

DOUGLAS FOLK MEET

Annual Reunion Is Made Jolful Occasion.

G. C. JOHNSON IS PRESIDENT

C. Louis Barzee, Colonel Robert A. Miller George H. Himes and Attorney-General Brown Paint Word Pictures of Early Days.

DOUGLAS COUNTY ASSOCIATION OFFICERS CHOSEN.

President—George C. Johnson. First Vice-President—Z. L. Dimmick. Second Vice-President—Laurie Rice-Castor. Third Vice-President—Mrs. E. J. Sutherland-Gallagher. Secretary—Lon Parker. Treasurer—Ella Underwood-Wall. Executive Committee—Ella Underwood-Wall, Anna Cooper-Stark, C. Louis Barzee, A. B. Castor, C. Louis Barzee.

To promote old friendships, keep fresh old acquaintances and promote good fellowship among the members is the motto and purpose of the Douglas County Association, which held its fifth annual reunion in Peninsula Park yesterday, attended by about 200 of the members. A business session was held at 11 A. M., when the officers of the association were elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

President, George C. Johnson; first vice-president, Z. L. Dimmick; second vice-president, Laurie Rice-Castor; third vice-president, Mrs. E. J. Sutherland-Gallagher; secretary, Lon Parker; treasurer, Ella Underwood-Wall; executive committee, Ella Underwood-Wall, Anna Cooper-Stark, C. Louis Barzee, A. B. Castor, C. Louis Barzee.

In the afternoon the public exercises were opened in the community house with an invocation by Arthur E. Gardner, and music by the veteran male quartet, Z. M. Parvin, A. N. Mills, U. M. Morse and Dr. J. H. Hall.

Umpqua Valley Extended. President Johnson made a few opening remarks, and then introduced C. Louis Barzee, former president, who delivered an address on the matchless beauty of the Umpqua Valley.

Colonel Robert A. Miller told of the people of early days, mentioning General Joseph Love, United States Senator Jesse Applegate, known as the "age of Yoncalla"; Blinger Herman, Judge Mosher, Aaron Rose and others, whom he said, under sympathetic character, George H. Himes, honorary member, gave pleasant reminiscences of early days.

The address of Attorney-General Brown was full of good things for the audience. Mr. Brown was born in Douglas County and knew many of the pioneers. In tender sympathetic words Mr. Brown spoke of the numerous old settlers in and around Douglas County who had been called to the other shore.

Winchester County Seat. Mr. Brown gave an interesting account of the organization of Douglas County in 1850. The county seat was located at Winchester, but afterwards was moved to Roseburg. He spoke of the days when he attended school, when Judge Henry L. Benson was teacher. Mr. Brown said that Douglas County had the finest climate on the Pacific Coast, and its beauty was unsurpassed anywhere.

Judge Henry L. Benson spoke briefly, referring to the men and women whom he knew 35 and 40 years ago, and who pressed his enjoyment of the annual reunions. The association passed a unanimous vote, endorsing the application of Douglas County to the north of the Columbia River, and appointed a special committee to prepare resolutions covering the issue. The resolutions were adopted, and the Oregon legislature give the Indian war veterans the right to hunt and fish without a license, the same privilege conferred on good soldiers as well as Spanish-American veterans. The exercises closed by the audience singing "America."

AID MEETING CALLED OFF

Other Women Deem Work of D. A. R. for Guardsmen Sufficient.

The Portland women and girls who proposed to meet Tuesday at the Public Library to organize for preparing kits of comfort and necessities for the National Guardsmen at the front, have called off their meeting, and will cooperate directly with the work being done by the Daughters of the American Revolution and other women.

Mrs. L. Bronson-Salmon, who called the meeting for Tuesday, yesterday announced that, inasmuch as the other organizations had made plans for attending to the needs of the soldiers as well as the families, the Tuesday meeting would be canceled. "Another organization would be needless," Mrs. Bronson-Salmon yesterday said. "If later it is found practicable and necessary to get the young people organized, we can do that then."

"MAN'S LAST WAR" TOPIC

Dr. G. G. Haley Likens Spiritual Conflict to Those of History.

"Man's Last War" was the topic of Dr. G. G. Haley's sermon in the Lincoln Methodist Episcopal Church last night. "There is no discharge in that war—Ecclesiastics vilis, was the text, and Dr. Haley followed the war from the beginning and compared it with the continual spiritual struggle. "Man's last war will be between right and wrong between good and evil," said Dr. Haley. "There is no discharge in that war; that began in the Garden of Eden and will continue until Gabriel sounds the retreat. It is a war in which every one must take part and we cannot send a substitute. Everyone must fight and die; none returns to tell the story. If we fight, a good fight we will come out more than conquerors."

CHRISTIANITY CALLED ON TO PREVENT WARS

Only True Peace Is That of Lord of Hearts of Nations, Declares Rev. W. O. Shank, in Sermon Summarizing World Conflict.

By BEN HUR LAMPMAN. PEACE in full panoply was marched before the congregation of the East Side Baptist Church at yesterday morning's services. As the ancient but doughty miscreant was paraded before the pastor, Rev. W. O. Shank, smote him until the armor fell away and he stood forth as a fearful fraud. The subject of the sermon, Mr. Shank's address was "Why All These Wars? Enlisting for Christ." And he chose his text most fittingly from the 29th chapter of Chronicles, the eighth verse, repeating the query, "Who will consecrate himself this day to the Lord's service?" Before the last dramatic phrase, feelingly real, had been launched from the pulpit, the minister had profoundly impressed his listeners with the answer he gave to both queries.

Quietly he began his discourse by touching upon the present possibilities of warfare as concerning the peace of the Nation. "America has tried for a long and tedious time to avoid war, but Mexico seems determined to draw us into the fray," he said regretfully. "Our boys are eager to go off to the front."

Church is Recruiting Station. "The church is the recruiting station," said the minister. "The world is plunged in sin and wickedness. Soldiers are needed to carry on the work of Christ. As we look out into the world we see that Christianity has not begun to do its work yet." He cited the pagan nations and the millions yet un-Christianized in civilized domains. "Is it possible for ministers and recruits to redeem the world?" His voice thrilled at the thought. "The task is large, but it is possible. I am prophesying as a man of God that the time will come when Christ will rule the world, when Satan will take a back seat, and sin be stamped out."

And so, beloved, he continued, "It is folly for the nations to believe that they can have a world-peace so long as Adam reigns in the human heart. Peace by the threat of force or the alliance of nations against nations is not peace, he told them. "That is no peace; it is only defense in time of danger. The only peace is when we are brothers in Jesus Christ. We need courage to stand and face the battle of vital moral and social and economic questions—yet the biggest coward in the world, in this regard, are Christians. The church would get anything it asked for if the church would only stand solidly on the battle line." And he wanted that congregation to tell him just how many times the Christian people of Portland had "covered up" when a great moral issue was to the fore. The congregation kept silence.

Fire Fighters Show Film. GASTON, Or., June 25.—(Special)—The Gaston Volunteer Fire Department last night put on a moving picture exhibition at the school auditorium, which attracted a large crowd. H. T. Bagley, of Hillsboro, gave a short talk on the workings of the small town fire brigades. Chief Herman F. Kramer, of Gaston, also spoke. With the new water system and added equipment, a force of about 30 men is necessary to handle things efficiently. Tea leaves are gathered four times a year from the tea plant after its third year.

COUNTRY'S CALL SACRED

Father of Enlisted Man Commenting on Mexican Situation Declares God Is Embodiment of Power as Well as Love.

The duty of patriotism and of loyalty to one's country leaves no room for the citizen who would say, "I don't want my son to shed his blood for any flag."

"The declaration of Rev. A. A. Morrison in his sermon at Trinity Episcopal church yesterday morning. The coward and the one who would shirk his duty to his country were also declared taboo by Dr. Morrison as undesirable from the standpoint of patriotism.

"God is a God of power as well as love, a God of justice as well as mercy," he said, "and men indifferent to the claims of justice and the penalty. Man as the administrator of God's plan is involved in the scheme."

Illustrating the need at times for a nation to exert force in a just cause he said: "Some people have no regard for anything but force."

"These are the times for everything. When the house is on fire it would be futile for the head of the family to attempt to extinguish the flames by prayer. The thing to do is to turn on the hose."

Prayers Sometimes Futile. "Likewise there is a time in the relation of man to man when it is futile to reason with them or to talk or pray with them. Then is the time for discipline."

Dr. Morrison emphasized the obligation of all people living in this country to be true, loyal citizens of the United States.

This nation because of its strength should be a great big-hearted leader in human affairs along the highest possible plane," he said. "Every man and woman has a duty by virtue of his citizenship; a duty which gives no place for a coward, no place for a shirker, no place for the man who would say, 'Let someone else do it, or I don't want my son to have a hand in disciplining anyone.'"

All the reasons on earth would not make one good citizen of any kind; and God does not work for the world's redemption with any such material."

Mexican Situation Mentioned. Referring to the Mexican situation Dr. Morrison said: "My appeal to you today is not to be silly in sentiment regarding our relationship to a great task which God in his wisdom is about to impose upon this country."

Dr. Morrison characterized as maudlin sentiment the impression prevalent with some of a God and religion entirely of love to the exclusion of justice and right.

"The people who would make an effeminate Christ or religion are the people who do not know Christ or his religion," he declared. "I have always considered Christ as a brave, strong man—a hero."

The speaker emphasized the fact that the time of universal peace has not come and that consequently the day of force of arms is still here. "You and I know," he said, "that there is a certain time in history when the basis of appeal upon love is futile, when it is useless talking and praying to instincts. You and I know also that we live in an age which, while teaching exalted idealism with respect to religion and government is far from reaching those ideals."

Work Called "Sacred Trust." In closing he declared: "Some day the storm will be over and those who fought because they were in it will be asked whether the call will be written among those who were obedient to a sacred trust."

Dr. Morrison was one of the first to insist when the President called out the militia a week ago.
