RENOWNED COMEDIENNE IS AT HEILIG TONIGHT

May Robson to Appear for First Time in This City in New Offering, "The Making Over of Mrs. Matt." Which Has Taken Rank Among Classics.

Her best now. Picturesqueness, feeling and charm being her chief virtues in the rendition of her role, it can only be said that Miss Robson promises a delightful comedy that will be found a refreshing treat both to her auditors and her critics. She, herself, asserts that there will be continued waves of laughter and storms of mirth surging from its beholders, for the entire play is said fairly to scintillate with wit, and Miss Robson's mannerisms and conceptions of true comedy will add much to the amusement of her auditors.

This Picture Illustrates What Long-Term Restrictions Have Done for

Laurelhurst The Addition of Beautiful Homes

Without the protection of proper long-term restrictions, it is impossible to build up a high-class residential district that will maintain its character as time passes.

Business houses, industrial plants, apartment-houses, garages and moving picture theaters have invaded the most exclusive sections of the city, hurting values and destroying the harmonious beauty necessary to the ideal residence tract.

With the growing demand, business houses must encroach upon our residential area; they have no other place to go and in many sections of the city there is nothing to keep them out.

Proper long-term restrictions such as LAURELHURST enjoys, could have prevented all this. Buyers should insist that assurance be furnished that the values of their homes will not deteriorate in the future.

LAURELHURST restrictions run for nearly twenty years to come and cover a tract one mile long and three-quarters of a mile wide, affording great protection.

LAURELHURST has the room, the location and the restrictions necessary to take care of the city's best residential development. Its magnificent thirty-one-acre city park, artificial lake, children's playground and 2 1/2 miles of serpentine boulevards lined with ornamental shade trees, offer a natural charm, a picturesque appeal and challenges comparison with any similar property in the world.

Protect yourself and family by buying your home in LAURELHURST, where you are assured of harmonious development and protection, which will mean constantly increasing values.
