

DEMOCRATS TAKEN TO TASK BY MOORES

Shortcomings of Wilson Administration Reviewed by Republican Chairman.

PLEDGES ARE REPUDIATED

Foreign Policy Is Held Weak and Treatment of Mexican Question Scored—State Central Committee to Meet July 8.

What may properly be designated as the first shot in the local political campaign was fired yesterday when Charles B. Moore, Republican state chairman, issued a formal call for the meeting of the state committee at the Imperial Hotel in Portland at 1 P. M. Saturday, July 8.

Mr. Moore took occasion, in calling the committee into action, to deliver a terrific broadside against the Democratic administration. He reviewed briefly some of the Democratic shortcomings that have been brought most glaringly to public prominence in the last four years and pointed out that the progressive legislation, such as the currency bill, the income tax and other acts for which the Democrats loudly claim credit really was initiated and put into effect by the Republicans.

Mr. Moore's call, in full, follows: To the Members of the Oregon Republican State Central Committee: There will be a meeting of the newly-elected members of the Oregon Republican State Central Committee at the Imperial Hotel in Portland, Ore., on Saturday, July 8, 1916, at 1 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of organizing for the ensuing campaign, and for the transaction of such other business as may be properly brought before the committee.

The two great wings of the Republican party are again practicing unity. In 1912 more than 1,500,000. Under the leadership of two such splendid leaders as Charles B. Moore and Fabrice they propose to make effective their combined strength in the coming campaign by relieving the burdensome incubus of a Democratic administration.

Four years ago Bryan went to Baltimore specifically instructed in the Democratic primaries of Nebraska to support Charles D. Miller for the Presidency. He repudiated his instructions under the pretense that Clark was the candidate of Tammany Hall and the boss, and supported Wilson.

In June, 1915, Mr. Bryan, as a reporter, looks on from the press box at the Charles Murphy, of Tammany Hall, having just secured the best Federal appointment in New York, joins hands with Charles Murphy and Roger Sullivan and Tom Tarsant and Cushman Bill Stone, and in the presence of the single-term pledge of 1912 by renouncing Wilson.

In 20 columns of language, embodying the classic lot of political bunk that was ever flished from the pages of a dictionary, Governor Martin Glynn, of New York, and Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, assure the assembled delegates that, among the said and other wonderful things, all set forth in detail, Woodrow Wilson, "has fastened the burden of justice upon the wheels of power, and has lifted the mists from the temple where our liberties are ensnared."

In the Democratic platform adopted they "challenge comparison of their record, and their keeping of pledges, with those of any party of any name."

Their 1912 platform told us "our pledges are made to the people, and we are as well as relied upon during the campaign."

Single-Term Promise Doctored. Woodrow Wilson told us in his 1912 campaign "our platform is not a mass of catch phrases. It means business. It means what it says."

Among other things it pledged Woodrow Wilson to the principle of a single term, and Woodrow kept his pledge by writing a confidential letter three months after his election to Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, urging him to defeat the resolution of the Senator Cummins calling for a constitutional amendment providing for a single term.

That platform directed the Democratic National Committee to require all expressions of preference for a Presidential candidate to be made in a Presidential primary.

It denounced all attempts to deprive the states of reserved rights, or enlarge the powers of the Federal Government.

It demanded free tolls for all coastwise vessels using through the Panama Canal. It called for a rigid and honest enforcement of the tariff laws, or else resign the powers of the Federal Government.

It pledged the protection of both the life and the property of American citizens residing, or doing business, in any foreign country.

Wilson Ignores Pledges. Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party have crossed and repudiated every single one of these pledges.

That platform denounced "the profligate waste of money and the lavish appropriations of recent Republican Congresses," and "demanded a more economical and efficient economy which betters a democratic government, and a reduction in the number of useless offices."

Senator Borah, in a recent utterance, tells us how this plank has been redeemed in the following words: "We are spending $200,000,000 annually in excess of the expenditures of those who preceded us. We have created more offices and provided for more salaries during two and one-half years than the Wilson Administration than during the last 100 years in the history of the Government for the last 20 years. We already have over 800,000 Federal employees, and this Administration has passed laws that in their ultimate working will call for $2,000 more. We could save $200,000,000 annually and get better service."

Pence Not Due to Wilson. "Wilson has kept us out of the war" is the rankest pretense of the Democratic de-ness. Who has kept out Sweden, Norway, Holland, Switzerland, Portugal, Spain, Greece and Roumania? Debauched upon every side, the Kaiser has the business he can attend to at home and he has neither the power nor the disposition to make war upon us. Wilson has had plenty of opportunity with keeping us out of war with Germany as Bryan or Henry Ford. No President could have done less than he has done in his vacillating and equivocal course. Bernstorff, the German ambassador in London, Secretary Lansing have been the real factors in the whole controversy. Conditions which none of them could control have made war with us impossible.

Mexican Policy Denounced. Woodrow Wilson has not only kept us out of war, but he has also kept us out of our whole history who has by his personal interference involved us in a war with a foreign power. Who set in motion the series of events that have ended in the recent call to arms? When, over three years ago, Madero and Laurocin had been assigned, Florida succeeded to the undisputed control of the national palace in Mexico. He had the Mexican Congress and Mexican courts back of him. He was recognized by 20 nations, including all, or nearly all, of the great powers. He was a trained soldier, educated in the military schools of Mexico, with the desire and the ability, if not the will, to restore tranquility.

The President deliberately intervened in the interest of the stubborn, conceited and thick-witted Carranza, and two irresponsible and roving bandits and outcasts, Villa and Zapata. An embargo was placed upon the shipment of arms to Mexico, and everything was done to destroy his credit abroad, the shipment of arms to Villa, the unspcakable Villa, was permitted and these weapons were afterwards used to kill American citizens.

This all ended in the destruction of the last responsible government in Mexico, and the establishment of anarchy and the last three years. No one will undertake to impeach the integrity or the patriotic motives of the President, but we are engaged in war, every patriotic citizen will support the United States Government and Democratic sophistry can ever palliate or excuse a course that so aggravated conditions and brought such a terrible result.

Best Measures of Republican Origin. All of the crowning achievements of the Wilson Administration have been measures of Republican origin. Nothing saved us in 1914 from the original Democratic panic but the Republican administration. The tariff revision act did not take effect until the middle of November, 1914. After the crisis was over and more than three months of the European war had begun to mollify the effects of the tariff, the Federal Reserve Act, in all its essentials, the work of Nelson W. Aldrich, late Republican Senator from Rhode Island.

The passage of the income tax law was made possible only by steps taken by a Republican Administration to secure an amendment to the Constitution making such a law constitutional. The recent repeal of the provision of the Underwood law placing the duty on the manufacturer of automobiles, the measure that the original Republican administration had introduced in the House of Woodrow Wilson and a Democratic Congress to a nonpartisan tariff commission is a glaring response to the demand made for such a commission in 1912 in the platform of the Republican and Progressive parties.

Democratic Prosperity Defined. The Pacific Northwest has for three years, experienced Democratic prosperity of the real brand. In the Eastern States there has appeared a remarkable and unprecedented phenomenon, that no other generation has ever witnessed. It is the combination of Democratic control and abnormal prosperity, growing out of the European war. The support of the great commercial agencies showing the greatest number of business failures in our history, demonstrated, however, that the country is not in a normal or normal event. Our real troubles have been temporary. The Underwood law got fairly under way. In the year preceding the war, business was everywhere depressed and the army of unemployed workers were about 10,000,000. The building operations were at a standstill. The country was running at only 40 per cent capacity and 300,000,000 of American railroads on the sidetracks of American railroads.

Today the steel mills and the ammunition plants are glutted with hundreds of millions of dollars worth of orders. The demand for foodstuffs and manufactured goods, shoes, clothing, automobiles, electrical appliances, etc., represent other hundreds of millions in production the greatest in our history.

All this means employment for immense armies of American laborers and the workers are spending in Europe. Every industry throughout the land. Tens of thousands of men have relieved the glut in our labor market by leaving for foreign lands. The foreign immigration has practically ceased. Over $300,000,000 is being spent at home annually that in other years has been spent in Europe. Every existing condition tends to neutralize the effect of Democratic control and bring us a prosperity never before equaled in our history.

Business Failures Greatest. But in spite of the enormous impetus given to business by war orders, already aggregating $2,000,000,000, the number of business failures in the United States since the Wilson Administration has never before been so great. Under the Underwood tariff law, although our imports exceed any figure ever before known in our history, the number of business failures in the United States in 1915, 1914 and 1913 aggregated $10,447,774, or nearly $30,000,000 more than was ever known in our three successive years of any Republican Administration. The number of business failures in the United States in 1915 and 1914 aggregated 35,574, or over 10,000 more than in the period of two years in our whole history as a Nation.

This is not rhetoric from the language of Governor Ollie James, but a bundle of cold facts, and the great commerce of the United States, maintained in commenting on the divorce suit brought to a successful conclusion by his wife, Mrs. Will Macaulay, yesterday.

Things which interested her did not interest him, and there lay the rub. Circuit Judge Gantenbein halted the case yesterday to see if a settlement could not be made by both parties without taking up several days in trial. An agreement was reached, the wife testified briefly to alleged cruel treatment, and the decree was granted. She is to receive $75 a month and $20 attorneys' fees, and each side was ordered to pay its own costs.

Mrs. Macaulay was a telephone girl in Butte, Mont., when they were married, August 3, 1908, and charged that her husband twitted her with saving "from the gutter." Mr. Macaulay said yesterday that he had received in salesmanship contests from him, and had diamonds of his to the value of $5200, which had been purchased as an investment. She said he gave them to her.

Mr. Macaulay has made as high as $20,000 a year, he asserted.

DAMAGE VERDICT IS $1250. Autoist Must Pay for Injuries to Sleigh-Driver.

As the result of a collision between an automobile driven by Gay M. Lombard and the horse-drawn sleigh of Otto Williams, damages of $1250 were awarded Mr. Williams by a jury in the court of Circuit Judge Gantenbein yesterday. He was severely injured and sued for $10,000.

The accident occurred January 20, 1916, on Lovejoy street, near Twenty-fourth. It was a rear-end collision and Mr. Lombard is said to have failed to sound his horn.
