RAIN SPOILS TOTS' PARADE

Piedmont Children Are to Have Celebration Tonight Instead.

Piedmont youngsters were disappointed yesterday when the sun hid and spoiled their parade. The event will occur tonight instead.

Approximately 75 children, with flower-decked miniature vehicles and a few pets with novel decorations, will be in the parade which will begin at Rodney avenue and Highland street, go east on Jessup to Mallory avenue, north on Mallory to Highland, west on Highland to Cleveland, south on Cleveland to Jarrett.

At the end of the parade the children will assemble and have an ice cream cone party.

FOURTH PLANS DUBIOUS

QUESTION BOTHERING COMMITTEE IS AVAILABILITY OF GUARDSMEN.

Meeting Will Be Held at Press Club Today, and Arrangements for Fireworks Go Ahead.

Just what the mobilization of the Oregon National Guard will do to the plans for a big old-time Fourth of July celebration in Portland will be considered at a meeting this afternoon of the general arrangements committee. The meeting will be held at 5 o'clock at the Portland Press Club.

The National Guard has been counted upon as the big feature of the celebration, the Guardsmen being scheduled for the military parade and for a big military tournament at Multnomah Field. Whether or not the Guard might be counted upon if it is mobilized at Clackamas is a question which will be taken up this morning with Adjutant-General White.

Reports from sub-committees are to the effect that arrangements for the programme and for the finances are progressing satisfactorily. Reports from all sub-committees will be heard at today's meeting.

Headquarters for the committee were established yesterday at the Press Club, with Joseph M. Rieg in charge. All business will be handled from there from now on.

A committee appointed recently to provide a fireworks programme has laid plans for a big river display in the form of a naval battle. It is planned to build a warship and float it into the harbor as a target for the guns of the cruiser Boston. It is planned also to have a German taube fly over the ship and drop bombs. When the boat has been blown up it will take fire and the fireboats will get into action.

Henry B. Van Dusen, of the Inman-Poulsen Lumber Company, has called a meeting of managers of lumber companies in an effort to obtain contributions of the lumber needed to build the ship.

SUICIDE ENDS MELANCHOLY

Young Man Shoots Self While Ill at Mother's Home.

William Frienwald, aged 25, concluded a case of acute melancholia, by suicide at the home of his mother, Mrs. Augusta Kirby, 132 Sumner street, yesterday forenoon at 10:25. He shot himself with a high-power rifle.

The report of the rifle was heard by his mother, who hastened to her son's room. She found his body, fully dressed, stretched upon the floor. Deputy Coroner Smith investigated and conveyed the body to the public morgue.

The young man had been engaged in broom manufacturing at Tacoma, Wash., where he was partner in a factory. Several weeks ago he manifested signs of a nervous breakdown and his partner wrote to the mother, in this city, recommending that her son return home for a rest. He had been here two weeks.

SCHOLARSHIP IS AWARDED

Paul E. Billeter Is Selected by Albee Fund Trustees.

Paul E. Billeter, of 894 East Tenth street, is to get the George Albee scholarship for the coming semester of either the Oregon Agricultural College or the University of Oregon. He was selected yesterday by the trustees of the George Albee fund.

The fund was established by Mayor Albee from savings of his son, George Albee, who died while a student at Jefferson High School. The Mayor put the savings into a scholarship fund to send deserving Jefferson High School students to college each year. During the last semester Elsworth Ricketts had the scholarship, and attended Oregon Agricultural College. The scholarship is for choice of the two state institutions.

BOULEVARD TO BE FIXED

City Ready to Take Over Willamette Drive.

Formal proceedings for the taking over as a city street of Willamette boulevard between Ida street and Richmond street will be started by the City Council tomorrow. The city recently asked the Board of County Commissioners to relinquish the county's rights to the road and this has been done.

The boulevard is all within the city but part of it has never been taken over as a city street. As soon as it is taken over the city will assume the maintenance. Some repairs are necessary.

ARSON VERDICT FOUND

JURY TAKES ONE HOUR 50 MINUTES TO CONVICT C. M'DANIELS.

Accomplices Testify Against Man Brought in by Union Leaders in Shingle Mill Strike.

Charles McDaniels, who confessed on the witness stand to coming to Portland in 1915 at the instance of labor leaders to "unionize" the University shingle mill of the L. B. Menefee Lumber Company, was found guilty of an attempt to commit arson by a jury in the court of Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday. Sentence will be pronounced in a few days.

Hugh Priest and Thomas Patterson, now serving a penitentiary sentence for arson, were brought from Salem to testify against McDaniels, who admitted bringing the two men from Port Angeles, Wash.

The prosecution, handled by Deputy District Attorneys Collier and Hindman, contend that Priest and Patterson may have done the actual firing of the mill by the use of phosphorus, but that McDaniels superintended the job and tried to save himself by "double-crossing" his partners at the eleventh hour by giving information against them to the foreman of the mill, H. J. Poitras.

The defense was that McDaniels refused to take part in the plan of labor leaders when arson was hinted and warned the mill foreman. As a witness, McDaniels implicated J. G. Brown, of Seattle, president of the Shingle Weavers' Union, and C. J. Folsom, labor organizer of Seattle, in the alleged attempt to compel the mill to employ more union men.

The jury went out at noon yesterday and returned with its verdict at the end of one hour and 50 minutes.

Firing a building by daylight is a parolable crime, and Judge McGinn has taken under consideration the advisability of extending a parole to McDaniels.
