MISSION, Tex., June 22.—Nine officers and 288 men of the Twenty-eighth Infantry, stationed here for the past eight months, tonight were rushed to Fort Ringgold, at Rio Grande City, following receipt of reports that Mexican bandits were threatening that town tonight. A machine gun company accompanied the infantrymen.

Rio Grande City has a population of about 2000 with but few Americans, the majority being Mexicans.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., June 22.

The 17 American soldiers, negro troopers of the Tenth Cavalry, who were captured in the battle at Carrizal, were brought here today with Lem H. Spillsbury, a Mormon scout, employed by General J. J. Pershing, and were interned.

Captain Morey Wounded.

Captain Lewis S. Morey, who was with the American detachment, was wounded in the shoulder, but escaped.

In announcing this afternoon a story of the battle, which he said Spillsbury told him, General Jacinto Trevino, commander of the military district of the northeast, announced that at any time and at any place the American troops move other than towards the border he will comply to the letter with his superior's orders and will attack them as General Felix Gomez did at Carrizal.

13 Dead Counted.

General Trevino said that all diplomatic arrangements are outside of his sphere.

Spillsbury's story, as announced by General Trevino, was to the effect that 56 negroes, comprising troop H, of the Tenth, Captains Boyd and Morey, Lieutenant Adair and himself, composed the American detachment that encountered the Mexicans.

He said that he saw on the field the dead bodies of Boyd and Adair and at least 11 of the negroes.

Spillsbury's account, as given out, follows: "We left Casas Grandes on Sunday morning, arriving outside Carrizal early Wednesday morning.

Boyd Addresses Mexicans.

"Captain Boyd immediately dispatched a courier to the Jefe Politico of the little village, advising him that we were on our way to Villa Ahumada.

"After we had waited some time, Lieutenant-Colonel Rives came out and warned Captain Boyd that he had better turn back. Captain Boyd then explained that he was in pursuit of some bandits which he had heard had looted Santo Domingo, and also was bound to catch a negro deserter, whom he had heard was in Villa Ahumada.

"In reply to this, Lieutenant-Colonel Rivas notified the American that if he attempted to advance he would have to pass over the dead bodies of the Mexicans. He advised Boyd that he had better not argue the matter.

Conference Is Declined.

"Rivas returned to the village to report to his superior officer, General Gomez, who sent out a note inviting the Americans to enter Carrizal for a conference. Captain Boyd declined this invitation.

"On this, General Gomez went out in person and insistently urged the Americans to retire, pointing out that his orders from his superiors necessitated his acting on them without further parley. General Gomez repeated these words as he walked

Funston Impressed With First Of- ficial Report Made by Pershing of Battle of Carrizal—Re- lief Sent Wounded.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 22.—Stragglers from the Tenth Cavalry detachment that was in the fight at Carrizal arrived at General Pershing's headquarters today and told him that the fighting began with an unprovoked attack on the Americans at the conclusion of a parley with the Mexican commander. General Pershing transmitted their story to General Funston tonight, who immediately referred it to the War Department.

Two Troops in Battle.

Two troops of the Tenth Cavalry, Companies C, commanded by Captain Charles T. Boyd, and Company K, commanded by Captain Lewis Morey, comprised the detachment that arrived within a mile of Carrizal at 7 A. M., June 21. They had stopped at Ojo de Santo Domingo on the previous night, resuming their march toward the east at 4 o'clock the next morning.

From their position in front of Carrizal the commander of the detachment, believed by General Pershing to have been Captain Boyd, since he was senior in rank to Captain Morey, sent forward a Mexican guide to secure from the commander of the Mexican garrison there permission to pass through the town.

Consent Is Given.

General Felix Gomez sent back word by the guide that the Americans might pass through if they would consent to a parley. Without waiting for the commander of the American force to reply, General Gomez, accompanied by an aide, appeared and the American officer rode forward to talk with him.

"While they were talking, the men said, the Mexican troops moved forward in force and deployed in such manner that there appeared danger of the American force being surrounded. One of the men who had been holding the horses of the American officer and the man who had ridden forward with him said the American officer appeared to protest against the positions General Gomez' troops were taking. A few minutes later General Gomez rode off toward one end of the Mexican line and immediately after getting there

White House Correspondence Grows Apace as Mexican Situation Develops Warlike.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Heavy correspondence reaching the White House within the last few days indicates the extent to which the American people have been stirred by the Mexican situation. Letters and telegrams are being received from persons in all parts of the country offering their services in case of war.

Members of the Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans and other patriotic organizations are offering to enlist or form separate companies in their respective communities, and old soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies also are sending in appeals to be allowed to share in defense of the country. Requests for rifles, uniforms and ammunition to form independent organizations for service on the border are contained in these letters. Under existing law such requests cannot be granted except to regular organized military bodies.

The only manner in which this subject could be taken up would be by negotiations between the governments of France and the United States.

BRITISH OIL FIELD TARGET

Man Now Held in England Known to Have Been Active in Mexico and Three New York Resi- dents Are Named as Aides.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Advice received here from Mexico alleges that the German representatives there have encouraged General Carranza and the officers of the de facto government in their opposition to United States troops remaining in that country. The form of encouragement was said to have been moral rather than material.

The reports further declare that German citizens in Mexico are being treated with great consideration, their property not being molested. Some Americans have taken advantage of the favors accorded German subjects by placing their property in the hands of German friends on leaving Mexico.

Von Rintelen Once Active.

This information was disclosed by a competent authority in connection with information concerning the activity in Mexican affairs of Captain Franz Von Rintelen, now under indictment in New York for conspiracy to foment strikes in American munitions plants, and under arrest in England.

Von Rintelen is known by the authorities mentioned as well as by Government officials to have been most active in Mexican affairs. His activities began at the time Villa and Carranza were at odds, and when Ilberia went to the border to direct a plot to gain control of the government.

Ban on Munitions Object.

The information obtained leads officials to believe that Von Rintelen thought that by starting a dispute between the United States and Mexico, munitions shipments from America would be stopped; that the United States would be too busy to pursue the submarine controversy, and that the allied navies would be prevented from securing fuel oil and gasoline from the Mexican fields. More than 60 per cent of the oil used in the British navy comes from Mexico.

It was pointed out today that at no time would the United States have failed to press its demands in regard to the conduct of submarine warfare, even if a state of war existed with Mexico. As for exportation of oil from the Mexican fields, it was said today that in the event of war between the United States and Mexico some means will be found to prevent the plans of Von Rintelen from being realized. The names of Frederico Stallforth, of

OREGON ARTILLERY TO ADD BATTALION

WAR DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZES RAISING OF 4 COMPANIES.

New Coast Defense Organizations Will Be Formed at Points Where No Militia Now Exists.

Four new companies of Oregon Coast Artillery will be formed at once and offered to the Government for use wherever they may be wanted. Adjutant-General White offered the War Department to form four companies in addition to the eight now enlisted in this state, and he received a telegram from Brigadier-General Mills, giving authority to organize the additional battalion.

These will be recruited at once. It has been decided to form them at points where militia companies do not now exist, and not even in proximity to places that have militia units. Marshfield has been selected as one place for recruiting a company, and the others have not yet been determined.

Coast artillery companies are now stationed at Portland, Eugene, Cottage Grove, Albany, Roseburg, Medford and Ashland. This will make enlistments of 400 more men in this state, in addition to the 800 now authorized in the Coast Artillery companies. The men are available as infantry. As yet, the Coast Artillery companies have not been called into the mobilization movement.

VILLA SCENTED AT BORDER

Federal Agents Hear Bandit Roams in Juarez Wearing Beard.

EL PASO, Tex., June 22.—Francisco Villa has been in Juarez several times in the last four weeks, according to reports received by agents of the United States secret service tonight. This story was given some support by the arrival in El Paso yesterday of Mrs. Luis Villa, who subsequently was deported to Mexico.

The same reports said that Villa was seen in a public plaza in Chihuahua City about three weeks ago, wearing a heavy black beard.

Government agents while making every attempt to trace the origin of the rumor, were inclined to place little credence in it. Mexican authorities in Juarez denied the story.

COMPANY M AGAIN IS FIRST.

CAMP WITHYCOMBE, June 22.—(Special.)—Company M, Third Infantry, of Salem, is the first National Guard company in Oregon, and probably in the whole United States, to be mustered into the Federal service.

At 9:20 o'clock tonight, after officers and men had worked all day and evening to complete company records and data to the satisfaction of Captain Kenneth P. Williams, United States Army, Captain Max Gehlar, commanding the company, signed the Federal muster roll.

He was followed by the other officers and non-commissioned officers in order of seniority, and then by the men. It was after midnight before every man of the company, which is the largest in the Third Infantry, being up to the full war strength of three officers and 142 men, had signed the roll and become soldiers of the United States Army.

Early this morning the company will march on the parade grounds and, standing bareheaded, will take the oath of allegiance to the United States as administered by Captain Williams.

Company M was the first Oregon National Guard company to report itself ready for duty, the first to move to Clackamas, the first to reach full war strength, and is now the first to go into the Federal service. Governor Withycombe wired the company his congratulations on its fine record last night.

CAMP WITHYCOMBE, June 22.

(Special.)—The most fond mother whose boy is out here with the Oregon National Guard to become a soldier need have no fears that his health will not be guarded as carefully as if he were home. As carefully and more so, and in an infinitely more scientific manner.

If a man gets sick out here in the face of all the precautions taken to keep him well, it will be because, like Topsy and her badness, "he just has it in him."

Major M. B. Marcellus, who was named chief surgeon of the camp in General Order No. 2 issued today by Colonel Cienard McLaughlin, through Captain Clarence R. Hotchkiss, camp adjutant, has a nice big hospital tent all ready for emergencies. So far it looks pretty lonely, with nobody to occupy it.

None Sick Yet.

Though the more than 1200 Guardsmen now mobilized here came to camp almost directly from their homes, many of them leaving sedentary occupations, not a man of them has yet reported sick.

The only man who has needed any medical attention was a private of Company M, of Salem, who wielded a pick a bit too enthusiastically while digging a trench, and managed to wound himself in the hand. His injury was trivial and is healing fast. Nevertheless, the camp surgeons are very busy personages. Their big work consists in organizing the sanitary regulations at camp so as to make illness as scarce in the future as it is at present.

Note some of the sanitary precautions the soldiers are required to take, as laid down for them in Colonel McLaughlin's orders.

Under the head of "Personal Cleanliness," the order says: "Each soldier must bathe at least twice weekly. Men must wash their hands thoroughly before each meal. Bathhouses, if provided, must be kept clean and inviting and water drained properly, both inside and outside."

And this: "The camp water supply is pure and wholesome. Precautions must be taken, however, to prevent subsequent contamination by keeping all containers scrupulously clean and protected from dust."

As for the housekeeping arrangements, they would delight the most fastidious housekeeper. "The interior of the tents should be kept clean, and clothing, blankets and bedding will be exposed to the sunlight daily, weather permitting," reads another paragraph of General Order No. 2, pertaining to sanitation. "Tents will be raised during the daytime, in good weather and will be adequately
