

PARTIES FAR APART
ON CONVENTION EVE

Conferences Fail to Bring Agreement of Republican and Progressive Forces.

LEADERSHIP IS LACKING

Older Party Finds Nothing Has Been Arranged Beforehand.

Nomination Before Close of Week Seems Improbable.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Republican and the Progressive National Conventions both assembled tomorrow without any indication that the leaders have found the common ground on which they hoped to establish unity.

Three days or almost constant conferences have failed to bring the Republicans and the Progressives to an agreement on a man for the presidential nomination. A half dozen names, any one of which is acceptable to the Republicans, have been rejected by the Progressives, who have proposed practically no name but Colonel Roosevelt.

The conventions assemble without an outward evidence of a preliminary agreement. Everything indicates that they are far apart.

Leadership Seems Lacking.

Not since the party was born has there been such a lack of cohesive leadership among the Republicans. There never has been a convention for which so little had been arranged beforehand. They plunge into the struggle tomorrow with practically everything undone which hitherto has been done for them in the inner councils of the leaders.

Hughes leaders, remaining confident in their predictions that the Justice will be nominated on an early ballot, were lining up their forces tonight, surveying the effect of the drive on them by the allied favorite sons, and recruiting undared delegates from the latest arrivals.

Progressive leaders, unwilling to say if they could, whether the Colonel would support the Justice, continued to carry on their fight for Mr. Roosevelt as their first choice. George B. Cortright, former member of the Roosevelt Cabinet, arrived today and joined William Loeb, Jr., and George W. L. Meyer, other members of the Colonel's official family, to comprise a Roosevelt steering committee within the Republican convention itself.

Nomination May Be Late.

The Republican managers, pressed by the Progressives to hasten their nominations and disclose their candidate if they hope to bid for Colonel Roosevelt's support and prevent a Progressive ticket from taking the field, have received notice from Senator Smoot that they can expect no nomination in the Republican convention before Friday. Senator Penrose, addressing the Pennsylvania Republican State delegation, today, declared that nomination for President would be made before late on Saturday.

Florida decided today to cast her solid vote for Hughes and to stay with him to the end. A poll of Kansas is reported to give nine votes for Hughes. From New Jersey, Hughes' managers expect to get at least 17 votes; the Rhode Island delegation of 19 is reported solid for Hughes, and substantial gains were claimed in Connecticut and other states.

If a ballot could be taken tonight, the consensus of a several political managers indicated that it would be as follows: Hughes 241, Weeks 160, Roosevelt 88, Cummins 81, Fairbank 76, Easton 70, Sherman 68, Knox 51, Root 42, La Follette 28, scattering 64; total, 932.

This evening delegates from the District of Columbia, who were seated by the National Committee but will take their case before the credentials committee tomorrow.

Hughes' Lead Conceded.

The allies generally conceded that Mr. Hughes was in the lead, but the fact that he occupies this advantageous position was not allowed to stand in the way of their efforts to hold their forces in hand. Their plan is to present an early stampede to the Hughes camp, in the hope that the new element will bring into the situation some new element which would weaken him and promote the prospects of some one of the other candidates.

Much speculation has been indulged in with regard to the effect of a positive announcement from Mr. Roosevelt. No one counts on anything from him favorable to Justice Hughes, but the day rather was characterized by expectation of a declaration contrary to that interest.

Many believe that such an expression would be fatal to Justice Hughes' nomination because, they say, it would mean certain defeat at the polls. Some, however, advocate his nomination even in the teeth of disapproval by the extremists.

Progressive Leaders Embarrassed.

The Progressive leaders are not hiding the fact that they are embarrassed by lack of funds for the campaign. They fear that they cannot delay a nomination in their convention until after the Republicans have acted. When told of this situation, Republican managers have bluntly replied that this predicament is the Progressives' own affair.

It developed today that there is a growing disposition to evolve a conventional ticket.

Today And A Generation Hence

The flight of time makes us think of the future. The baby of today reflects what greatness may be acquired when he grows up. And any influence that brings relief to the expectant mother is the first and greatest of obligations.

There is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend" that has been a safeguard, helpful daily influence, to a host of women. Applied externally, it soothes the muscles they become pliant, they stretch without undue pain, there is an absence of distress, the nerves are soothed by taking away the burden of leaving all to just natural conditions.

There is in "Mother's Friend" the direct and immediate help that all expectant mothers require. Used by their own hand, guided by their own minds, they learn at once the blessed relief from morning sickness resulting from undue stretching. They experience daily calm and nighty rest. It is indeed "Mother's Friend." Get a bottle today, any drugist. Then write Bradford Regulator Co., 419 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for one of the most entertaining and valuable little books ever presented. It is worth writing for.

ervative progressivism, as opposed to the extremely radical elements which would do everything for conscience' sake and nothing for expediency. The former element, composed largely of the business men, are inclined to continue the efforts to bring about an affiliation with the Republicans. The other elements demand the acceptance of Colonel Roosevelt as the only basis for compromise. They go so far as to say that even if Mr. Roosevelt should endorse the candidacy of such a man as Justice Hughes, the Progressives would proceed with their convention and nominate, not Colonel Roosevelt, but some other leader, for instance, Governor Johnson or Gifford Pinchot.

PRE-CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

Sergeant-at-Arms Removes Chicagoan From Doorkeeper's Job—William B. McKinley in Prophet's Role—Detectives Gathered to Protect Convention Crowds.

CHICAGO, June 6.—(Special).—Sergeant-at-Arms Stone led his eye-wanderer over the doorkeepers at the Coliseum today until he observed Duke Merritt, veteran doorkeeper, giving the glad hand to Senators, millionaires and other worthies at the doors of the National Committee room.

"That a Chicago man!" exclaimed Stone.

"Promote him to an inside job at once," said Stone. "I can't have any of these popular Chicago fellows at the doors. I've got some good Maryland leads who want to be taken care of."

Thereupon Stone appointed Edward J. Styles, of Baltimore, to that job. Styles was a doorkeeper eight years ago. Martin A. Zeun, of Baltimore, was another man who got authority.

"No chance for a Chicago man at the doors," commented Tom Falpin, who is doing the cerberus act in front of the Stone door. "I've been around conventions 20 years, and I never saw a local man appointed to a door job yet. Reason? Why, just imagine one of us at a door and all our friends coming up to get in. No, there's no chance for a Chicago man."

Everybody tips his hat to William B. McKinley, the shrewd, astute politician from downstate. "Smiling Bill" has an enviable reputation as a prophet.

"You just listen to what Mistah McKinley says, and you will get the truth," said Senator colored delegate, solemnly. "Mistah McKinley picked Jim Sherman for Vice-President when they no mo' knew who they was goin' to pick a rabbit. He picked Mr. Taft for de nomination, and he was right."

"Whom does he now pick?"

"He says Mistah Sherman from this year state is goin' to win," he replied.

"And are you going to vote that way?"

"Ah dunno; mebbe," he replied, grinning. "Ah respects Mistah McKinley's judgment."

With kind forethought the Chicago police department has arranged a hospitable reception for visiting pickpockets and confidence men during convention week. Twenty detectives from large cities in the United States have arrived to watch the crowds for crooks.

"There are detectives from New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Buffalo, San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, New Orleans, Albany and Indianapolis," said Chief Healey. They reported to me this morning and were assigned to regular service under Detective Charles L. Larkin.

The men know practically every crook outside of Chicago, and we think, with our men, will be able to protect the convention crowds."

The Burton headquarters are in the Elizabethan room at the Congress. Queen Elizabeth never got married. Neither did Senator Burton, so that is why Maurice Maschke picked out that room for his leader's headquarters. There is a man named Thomas E. Laughhead at the door of the room—tall, gray haired and handsome. He is not a politician, but at losing the justly famous cow's brother-in-law around by the tail he has any politician that ever lived tied to the post. He is a railway conductor, and runs out of Pittsburgh on the Pennsylvania Limited. He has been coming to the National conventions for 10 years. He has been looking for a job or anything; he just comes for the fun of it.

Bellboys rushed through the Congress Hotel lobby thrusting cards into the hands of the assembled crowd. The first read: "No wise man ever buys a bell until he hears it ring." Five seconds later came this: "Better be sure than sorry." Then, just as the interest of all was awakened, came the last: "Vote for Theodore Roosevelt."

STATE DELEGATION
BOUNDED TO SECRECY

Washington Members Take Vow When Internal Dissensions Are Made Public.

HUGHES GETS 2 CONVERTS

Root Supporters May Switch Also. Oregon Progressives in Favor of Harmony, if Republicans Nominate Agreeable Man.

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, June 6.—(Special).—The Washington delegation avowed because reports of internal dissension have become public, met today and adopted a resolution binding to secrecy every member of the delegation. Every delegate pledged himself to refrain from talking with newspaper men.

No sooner was this done than the delegation resolved the fight that has broken out between Ed Sims and National Committeeman Perkins, on the one hand, and Sims and Charles F. Lund on the other.

Sims and Perkins are at loggerheads. Each aspires to control the delegation and to be recognized as the Republican leader in the state of Washington. Perkins is not for Weeks. He believes Weeks is a weakling. Sims hitched up to the Washington standard when he was in Washington last winter and promised to deliver the 14 votes to Weeks, and he is now unable to make good. He blames Perkins in a large measure for his failure.

Weeks Sentiment Not Found.

The Sims-Lund row is over the effort of the former to force the adoption of the unit rule.

Sims today called for a further report from his "snooping" committee, appointed by the National Committee. He said that it had discovered nothing new. It failed utterly to report a growing sentiment for Weeks; in fact, could report that Weeks had made any progress, or that he had a chance for the nomination. When this report was submitted, the delegation decided the committee was of no further value and its activities were brought to a close.

The delegation then adjourned. Later on representatives of the Hughes boosters got hold of several members of the Washington delegation who have been slated up to this time as for Root and Sims. This was a blow to both Perkins and Sims.

When the delegation met again tonight and news was counted, it was found that eight Washington delegates are for Hughes, four for Root and two for Weeks. The further information was elicited that if Hughes continues to gain strength among the delegates generally, that the remaining four Root men will swing to Hughes, leaving only Taylor as his only follower.

The Washington delegates, except Sims and Taylor, are showing signs of having had the rumbly of the bandwagon. What is more, they have been bearing from home that the vote in Oregon is a reflection of sentiment in Washington.

The swing from Root to Hughes is a particular blow to National Committeeman Perkins, who has been for Root since he is unable to hold his forces against the strong Hughes tide, and another day may find his whole Oregon following Hughes.

Washington delegates in a frame of mind to disregard the leaders altogether and vote the sentiments of the people of the state.

Dr. Coe Is Committeeman.

The Oregon delegation to the Progressive convention met and organized today. Dr. Henry W. Coe was made National Committeeman. David L. Povey is chairman of the delegation and member of the committee to notify the Presidential nominee; Paul H. Buchholz is chairman of the committee on resolutions and order of business; Emmett Callahan is on permanent organization and committee on resolutions; and Charles E. Clark is on the delegation as a member of the committee on resolutions and order of business; Emmett Callahan is on permanent organization and committee on resolutions; and Charles E. Clark is on the delegation as a member of the committee on resolutions and order of business.

The Oregon delegates are hopeful that a programme of harmony may be worked out and think no move should be made by the Republicans until they hear from the Republican convention. They are, in other words, disposed to view the Republican candidate, and size him up according to Progressive standards, and if he proves the right type of man standing for the principles they endorse, they hope a way can be found to unite the two factions, and present a solid opposition to the Republicans.

Union of Parties Is Hope.

"If all the delegations were situated as we are in Oregon," said Dr. Coe tonight, there would be no trouble about getting harmony. We in Oregon can get together, and want to get together. But we feel the next move is up to the Republicans. What the outcome of the Progressive convention will be, Dr. Coe would not venture to predict.

National Committeeman Ingersoll, of Idaho, and Chairman Sheridan, of the Idaho Progressive delegation, have gone over to the radicals, bow and scrape demanding a break with the Republicans, preferring to see Wilson elected, rather than to join with the Republicans in supporting a candidate mutually acceptable. The Idahoans are advocating wreck and ruin.

KITCHENER LOS TWITH SHIP

Iteration of Sir Francis Grenfell, he was appointed Sirdar (Commander) of the Egyptian army. His really great career dates from that time.

The Kitchener campaign that ended with the recapture of Khartum was considered by military experts as perfectly organized and faultlessly conducted. The fight at Omdurman, September 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartum, was the greatest battle in Kitchener's time in Egypt. Some 12,000 British troops, and a grant of $150,000. Shortly afterward he was promoted Lieutenant-General and then Chief of Staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts' return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as Commander-in-Chief in that field. By conducting a 1500-mile chain of blockhouses, he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home, and he was rewarded by the title of Viscount, promotion to the rank of general for distinguished services, the thanks of the Parliament and a grant of $250,000.

Immediately after the peace General Kitchener went to India as Commander-in-Chief of the British forces there. During all the years the British people had looked on Kitchener's silent, but effective work, they were unable to fathom his personality. A cockney non-commissioned officer, who had seen much service under him, thus wrote of him: "He was a man who was not a talker. Not 'im. 'E's all steel and 'i'ce."
