

SOCIETY NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

BLITHELY and merrily the younger set whirled through yesterday's Miss Nan Fullerton, popular and attractive bride-elect being in the center of the social limelight. Beginning with the charming luncheon presided over by Mrs. R. Lea Barnes at the Waverley Country Club, followed almost immediately by the pretty tea for which Miss Katherine Graham was hostess, and closing with the delightful dinner presided over by Miss Virginia McDonough at Alexandra Court, the day was a gala one for the charming little visitor from the north.

At the luncheon, Mrs. Barnes' guests included but a few of the younger set. The tea was pretty and delightful, the hostess being assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. A. B. Graham.

Mrs. Arthur Meares and Miss Genevieve Brooke presided at the samaras, and were assisted by Mrs. Ernest L. Graham, Misses Virginia McDonough, Clementine Lambert, Kate Brasel and Marian Smith. About 45 young matrons and maids called to greet the charming visitor. In the evening, Miss Virginia McDonough was a dinner hostess at Alexandra Court for a number of the young people, also honoring Miss Fullerton.

Another delightful affair of the afternoon was the informal tea for which Mrs. Vernon A. Cartwright was hostess in honor of her cousin, Miss Katherine Grellin, of Oakland, who is the house guest of other cousins, Misses Katherine and Eleanor Gile. The tea was given at the Dan J. Malarky residence, the rooms being gay with vivid-hued garden flowers. Presiding at the attractively decorated table were Mrs. Hallett Maxwell and Mrs. Raymond Holman.

Tomorrow the Misses Gile are arranging a bridge party to honor their house guest, and today she will be honored for the luncheon for which Miss Ruth Neal will be hostess. On Saturday, the Misses Grellin and Mrs. Cartwright, with a charming informal tea, and numerous other affairs will make her visit here interesting and delightful.

The announcement made by the board of directors of the Waverley Country Club to the effect that beginning on Tuesday, Decoration day, the Summer series of dinner dances will be inaugurated, is the source of much pleasure to the younger contingent and the married set, who are devotees of dancing. In fact, plans for Summer entertainment are being revised so as to have the attractive club the mecca for the smart and prominent social gatherings. Dinner parties will be the order of each week-end, as the dinner dances on Saturday nights are about the most popular diversions in Portland society. Next week, due to the holiday, there will be two dances, the formal opening on Decoration day, another one on the following Saturday. To date many reservations for parties have been made and the opening promises to be a brilliant event.

An elaborate reception and dance was given last night at Hotel Portland by the managers of the Ober, to celebrate the opening of their new assembly hall, on the ground floor. The room was elaborately and artistically decked for the occasion, with huge floral bouquets, many of which had been sent by admiring friends and patrons of the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Ober received the guests and a feature of the evening was the artistic musical programme, in charge of Waldemar Lind. Both vocal and instrumental solos were given and orchestral numbers added to the festivities. Dancing and refreshments made the evening a notable one.

Much interest is being evidenced in the last prom to be given by the faculty of the Portland Academy on Friday. Not only will the students and their friends attend this closing function, but the older folk are anxious to participate in the event, as a fitting tribute to the club and the success of the popular and well-known school.

A dance will be the diversion to be given tomorrow night by the Beaman Tennis Club at Vincent Hall, Forty-second and Sandy. Miss Mae A. Norton is chairman of the evening, and members of the club are Mrs. H. E. Eling, Miss Evelyn A. Denholm, Mrs. Ewarta Childs, Harold Doty and William Neil.

Mrs. Romeyn Pierson, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harrison Corbett, for the Summer, will be the guest of Gearhart to chaperon a house party of young people for which Miss Stella Frohman is hostess. The party will be enlarged over Decoration day by a number of popular bachelors. The Frohman cottage is one of the most pretentious at Gearhart.

The Lipman, Wolfe & Company Welfare Association will give their annual shirtwaist stepping party in the Mark Hall ballroom, Saturday evening, their serving on the committee are: Misses Z. Shaffer, B. Garretson, A. Sullivan, I. Sherman, A. Bernstein, M. Beane, V. Gerlach, V. Welch, M. Burgarf, L. Lewis, H. Dedricks, I. Alseben, M. Eidenhoff, H. Flook and Mrs. H. H. Bruckert, J. Remlinger, L. Watson, N. Trezantz and Messrs. M. Sverdluk, W. Crynes, C. Worthington, R. Ward, G. Wolfe, H. Sloane, L. Kirtland, S. Gibbs, F. Blade, J. Conklin, C. Green, B. Bloomberg, E. McFaden.

Much interest centers in the class plays to be given Monday night at the Baker Theater by the 1916 class of St. Mary's Academy and College, assisted by the Treble Triad and string quartet. The performance will start at 8:15 o'clock, the titles of the plays to be "The Princess" and "The Sursagette," the latter a delicious satire. The plays will be sponsored by:

Mrs. Bernard Ahers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Alshoff, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anders, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Appleby, Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. George Bisset, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bodley, Dr. and Mrs. F. Brooks, Miss Margaret Burke, Miss Emma Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Cahill, Mr. and Mrs. Cassim Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. John N. Corbin, M. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas

Cornford, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Condon, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Daly, Mrs. Mary F. Daly, Mr. and Mrs. De la Fontaine, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dooley, Mr. and Mrs. John Drennon, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Twest, Mr. and Mrs. Matt. Ennis, Dr. and Mrs. P. F. Feltow, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fitzgibbon, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gaffney, Hon. John Gearing, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gilhouse, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Glynn, Miss Caroline Gleason, Mrs. P. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. P. Horst, Mr. and Mrs. James Huber, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Humason, J. Hurley, Judge and Mrs. J. W. Kavanagh, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kelly, J. D. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward LaSprance, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Lillis, Dr. Katharine Manning, Mrs. J. B. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. John Manning, Mrs. P. McDonald, Mrs. H. Florence McDonnell, John McEnroe, Mrs. C. McEnroe, Mr. and Mrs. J. McCall, Miss Mary McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McKay, Mr. and Mrs. McNamee, Colonel and Mrs. John Murphy, Miss Corbell, Mrs. B. Ravin, Mr. and Mrs. C. Noon, Mr. and Mrs. George Norton, Mrs. Ellen O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Purney, Dr. and Mrs. William Sully, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Suvie, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Sommer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Florence Sullivan, Mrs. M. D. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Marjorie B. Sunny, Mrs. E. Ulman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wascher, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wiley and Miss Carreeta Wiley.

Mrs. Withycombe has signified their intention of being present, as well as a number of prominent representative Oregon folk.

Miss Helen Wortman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wortman of this city, was graduated with honors yesterday from the Baldwin School at Brim Mawr, Pa. Her mother and brother, Everett, attended the exercises.

Miss Wortman left immediately after the commencement with a party of Philadelphia friends for a few weeks' yachting cruise in the Chesapeake Bay. A week's stay at Annapolis will be included in the itinerary of the merry-makers, and they will attend the graduating exercises of the Naval Academy, returning about July 1.

STYLE TIPS FROM PORTLAND STORES

WHAT about the sports hat? The wary shopper has observed that the shops still contain a seemingly limitless array of them. The truth is that there are not so many as it would seem. Their popularity is too great. There are, of course, sports hats, and other "sports hats." The term has come to mean little save a natty hat that may not be worn to the opera. Every other sort has adopted the title. Recently the leghorn has become a "sports hat," and also a member of the very popular galaxy of the season's choicest styles. The leghorn is so graceful and pliable that its facilities for trimming and bending are unlimited. Some of the new ones are bound in colors. Others have painted or cut-out fruits and flowers on the brim.

The helmet tops are very new. Some have the tops creased or trimmed arranged after the manner of the German soldier's helmet. This type is among the smartest, too. Some of the "Waterland hat" adhere so strictly to their mission as to forsake the wide brim and have a small bit of an edge that is turned down and barely big enough to frame the face.

A number of sports hats for out-of-door fun are straw on top and lined with georgette crepe in some attractive color. Bits of trimming on the outside echo the bright facings.

Quite a number of the fluff, ruffled hats affect a still lazier effect by long dangling velvet ribbon caught to the edge of the brim. That the streamers may add tone and dash is proved by the wide, evenly-brimmed chapeaux that are a study of lines and colors. The bright flowers are made more important by cluster of black velvet ribbon to match the black center of the blossom. Some of the hats of the very large type have a veritable garden on top, and some throw in front and sweep high up in the back.

The women of St. Francis Church announce a card party and parcel post sale to be held in the church hall, East Eleventh and Pine streets, Friday evening at 8:30 P. M. As this is the closing party of the season, hope is expressed that many parishioners will attend, bringing their friends, as a most enjoyable evening is assured to everyone.

A luncheon and a matinee party were the events of yesterday honoring Miss Louise Bradley, whose wedding will be a smart event of Monday. Mrs. John Benson was hostess for the luncheon, and the party later was entertained by Mrs. Percy Smith at the matinee to view the performance of "Cook o' the Walk."

The last meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Association will be held Saturday at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert Tucker, Alexandra Court, with Kappa Kappa Gamma hostesses.

M. J. O'Brien, popular San Franciscan, arrived in Portland yesterday for the purpose of addressing the citizens from an extended trip in the north and while in Spokane was delightfully entertained by prominent society folk.

At the weekly card party of the Laurelhurst Club on Tuesday prizes in excess of $100 were won by Mrs. E. Reid and Mrs. C. Wilson and in bridge by Mrs. E. Nelson and R. S. Wilson. The next party in this series will be held June 2, when Mrs. and Mrs. Edward T. Hall will entertain.

The regular Tuesday afternoon card party has been postponed from Tuesday, May 30, until the next day, Wednesday, May 31. Mrs. J. C. English and Mrs. A. C. McMicken will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Madeline Parish dance, arranged by the young people of the parish for last night, has been postponed until May 31. A large attendance is anticipated.

The May day party to be given at the Altheim today by the women of the German Aid Society at the attractive Altheim, 2001 Division street, this afternoon will be a notable affair. During the afternoon an original musical programme will be given, and a candy booth, presided over by Mrs. H. Eberhardt will add to the festivities. Prominent women are in charge of the tea, and the officers of the society will receive the guests.

The musical programme will be: Piano solo, Miss Elsie Meyer; address, John Reissacher; vocal solo, Miss Hazel Gunther; piano solo, Miss Coomer; recitation, Mrs. C. B. Lehman; piano duet, Mrs. P. Y. Beier and Miss Coomer; vocal solo, Olga Goldberg Griffith; piano solo, Mrs. L. Schmuhl; piano solo, Mrs. M. H. Meyer.

Of the Portlanders attending Miss Harker's school for girls at Fox Alley, Miss Ruth Brunner returned immediately after the commencement May 19, while Miss Katharine Schnabel is enjoying ranch life for a couple of weeks with some of her school chums in San Carlos, also near Santa Barbara. Miss Schnabel is fond of outdoor sports and quite an equestrienne. Both of the girls expect to return to Harker's in the Fall and finish in the coming school year.

One of the largest and most elaborate affairs of today is the military ball to be given tonight at the Armory by Troop A Cavalry, O. N. G. It will be an informal affair, the officers to appear in dress uniforms. Governor and

We are not always willing to acknowledge that perhaps they are not worthy. An honest study of the question, "What am I in search of?" may be of amazing help to us.

It may be a manifestation of life, or something definite. It may clear away false ideals.

So this question, "What am I in search of?" reaches down and grapples vital things. If we consider it candidly and searchingly, we may see that we are making life a sketch without character, as did this student. We may discover that we are not really in search of anything, that we are drifting, leading an aimless life without point or objective. Or we may find upon closer examination that our ambitions are not worthy, that they are not in accord with the just and true. And probing honestly for the truth, we may find the law of our being, the individual expression we should manifest, and thus our place and work. And this means happiness, success, the fulfillment of life in every particular.

Turner's question, "What are you in search of?" applies to more things than picture-making.

WOMAN'S PARTY ACTIVE

State Committee Seeks to Arouse Interest in Convention.

Dr. Florence Manion, state chairman of the Oregon Congressional Union, and members of her committee, are endeavoring to arouse interest in the approaching convention of the Woman's Party, which will be held in Chicago, June 5, 6 and 7.

Of the convention Dr. Manion said yesterday: "It is for the purpose of impressing the dominant political parties with the solidarity of the woman's vote and the necessity of incorporating the National suffrage plank in their platform. All who are in sympathy are asked to send contributions to the state headquarters at 1077 Stevens building."

ITALY EXPECTS INVASION

Austrians Slacken Attack to Reinforce Army.

ROME, via Paris, May 24.—Austrian military activity has been unexpectedly followed by a sudden slackening which is interpreted in military circles here as being necessary to replace the Austrian losses and to bring up fresh troops for a stronger offensive.

"The Austrian command evidently is planning to strengthen the line of attack, as large assemblages of reinforcements continue to be reported along the banks of Lake Garda."

These troops apparently intend to attempt to invade Italy along the northern province of Brescia.

What Are You in Search Of?

THE story is told of Turpin, the artist, that when a certain student brought to him for criticism a sketch that had no special character, he asked, "What are you in search of?" The artist thereupon must be an object of one's work, and one must express that object or his labor was useless.

It is a question many of us might ask ourselves with helpful results.

If we do not seem to be getting anywhere in life, it might be well worth while for us to pause and ask, "What am I in search of?"

This asking will be fruitful in more ways than one.

It may help us to see whether we have any real ambitions, or if we have, just what these ambitions are.

And when we honestly admit them to ourselves and look at them squarely, we may be able to see clearly whether they are worthy or not.

When we have no definite idea of what we are in search of, or when we do not admit fully what our ideals are.
