

RUSSIANS, CHECKED ONCE, RUSH FORWARD

Teutons Cut Way Through Line and Are Captured—Prisoners Total 170,000.

AUSTRIAN ARMY IS SPLIT

One Section in Flight South Along Rumanian Border and Other Is Fleeing Into Carpathians. Victory Due to Lessons.

PETROGRAD, via London, June 20.—On the northern flank of General Brusilov's front the Austrian resistance, considerably stiffened by the arrival of a large number of German reinforcements, has succeeded in checking the Russian drive between Lutsk and Kovel, which, directed against Vladimir-Volynski, aims at destroying the Austrian communications between Kovel and Lemberg. But in spite of the violent Austro-German counter attacks, one of which broke through the Russian lines, the latest reports are to the effect that the Russians have again resumed progress in this sector, after taking the usual toll of prisoners.

On the southern flank the Austrians have been unable to check even momentarily the Russian advance toward Kolomea and toward the final Dniester fortification of Halich.

General Pfanzler, the Austrian commander, apparently is paying the penalty for having too long delayed his retirement from Czernowitz and his army, now cut in two, is reported to be in precipitate flight, one part along the Rumanian frontier and the other into the Carpathians.

Turning from Czernowitz, General Letchitsky's forces are pressing their flank attack further north and have reached a point in town, some 20 to 30 miles to the northwest of Czernowitz. Russian military critics consider it unlikely that the Austrians will be able to hold the Zlota Lipa line, but will be forced back upon Halich.

The separate Russian movements now are showing a strongly centralized tendency. There are three converging lines of advance, the common objective of which is Lemberg. The first of these lines is approaching Vladimir-Volynski, the second Brody, the third Halich. The capture of any one of these towns would place the Galician capital in a position of great danger.

The total number of prisoners taken by the Russians now is estimated at 75,000.

"The speedy successes we have attained represent the application of all the lessons we have learned in two years of bitter war," said General Brusilov. "In every movement, great or small, that we made this winter we have been studying the best methods of handling the new problems which modern warfare presents."

"At the beginning of the war, and especially last summer we lacked the preparations which the Germans had been making for the past 50 years. Personally I was not discouraged, for my faith in the Russian character was an enduring one. I was convinced that, given the munitions, we should do exactly as we have done in the past two weeks."

"On our entire front the attack began at the same hour. It was impossible for the enemy to concentrate his forces from one quarter to another, as our attacks were being pressed equally at all points."

"The most important fighting has been in the sector of Rovno. Here we have made our greatest advances, which are striking seriously at the strategy of the whole of the enemy's front in the east."

"If we are able to take Kovel, there is every reason to believe that the whole eastern front will be obliged to fall back, as Kovel is really the center which has been extraordinarily useful for intercommunication between the Germans and Austrians."

French. PARIS, June 20.—Three German attacks made last night on the French front northwest of Hill No. 21, were repulsed by the fire of the French machine guns, according to an official statement issued today by the War Office.

The Germans are heavily bombarding the French positions in the neighborhood of Vaux, Chapitre and Chantancourt.

The text of the statement says: "The German forces delivered three attacks last night upon our positions northwest of Hill No. 21, but all their efforts were broken by our curtain of fire."

"The bombardment has been intense in the region of the woods of Vaux and Chapitre and in the sector of Chantancourt."

"In the Vosges a surprise attack of the enemy upon an advanced camp in the region of Michelbach failed."

WILSON ASK 2 DREADNOUGHTS

Four Battle Cruisers Included in Amendment to Be Urged on Senate.

NAVY WANTS 87,000 MEN

Present Number Is 54,000, While 74,700 Are to Be Needed Immediately to Put Reserve Warships in Commission.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A building programme of at least four battle cruisers and two dreadnoughts and an increase of 20,700 men in the Navy enlisted personnel were agreed on at a White House conference on the provisions which the Administration will ask the Senate to include in the pending naval bill. As passed by the House the measure provides for only five capital ships, all battle cruisers and for a personnel increase of only 11,000 men.

Secretary Daniels, Chairman Tillman, of the Senate naval committee, and Senator Swanson, another majority committee member, went over the building and personnel questions carefully with President Wilson and it was said afterward that work will be started immediately to write into the bill the increases agreed on. The Senate committee appointed Senators Tillman, Swanson and Lodge to draft the necessary amendments.

While the Administration will insist vigorously on an increase in the building programme, Secretary Daniels indicated tonight that he could not consent to any compromise by which the personnel increases would be sacrificed.

The Secretary's asking officers also had written to Chairman Tillman, pointing out the necessity for more men to meet the increased responsibilities of the Navy in Mexican and other Southern waters.

"Owing to the immediate and unexpected need for enlisted men to keep in commission and to place in commission ships which are ordinarily kept in reserve with reduced crews and fully to meet all ships," wrote the Secretary, "I recommend that there be incorporated in the pending naval appropriation bill a provision establishing the enlisted strength of the Navy at 74,700 men and authorize the President to increase the number to 87,000 when in his judgment it is a complete state of preparedness. The increase to 74,700 from the 54,000 now enlisted is the number recommended by the general board."

The Secretary announced that a provision authorizing the promotion of a number of higher ranking officers also would be asked of Congress.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Eight members of the Photo Engravers' Board of Trade were indicted by a county grand jury today, charged with combining in restraint of trade to raise the price of engraving in certain lines from 40 to 150 per cent. The District Attorney's office some time ago began prosecution of the trade.

The grand jury indicted: Edward Epstein, H. L. Walker, A. W. Morley, Jr., George M. Gill, M. J. Colgan, Western conference as well as Stuedel and Adolph Schents. Their counsel agreed to arrange for their appearance in court.

GOVERNORS MAY NOT MEET

Mexican Situation Causes Inability of Mr. Withycombe to Attend.

SALEM, Or., June 20.—(Special.)—Because of the Mexican situation and the necessity that he should remain in Oregon, Governor Withycombe announced tonight that he would be unable to attend the Western Governors' conference scheduled for Salt Lake City on June 25. Governor Withycombe is secretary of the conference.

The Governor said that in view of the sudden seriousness of the Mexican trouble it was not probable that the Western Governors' conference, scheduled immediately following the Western conference, would be indefinitely postponed.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 20.—(Special.)—Under control of his machine because of a defective brake, a small car owned by James Wayland, a salesman, and occupied by Mrs. Wayland and three children of Mrs. Jake Yokum left the grade on Roberts Mountain late Sunday and plunged down the abutting embankment for a distance of about 35 feet. As the machine started down the grade women and children jumped and escaped unhurt.

'OTHER GIRL' IS NEXT. Jury in Orpet Case Excluded From Courtroom. TONE OF LETTERS VITAL. State's Attorney Declares Missives Ardent, Jealous, Then Grow Cold and in Each Reference Is Made to Illicit Relations. WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 20.—Celestia Yonker, the "other girl" in the case of William H. Orpet, university student charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, is expected to take the witness stand tomorrow. Much of today's testimony concerned statements alleged to have been made by Orpet to lawyers, policemen and newspaper reporters just before and immediately following his arrest. The admissibility of much of it was questioned and the witnesses in many instances were interrogated while the jury was excluded from the room. Its members were brought back to hear the admissible portions. It was excluded when State's Attorney Dady sketched the purported contents of the letters from Orpet to Marion. Last summer they were ardent and jealous in tone. They complained because Marion addressed him as "Dear" instead of "Dearest," and in nearly every one reference was made to illicit relations. There was a lapse in the series while Orpet was at home in Lake Forest, Ill., during the summer. When he returned to the University of Wisconsin at Madison in the Fall the tone of the letters was cooler. State's Attorney Dady remarked, Marion was no longer "Dearest," but merely "Dear Marion," and the young man who a few months before had been watching the mail for her letters to him was now constantly apologizing for not writing to her. Judge Donnelly took the matter of admissibility under advisement. The last of the letters, written January 22, said that he would call her up on February 8 and would see her the next day. According to previous testimony, Marion had for some time been curious to know whether reports of Orpet's engagement to Miss Yonker were true, but it is said to have told two of her girl friends that she didn't know whether she would see him. She did, however. Her body was found in the snow of Heim's Woods the next day. It Creates a Craving for Drink That Is Stronger Than the Will Power to Resist.
