PATRIOTISM.

We are asked a number of questions by a correspondent whose communication appears elsewhere today...

Let us first agree on the meaning of the word "patriotism." Some men think they love their country...

It may be that these are few, but they are many. And some candidates heed clamor more than they do the swift, strong, silent current of real public opinion...

Attractive as it may seem to be in theory, growing a candidate of active principles or attar, extensively employed in perfume manufacture...

Very often there appears in agricultural exchanges inquiries from persons who contemplate a venture in the dairy business as to the best breed of cows to purchase...

prices," too, are artificial. The normal selling price in American jobbing centers is likely to be nearer $12 an ounce than the $40 an ounce quoted by businessmen as a basis for figuring profit in the industry.

Free speech and the free press are attacked from two different angles in the United States and Great Britain.

PEOPLE PAY THE BILL.

Mr. Thomas K. Campbell, member of the Public Utilities Commission, has made a significant statement concerning both the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company and the growth and prosperity of the city.

When the Serbian armies, beaten and battered after having held out for months against insuperable odds, were driven from Serbia, the British thought that it had heard the last of the most heroic force since the days of Sparta...

THE UNIVERSITY'S FORTY YEARS.

The best asset of a state is a high quality of citizenship is the truth upon which a few public-spirited citizens of Eugene acted when they started the movement which resulted in the University of Oregon.

THE TWO PLATFORMS.

The platform adopted by the Republican convention at Chicago is a plain, straightforward declaration of the manner in which Republican principles should be applied to the present situation of the nation.

CHOOSING ROSES FOR THEIR OIL.

Attractive as it may seem to be in theory, growing a candidate of active principles or attar, extensively employed in perfume manufacture...

BATTLESHIP DESCRIBED BY JOB

Promise of Coming Leviathan Given to Man 3400 Years Ago.

PORTLAND, June 10.—(To the Editor.)—With battleships in the harbor and a carnival on, I should like to have attached to a description of a modern armored battleship found in a book you have in your library that was written 3400 years ago...

STUDY OF GRAMMAR DEFENDED

Writer Makes Plea to Retain "Formality of Language."

PORTLAND, June 9.—(To the Editor.)—I note in an afternoon paper that "grammar is in a bad way" and that some "Educator" (D. Rowland) has condemned it.

PATRIOTS ALREADY IN MAJORITY.

Writer Observes no Danger, Regardless of Convention's Choice.

PORTLAND, June 9.—(To the Editor.)—In the Oregonian, June 7, I read an editorial in which the remarks made by Justice Hughes to a graduating class in Washington, D. C., were quoted.

WHITE SPACE IS STOGIN IN TRADE

Free Publicity Is Expensive to Newspaper Publisher.

A New York ship-news reporter once interviewed John McCormack, the Irish tenor, on the latter's arrival in London. The singer's mind was on the voyage he had been asked to sing at the Royal Albert Hall.

THAT VICE DIVINE.

Flirtation is an evil stunt.

IN OTHER DAYS.

Twenty-five Years Ago. From The Oregonian June 10, 1891.

A peculiar accident disturbed the quiet and composure of Sunday at Pendleton. A church was being moved across the railroad track, when just as it was squarely on the track, a train came along, carrying an open train car struck the church amidst a shower of course splitting it open.

Ottawa.—The body of Sir John Macdonald, late premier, is lying in state at the Senate Chamber. Sir John Tupper is expected to be the most likely successor.

From London it is dispatched that Buffalo Bill's success at Brussels has been phenomenal. He is about to enter England. The German Emperor and Empress also will soon go to London for a visit, and will take with them a suite of 60, accommodations for which are taxing the ingenuity of the managers of the city.

The comedy "Checkmate" and the farce "Not It, Know It" given by the Choral and Dramatic Union at the Marquon Grand Monday night was re-hearsed by Mrs. Nina Larkow, who also attended to the stage management.

London.—The suit for libel instituted by Sir William Glynne, against the Rev. Canon Glynne, went to the jury this morning. That body after being out 15 minutes rendered a verdict by which the Rev. Canon was held to be guilty of libel.

WINE FOR SACRAMENT NOT MEANT

Mrs. Unruh Says "Prohibitionists Do Intend to Prevent Use."

PORTLAND, June 9.—(To the Editor.)—The report of the Woman's Prohibition Club meeting held in the Public Library this week, while absolutely correct, was not entirely correct in its idea in one particular.

CAT BEFRIENDED AGAIN.

PORTLAND, June 9.—(To the Editor.)—After reading an article of great length, on June 5, on the cat subject, I would like again to defend the cat: a cat is called a disease-carrying pest, but as a child a cat was my companion, and we were not afflicted with any disease since that time.

Happy All Day.

I knew a man who does what he can. Who works and has little to say; Not much on the dress, but his steps were light and his name is "Happy all day."

That Vice Divine.

Flirtation is an evil stunt. I like it; Policemen for the masquerade; I like it; It gets you into prison cast; If on the corner you stand; And I lamp the girls as they go past; I like it. ROBERT B. P.
