ALEXANDRA COURT rang with merriment last night, as more than 100 gaily attired dancers frolicked through one of the most delightful evenings that the Court has been sponsor for this season. Many dinner parties preceded the monthly dance, one of the largest being presided over by Dr. and Mrs. John Forest Dickson, their guests numbering 24. Covers were placed for Major and Mrs. von Eglafstein, Miss Teal, Miss Genevieve Brooke, Miss Margaret Ayer, Miss Ruth Shull, the hostess, Charles Holbrook, Searles Bragg, Dwight Edwards, Graham Glass, Jr., and Jack White.

Miss Helen Abrahamson, the much-entertained San Francisco visitor, was again honored at a theater party followed by supper and dancing, for which Miss Ruth Rosenfeld was hostess last night. About 14 young people participated in this function, the supper and dance being at the home of the charming hostess in Vista avenue.

Tomorrow afternoon's largest event will be the annual silver tea for the Patton Home to be given by the board of directors and officers of the Home. This is an event that the residents anticipate with considerable pleasure each year, the musical programme being one of the novel features in their lives during the year.

Home-made candy also will be sold during the festivity and the officers will be assisted by a bevy of popular matrons and maids.

Miss Frances Jones, of San Francisco, arrived Tuesday to be the house guest of Miss Annie Mackay Brown for several weeks. Friday night Miss Brown will entertain with an informal bridge party honoring her guest.

Mrs. Harrington is critically ill and will stop at Rochester, Minn., to consult with Mayo Brothers, in regard to Mrs. Harrington, after which they will proceed to their home in Erie, Pa. Dr. Cardwell will take special post-graduate courses in medicine while away.

Miss Tirzah McMillan entertained with a shower on Wednesday, honoring Miss Alta Mansfield-Inman. The guests passed the afternoon hemming table linen for the bride-elect. After refreshments were served a surprise was introduced by a messenger delivering a large box, which contained cooking novelties in aluminum for the bride-elect.

The dining-room was decorated with pink roses. Miss Inman is to be married to Leon Faber about the middle of June, and Miss McMillan will be her maid of honor.

Some Hints for the Spring Bride.

ANY a newly-wed and many a bride-to-be is planning a new home just now. For most of them it is quite a prodigious undertaking; because of lack of experience for some, and for others, because funds are not adequate to desires. For all, when once in the maze of it, there is apt to be a more or less sense of bewilderment and confusion. Those that are not definite things rather than upon a comprehensive survey, simply for the sake of resting somewhere; and so when the house is at last furnished, there are gaps and discrepancies and the household machinery does not run smoothly because there has not been a sufficiently careful and comprehensive study of the new life as a whole, before the details were planned for.

A well-known domestic science teacher gives some useful suggestions along these lines. "When you plan to furnish your new home," she says, "and have just so much money to spend, begin by making two lists; one, of the things you want, and the other of the things you have to have. Cross off from the one and add to the other, and you will get the best results from your money. Should begin with the kitchen. A housewife spends a good share of her time in the kitchen, and she owes it to herself to make it as attractive and easy to work in as possible. "Too many young housekeepers plan their furnishings and homes with a view to what their friends will say about it and not enough attention to the real needs.

"Too many of us start furnishing our homes where our friends will see them first—the front door; and when we get to the kitchen there is nothing left. Not many of us follow these suggestions when planning to furnish, do we? We usually do just the opposite. We think of our living room or parlor first, and of our kitchen last. Many of us call to mind how friends, or neighbors, or some social leader whose factor we are anxious to gain, furnish their homes, and we try to be on a par or to excel. We do not consider first and comprehensively our own needs, our own funds, or our own ideals of living, and make our home fit these solely. We are too apt to furnish some part of our home at least from the viewpoint of "what others will think."

But some such comprehensive view of actual needs is essential to successful home furnishing. The family is to live in the home, not the neighbors. It is going to have a tremendous influence in shaping the lives of its inmates. The food cooked, the manner of serving it, the comfort and attractiveness of the home will all be great factors in determining the happiness that reigns there. These things are far more important than whether the living room is as elegant as Mrs. Blank's across the street, or whether the furniture is Jacobean or Colonial.

It is more essential to study the actual needs and tastes of those who are going to live in the house than it is to know the latest styles in brass beds and cretonnes. And it is more important to spend the furnishing allowance to get the things that are essential to comfort and health than it is to have a few impressive show pieces. This does not mean that the house need not be artistic and charming. Harmonious colors and good taste in the lines of the furniture and of the prints on the walls are not altogether a question of expense. But they are a matter of careful thought. And to get a home that will mean health and comfort and charm means that one must study one's individual problem, and not furnish according to the way others have furnished, and not sacrifice the kitchen and other parts of the home that contribute to the real life of the home, for the sake of those that are only occasional in their service.

TO END CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Par-mint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, cost little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.
