would leave the city to make her home with a sister in Tacoma.

The Tacoma trip never came to pass, for, on the evening of her contemplated departure, her husband was arrested and the woman was detained as a witness. Two days afterward the man was sent to the rockpile.

"This is another example of the urgent need of a detention home for women," declared Judge Langguth. "You will stay with us, Ethel, until you have had time to write to your sister for a ticket to Tacoma," was the order of the court.

To the sate disregarding the petition.

Ben Irwin representing the protestants appeared before the Council to present the petition. He said that the present the petition will nave an oppo to visit the home. The Powoman's Union will occupy this ing until the new home is be solation hospital for contaglous diseases, a tuberculosis hospital and an isolation hospital of Chinese lepers, and therefore they feel they have had their share, without now having the pound.
