German-American Alliance Denounced. Colonel Roosevelt addressed the largest crowd at the City Club in the afternoon, where he said that neutrality which allowed trampling on American rights could not be tolerated and that there could be no Americans who were not Americans to the core.
"I denounce the German-American

"It is absolutely certain that aggrestion, made in the Mexican note of March 10, the United States government, through error and precipitation, thought that the good intention of the Mexican government was sufficient to authorize it to cross the frontier and without awaiting a formal agreement ordered a large party of Americans to enter Mexico in pursuit of Villa and his party. Because of this the American government made most emphatic protestations that it was acting in good faith and that its only purpose in

Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

in armor-making ineffective.

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

> The Government, in fact, has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer-the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer-a community.

The solution of the public utility problem is regulation of rates.

The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?
