GUARD TO PARADE IF MEN ARE HERE

Governor and General White Promise to Send Troops for Celebration.

KEYNOTE IS PATRIOTISM

Veterans, Singing Societies, Schools and Other Organizations Are to Participate, but Advertising Is Not Permitted.

Only one thing will keep the Oregon National Guard from appearing at full war strength in Portland's Fourth of July parade, and that will be the call to Mexico. If the Guard is still encamped at Clackamas, it will be in Portland for the celebration, according to promises made yesterday to City Commissioner Baker, chairman of the parade committee, by Adjutant-General White and Governor Withycombe.

On the hope of the Guard still being in the mobilization camp Mr. Baker is banking on the biggest military parade Portland has ever seen. He believes this will be the biggest feature that could be staged in connection with the general celebration of the day. Such a parade, he says, would bring people from all over the state to Portland to see the Guardsmen once more and to give them a rousing send-off. Only the chance of all or part of the organization being moved to Mexico stands in the way.

Patriotism to Be Only Note.
Additional features are being arranged by Mr. Baker and the general committee on parade. It has been decided that all persons in the parade must be in uniform except the few who will take care of floats being arranged for. The parade throughout will be patriotic in every particular. All advertising features of every kind will be kept out.

The idea of the committee is not to get an enormous string of people in line, but to adhere strictly to the decorative and impressive and patriotic line. Only such floats as measure up to required decorative standards will be permitted, and no automobiles will be admitted except those used for carrying Grand Army veterans who are unable to march.

Societies to Sing on March.
Arrangements have been made for the singing societies to participate under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Simmons. They will sing National airs as they move. Divisions of the South Portland Grand Army, Confederate Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans and Indian War veterans. These veterans will be required to appear in uniform. All kinds of floats are being arranged. The School Board has arranged to have a division with various educational features. The South Portland Improvement Association has asked permission also to enter two floats.

ALBINA MARKET BACKED CONSUMERS' LEAGUE LAYS PLANS TO PROMOTE PARTICIPATION.

Reorganization Is Effected and Officers Named; Committee Will Regulate Operations.

For the purpose of encouraging and developing a better and bigger market in Albina and to secure more producers and more consumers, the Albina Consumers' League convened yesterday morning in the Albina branch library and reorganized for active participation in the market maintained on Knott street for the past two years.

M. H. Coker, who has been connected with the market from the beginning, was elected president of the league. The other officers elected are as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. J. P. Stuart; second vice-president, Emil Nelson; third vice-president, H. A. Stewart; secretary and manager of the market, Mrs. J. F. Irving; treasurer, Henry Erickson.

BABY SEAL FINDS HOME Young Mammal Caught in Columbia Is on Exhibit at The Oaks.

There's a new baby out at the Oaks and it is the center of attraction there. John Cordray, manager of the amusement park, has accepted it as his charge from Eugene Farrell, who is the real foster father. The seal, which has no show place for it and induced Mr. Cordray to add it to his collection at the Oaks.

NEW MOVIE CODE UP

STRICT CENSORSHIP OF MOTION PICTURES PROPOSED.

Long List of Familiar Screen Situations to Guide Reviewers in Passing Upon Films.

Now comes a strict tightening up on motion picture censorship in Portland, in the form of a long set of new rules to govern the viewing of pictures by viewers appointed by the board of motion picture censors. The rules are the result of over two months' work on the part of members of the censor board.

Some of the scenes which are put under the ban by the code are the following:

Barroom scenes or scenes of drinking or drunkenness which show obscene or indecent happenings; prolonged love scenes, suggestive costuming or pictures of either men or women in insufficient clothing for suggestive purposes; pictures portraying indecency and sex problem scenes, scenes that dis-
