AD CLUB "NOMINATES"

ROOSEVELT AND CHARLIE CHAPLIN ON OPPOSING TICKETS.

Democratic Convention Indorses Taft and Republicans Are for Wilson for President.

"Roosevelt, the man who discovered the waterless river in Brazil," concluded John T. Dougal in his speech nominating a Presidential candidate for the Prohibition party at the mock National convention, held at the Ad Club yesterday in the Oregon Grill.

"Nobody knows how dry I am," sang his supporters lugubriously, and announced as the chief plank in their platform, "to let everybody in free, the favorite of the people."

"The hall resounded with the tooting of steam whistles, while party after party announced its nominee in the programme of political hash."

William Howard Taft was nominated by the Democratic contingent, with no profound apologies for the fact that Taft is a Republican.

"What does it matter?" said the boss of the Democrats. "The Democratic party was primarily responsible for Lincoln's promulgation of the emancipation proclamation and for the secession states rejoining the Union."

"Wodrow Wilson, Republican," went onto the imaginary ballot after the convention of the Republican contingent.

"We want a President," said Judge Morrow, "who can sit up and watch and wait at the same time."

Charley Berg appeared to champion the cause of the Suffragette party, declaring that there had been a man in the Presidential chair too long and that

JUSTICE DEMANDS THAT THE WOMEN GET A TRY.

"We have nominated a candidate who will be able to hypnotize the electorate and get the votes out of it—Anna Eva Fay."

Uncle Joe Cannon was nominated by F. H. Whitfield to carry the red standard of the L. W. W. and Socialists in the campaign.

Fred Spoerl presided over the composite convention. The principals in "Passing Show of 1916 gave several entertainment features before the political burlesque."

COURT SCORES LAX DRIVER

Man Who Let Horse Stand Untied and Pipe Protruding Lectured.

The presence of Roy Glandon in Municipal Court for permitting his horse to stand untied on the street led to the disclosure of the fact that the wagon contained a load of piping, some of which projected far beyond the rear.

Judge Languth took occasion to lecture Glandon on the condition of his cargo, as well as the fact that the horse walked away untended. Serious accidents, the court said, have occurred when other vehicles have driven against the spearlike projecting ends of pipe carried on vehicles.

The club yesterday sent out an invitation to all to join in the East Side division.

BERRY MEN DISAGREE

GOVERNMENT AID TO BE ASKED IN STANDARDIZING PRODUCT.

Manufacturers of Loganberry Juice, Growers' Interests and Officials, Hold Meeting in City.

The Federal Government will be asked to send experts to Oregon, to be in the field this season if possible, and assist in working out a basis on which the output of loganberry juice in the state may effectively be standardized.

The decision to request the Government to send such experts was made yesterday at a meeting of loganberry growers, juice manufacturers, state chemists, and persons interested in loganberry culture, assembled with J. D. Mickie, State Food and Dairy Commissioner, and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce.

While the majority present admitted the necessity of standardization of the loganberry juice output, F. L. Featherston, who was chairman of a standardization committee appointed by the producers, reported radical disagreements as to methods. It was held by most of the producers that an arbitrary standard established at this time, might prove ineffective in the future, and held that the public taste, as manifested over a period of years, probably would be the surest basis on which an ultimate standard might be established. In the meantime, however, it was believed that all possible steps should be taken toward developing some basis of standardization.

The committee will meet again at the call of Mr. Mickie, after the matter has been taken up with the Government.

Those present at the meeting yesterday were: O. L. Ferris, of the Pheasant Brand; O. L. Kempnich, F. W. Schmidt, E. B. Gage and F. L. Featherston, of the Featherston Products Company; J. N. Hoffman, and J.

M. NICHOLS, OF FOREST GROVE; J. O. HOIT, OF THE EUGENE FRUIT GROWERS' COMPANY; G. G. BROWN, OF THE ALBANY FRUIT JUICE COMPANY; C. J. PUGH, OF FALLS CITY, THE PRODUCER OF COMMERCIAL LOGANBERRY JUICE IN OREGON; F. A. BRECK, OF THE BRECK FRUIT JUICE COMPANY; MR. AND MRS. M. E. STOCKER, OF THE HOME PACKING COMPANY, OF GRESHAM; CHARLES HOIT, OF GASTON; F. C. STERN, OF PORTLAND; R. A. TOWNSEND, OF SALEM; G. W. JONES, OF JONES BROTHERS AND COMPANY; F. J. GRANT, OF PORTLAND; STATE FOOD AND DAIRY COMMISSIONER, J. D. MICKIE, AND DAIRY COMMISSIONER, J. D. MICKIE, OF THE LOCAL OFFICE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

"DOPED" ALCOHOL IS USED

Harry Wagner Lands in City Jail Exceedingly Sick and Drunk.

The druggist at the Miller Pharmacy, Third and Couch streets, regarded Harry Wagner with suspicion when he applied for alcohol for external uses only. He doses the bottle liberally with oil of capajuti, affixed a red label "for external use only," and warned the customer. Later Wagner was arrested by Patrolman Amundson and taken to the City Jail drunk and exceedingly sick. Wagner will pay $25 or serve out the time at $2 per day.

Michael McCool and R. H. Press, arrested for drunkenness, are also said to have disregarded the warning of the pharmacist and imbibed alcohol that had been treated with capajuti.

ROSE CONFERENCE SET

DISTRIBUTION DURING FESTIVAL TO BE ARRANGED SATURDAY.

Portland Slogan Will Be Made Good by Having Committees of Women Give Flowers to Visitors.

The committees of women who are to participate in the distribution of roses to visitors during the Rose Festival will meet at the Chamber of Commerce, on the fifth floor, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, for a conference with O. K. Jeffery, of the Rose Festival board; Miss J. A. Jellison, of the Fruit and Flower Mission; Mrs. Isaac Sweet, of the Council of Jewish Women, and Mrs. Alva Lee Stephens, of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mr. Jeffery will outline the plans under which the distribution of the roses is to be carried out.

The purpose is to make the slogan: "For you a rose in Portland grows," real to all the visitors at the Festival, by giving them Portland roses to wear. The committees will be on duty each day from 10 o'clock to 5 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made with the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company for streetcar conductors on all lines to receive roses delivered to them by resident, of the city, beginning Monday, and to bring them in to central stations within the city.

Ed T. Judd, state exhibit agent in the Oregon building, has agreed to allow the use of a part of the exhibit room on the first floor of the building to be used as central headquarters for the rose committee.
