Bankers, doctors, plumbers, postmasters, music teachers, Sheriffs, expert title men, optometrists, osteopaths and veterinarians from all over Oregon are giving to the Rose Festival a variety in and numbers of conventions which other carnival years have not most comprehensively and most effec-tively conserve the peace of the stata. For instance, the establishment of the Bertillon system in every county in Oregon is one of the things to be acted on. How best to systematize the ap-prehension of automobile thieves to the end that such thefts might be mini-mized, if not stopped, will be discussed.

The meeting is the result of a sug-testion by the Washington State Sher-ffs' Association, which met in Walla Walla in April and adopted a resolu-tion urging the organization of the Oregon peace officers. A committee was named by the former—Sheriffs E. was named by the former—Sheriffs Is.
