns, received a heart-breaking shock, when a letter came to Mr. Tully from his former wife, asking where to find the records of their divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully could not believe they were involved in such an unusual position until they made inquiries in Los Angeles, where the divorce was supposed to have been granted, and learned to their dismay that not only they, but Mr. Tully's former wife and Martin Schroeder, whom she married after separating from Mr. Tully, were all without the law and none were legally married, excepting Mr. Tully and his first wife.

Mrs. Tully No. 2 is a beautiful brunette and was trained and educated at a prominent San Francisco convent until she was of age. Her education was provided by her uncle, who gave her a monthly allowance and brought her to womanhood with the expectation she would marry as he might dictate.

But love affairs are not manufactured to order, and when she met Patrick Tully, who was conducting a real estate office in San Diego, they fell in love and married without the uncle's consent.

Mr. Tully is a Coos Bay contractor and erected a number of the best buildings in Marshfield. He came to Coos Bay 10 years ago and this has been his home, excepting at intervals when he spent a few months in Southern California. His first marriage was to Miss Mollie E. McCarthy, at Duluth, to which city both were residents.

Unable to agree on domestic relations, they separated and for three years remained apart, later taking up their residence in Los Angeles, but not together.

A year after their arrival there, and after meeting and discussing their affairs, they concluded to make their separation permanent, agreed on division of their property and arranged for a divorce. The payment to Mrs. Tully was between $5000 and $6000, but no divorce was recorded.

It seemed that it was understood between them that Mrs. Tully was to default to Mrs. Tully's action, it appeared afterward that Mrs. Tully, not familiar with legal requirements, failed to appear for the divorce proceedings, and was granted, each, however, taking it for granted that a decree had been entered.

Mr. Tully said today that he was not aware, nor the affair had become public, what the ending would be, but he would stand firmly by the law and get the distressful situation cleared up as quickly as possible. He expects Mrs. Tully will return to Los Angeles, where her father resides, and remain until the family can be reunited.

EPWORTH MEETING ON RALLY IS HELD AT SUNNYSIDE METHODIST CHURCH.

Business Sessions of Portland District League Will Begin Today—Officers to Be Named After Noon.

The 25th annual convention of the Portland District Epworth League opened last night at the Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal Church, together with reports from the district officers, showing substantial growth during the year. Philip Bartholomew, president of the Sunnyside chapter, delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by S. Whitcomb, district president, who said the convention was to be an active and helpful one.

Reports were received from Miss Pearl Sinfield, first vice-president, who sent her report by letter; Walter Stearns, second vice-president; Miss Mildred Taylor, fourth vice-president; C. D. Chilson, corresponding secretary; Ralph M. Speelman, recording secretary; and W. L. Taylor, treasurer. Roll-call of chapters followed.

Special attention was called to the Methodist pageant which will be held in the Eleventh-street playhouse May 26-27. At the conclusion of the business by the Sunnyside chapter for a social hour.

The convention proper will open today at 10 A. M. Election of officers will be held this afternoon.

SUBURBAN FIRE SPREADS Four Homes Destroyed at Marshfield; Others Menaced.

MARSHFIELD, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Fire, which broke out in the Eugene Coles home at Bunker Hill, a suburb of Marshfield, spread rapidly and the homes of G. Rorick, Alfred Hagquist and Henry Olson were burned in succession. Much of the household goods in the homes were destroyed and the loss was about $10,000.

There is no fire-fighting apparatus in Bunker Hill and it was feared all the houses in line with the fire would be destroyed.

Hawley Employee Hurt in Mill.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Louis Krummel, an employe of the Hawley Pulp & Paper Company, was injured today when his hand was caught in the machinery and was badly lacerated. He was taken to the Oregon City Hospital for treatment.

Visitor Will Speak.

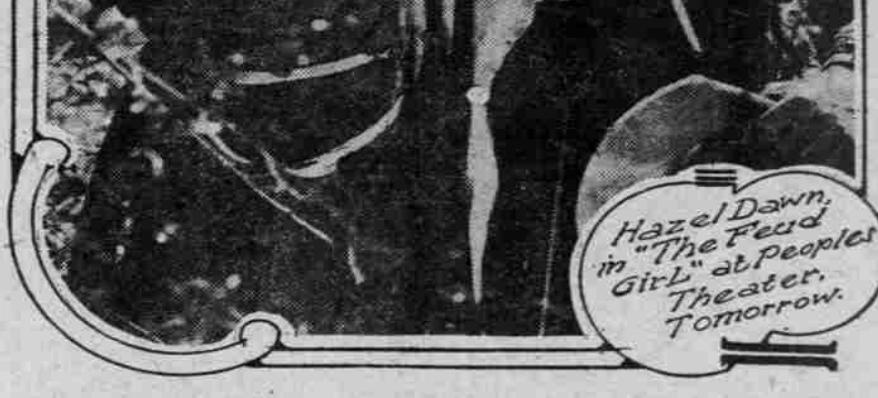

W. H. Marvin, member of the Industrial Welfare Commission of the state of Washington and editor of the Pacific Advocate, will be the speaker at the Reed College vespers services at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

MOVING PICTURE NEWS

Only Handicap to Progress Is Transportation and This Lack Is Not Serious.

GOOD PAYROLL DEVELOPED

Addison Bennett Finds Excess of Praiseworthy Features and Predicts Wonderful Future for Entire Neighboring Section.

BY ADDISON BENNETT, STAYTON, Or., May 19.—(Staff Correspondence.)—Stayton is situated about 20 miles northeast of Albany and practically the same distance nearly due east of Salem. It is on the Santiam River—if it was just across that river it would be in Linn County. Being in the Willamette valley, there seems no possible reason to mention its climate; being just in the edge of the Willamette Hills, it may seem to be a population of about 1000 and call it whichever seems appropriate.

It is not a new place by any means. The first building was erected on the townsite some 45 years ago and the town planned soon after, in 1872, to be exact. The general manager of the company, however, has now stated that the initial production of that company is entitled "The House of Mirrors," a play conceived by Frederick Chapin.

James Young has been given entire charge, according to official announcement, of the Mabel Norman Feature Company, which is producing non-sensational comedies, with that former Keystone favorite in the lead. We congratulate Jimmy on this tribute to his ability and Miss Norman on her good luck in getting a director of James' class.

According to her own confession, Hazel Dawn, the Famous Players star, is so optimistic and has such a keen sense of humor that if she ever looked unwell in the glass crying she would burst out laughing.

In order to obtain the proper realism for one of the important scenes in "The Secret of the Submarine," the new American-Mutual photo-novel, a lighthouse standing 60 feet in height and built for the most part of stone and concrete, was erected in the Pacific, a few miles below Los Angeles. Two days after its completion 100 pounds of dynamite were placed inside and touched off. When the smoke cleared, the lighthouse was found to be seen. Three thousand dollars had gone up in smoke solely to furnish a thrill for the picture fans.

A string of a dozen box cars, recently purchased for the filming of several of the scenes of "Whispering Smith," are now located on a siding of the Southern Pacific Railroad at Los Angeles. All 12 cars are to be used in a wreck scene in which the junkman will be asked to pick up the debris.

Alice Brady is completing work on the World Film production of "La Boheme" and is now busily engaged with the director, Emile Chautard, cutting the picture, when it will be shown to the public under the direction of the Opera-House for their opinion before it is finally sent throughout the country on the regular programme.

Following her appearance with George Heban in "Pasquale," Myrtle Stedman, the popular Palms Pictures star, is now busily engaged on her next photoplay for the Paramount programme, "The American Beauty," in which she will portray the title character.

Supporting Miss Stedman in "The American Beauty" is an excellent cast, including Elliott Dexter, Howard Davies, Edward Ayres, Adelaide Woods and Jack Livingston. The subject is being produced under the direction of William D. Taylor, and the camera work has been allotted to James Van Trees.

Vera Pearce, of Metro, trains cats for a hobby. She has several which will "roll over dead" when she tells them all sorts of stunts during the time he is in the air, but they seem to belong to the wrong variety of cat.

Duncan McRee, the English dramatic artist, who has been the director-general at the Edison Company, is now appearing as leading man for Viola Dana in "The Flower of No Man's Land," in which both will make their debut on the Metro programme.

Pity poor Eric Campbell! Eric is the 300-pound "heavy" appearing in "The Floorwalker." In one of the scenes it falls to Eric to stand still while Charlie splinters a wooden box over his head. For some reason the box failed to break, when Chaplin hit it down with a crash on poor Eric's cranium. A retake, of course, was necessary.

"Chaplin was satisfied, Eric was the only one who wasn't." "That's all right, old boy," declared the comedian, with a sly wink to the director, "we got a lot more of 'em." "Yes, but I haven't got any more of them," replied "heavy," rubbing his head.

Enid Markey, Triangle-Kay Bee, started her career with a traveling company that was playing "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway." She was a Colorado City belle at the time, and her parents were just completing arrangements to send her to Leland Stanford University. But when the management of the show advertised that they would take some of the town's beauties along in their chorus, the temptation was too strong, and she successfully applied for a "job."

Screen Gossip.

J. Searle Dawley is quietly refurbishing his knowledge of swordplay. The Famous Players director is soon to stage a big scene in which there is a sword fight between the hero, who is attempting to rescue Marguerite Clark, and several villains who are trying to do so. That's it, Searle, be fierce.

The pet baby panther belonging to Stuart Holmes, the Fox movie villain, and his French-speaking parrot had a brief mixup last week. The parrot attempted to eat the bread and milk fed to the baby panther. The scrap lasted only a few seconds, but Holmes' apartment looked as though someone had been scattering green confetti about the place for a couple of days. There

STAYTON COUNTY

Only Handicap to Progress Is Transportation and This Lack Is Not Serious.

GOOD PAYROLL DEVELOPED

Addison Bennett Finds Excess of Praiseworthy Features and Predicts Wonderful Future for Entire Neighboring Section.

BY ADDISON BENNETT, STAYTON, Or., May 19.—(Staff Correspondence.)—Stayton is situated about 20 miles northeast of Albany and practically the same distance nearly due east of Salem. It is on the Santiam River—if it was just across that river it would be in Linn County. Being in the Willamette valley, there seems no possible reason to mention its climate; being just in the edge of the Willamette Hills, it may seem to be a population of about 1000 and call it whichever seems appropriate.

It is not a new place by any means. The first building was erected on the townsite some 45 years ago and the town planned soon after, in 1872, to be exact. The general manager of the company, however, has now stated that the initial production of that company is entitled "The House of Mirrors," a play conceived by Frederick Chapin.

James Young has been given entire charge, according to official announcement, of the Mabel Norman Feature Company, which is producing non-sensational comedies, with that former Keystone favorite in the lead. We congratulate Jimmy on this tribute to his ability and Miss Norman on her good luck in getting a director of James' class.

According to her own confession, Hazel Dawn, the Famous Players star, is so optimistic and has such a keen sense of humor that if she ever looked unwell in the glass crying she would burst out laughing.

In order to obtain the proper realism for one of the important scenes in "The Secret of the Submarine," the new American-Mutual photo-novel, a lighthouse standing 60 feet in height and built for the most part of stone and concrete, was erected in the Pacific, a few miles below Los Angeles. Two days after its completion 100 pounds of dynamite were placed inside and touched off. When the smoke cleared, the lighthouse was found to be seen. Three thousand dollars had gone up in smoke solely to furnish a thrill for the picture fans.

A string of a dozen box cars, recently purchased for the filming of several of the scenes of "Whispering Smith," are now located on a siding of the Southern Pacific Railroad at Los Angeles. All 12 cars are to be used in a wreck scene in which the junkman will be asked to pick up the debris.

Alice Brady is completing work on the World Film production of "La Boheme" and is now busily engaged with the director, Emile Chautard, cutting the picture, when it will be shown to the public under the direction of the Opera-House for their opinion before it is finally sent throughout the country on the regular programme.

Following her appearance with George Heban in "Pasquale," Myrtle Stedman, the popular Palms Pictures star, is now busily engaged on her next photoplay for the Paramount programme, "The American Beauty," in which she will portray the title character.

Supporting Miss Stedman in "The American Beauty" is an excellent cast, including Elliott Dexter, Howard Davies, Edward Ayres, Adelaide Woods and Jack Livingston. The subject is being produced under the direction of William D. Taylor, and the camera work has been allotted to James Van Trees.

Vera Pearce, of Metro, trains cats for a hobby. She has several which will "roll over dead" when she tells them all sorts of stunts during the time he is in the air, but they seem to belong to the wrong variety of cat.

Duncan McRee, the English dramatic artist, who has been the director-general at the Edison Company, is now appearing as leading man for Viola Dana in "The Flower of No Man's Land," in which both will make their debut on the Metro programme.

Pity poor Eric Campbell! Eric is the 300-pound "heavy" appearing in "The Floorwalker." In one of the scenes it falls to Eric to stand still while Charlie splinters a wooden box over his head. For some reason the box failed to break, when Chaplin hit it down with a crash on poor Eric's cranium. A retake, of course, was necessary.

"Chaplin was satisfied, Eric was the only one who wasn't." "That's all right, old boy," declared the comedian, with a sly wink to the director, "we got a lot more of 'em." "Yes, but I haven't got any more of them," replied "heavy," rubbing his head.

Enid Markey, Triangle-Kay Bee, started her career with a traveling company that was playing "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway." She was a Colorado City belle at the time, and her parents were just completing arrangements to send her to Leland Stanford University. But when the management of the show advertised that they would take some of the town's beauties along in their chorus, the temptation was too strong, and she successfully applied for a "job."

Screen Gossip.

J. Searle Dawley is quietly refurbishing his knowledge of swordplay. The Famous Players director is soon to stage a big scene in which there is a sword fight between the hero, who is attempting to rescue Marguerite Clark, and several villains who are trying to do so. That's it, Searle, be fierce.

The pet baby panther belonging to Stuart Holmes, the Fox movie villain, and his French-speaking parrot had a brief mixup last week. The parrot attempted to eat the bread and milk fed to the baby panther. The scrap lasted only a few seconds, but Holmes' apartment looked as though someone had been scattering green confetti about the place for a couple of days. There believe there are other young women of the town who understand typesetting. Which is a hint to young men desiring to enter the newspaper business on a sort of family basis. Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Peoples THEATER W. PARK AT ALDER THIS IS THE LAST DAY SESSUE HAYAKAWA (Who Created a Sensation in "The Cheat") In the Timely Photoplay Based on Racial Conflict ALIEN SOULS It's One of Paramount Programme's Greatest Pictures COMING TOMORROW The Beautiful HAZEL DAWN In a Photo Drama Extraordinary THE FEUD GIRL A Thrilling Romance of the Mountain Country

The French have a process of making a sweet flour from fried sugar beets. The substance which is produced contains 82 per cent of pure nutriment.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

Now I ought to take a column to tell what the Stayton people think of their schools. I will have to cut it short by saying that they have about as good buildings as any little city in the state. Indeed I guess their new high school building has mighty few equals in any of the larger cities. Professor W. C. Garnett is the efficient superintendent, and he is one of the best officials in Oregon, or at least that is what his superior officers say of him. There are eight teachers, one of them being a teacher of music. It is one of the few high schools giving a music course.

You see Stars in

METRO PICTURES

at your best theatre and you get

THE PICTURES MAGAZINE

Ask for it

FIRST RUN Metro Pictures

Are Shown Exclusively at the Pickford

Washington at Park.

HEILIG THEATER

TODAY

Today, Last Time, Billie Burke in "Gloria's Romance"; "Dollars and the Woman" ONE WEEK COMMENCING TOMORROW

Viagraph Presents the EDNA MAY in a Romantic Drama of Modern Conditions "SALVATION JOAN"

By Marguerite Bertsch The character of Joan Crawford, heroine of this gripping drama, is fully within the dramatic and emotional grasp of Edna May.—New York Morning Telegraph.

Also BILLIE BURKE Chapter 2 of "GLORIA'S ROMANCE" ("Caught by the Seminoles")

Matinees 10c. Evenings 15c. Saturday and Sunday Matinees 15c. Loaves 25c. FULL ORCHESTRA OF TALENTED MUSICIANS

PHONE MAIN 68. Broadway at Stark

1000 Seats..... 25c 1000 Seats..... 50c 800 Seats..... 75c

TWO MORE PERFORMANCES