BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

A CHARMING informal bridge party was given yesterday by Mrs. William MacMaster, during her house guests, Mrs. Burke Roche, of Victoria, B. C., wife of the Honorable Burke Roche, who also is visiting the MacMasters. Playing cards were Mrs. Roche, Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mrs. Harry Nunn, Miss Felling, Miss Hirsch, Miss Jewell, Mrs. R. Lea Barnes, Mrs. J. Wesley Lewis, Mrs. John C. Sabel, Mrs. George T. Willett, Mrs. John F. Dickson, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. Morton H. Insley, Mrs. Henry C. Sabel, Mrs. William Lewis, Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Ernest Tucker. At the tea hour a few additional guests called to greet the visitor, the attractive tea table being presided over by Miss Sallie Lewis. Artistic baskets and bowls of garden flowers were effectively arranged about the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Clendenning, of Spokane, arrived Sunday night in Portland and left last night for a brief sojourn at their cottage in Gearhart. They plan to return the latter part of the week to Spokane.

Mrs. Walker Willis Kamm is planning to return to her home in San Francisco today, after a delightful but brief visit in Portland with Mrs. Charles T. Kamm, Mrs. Philip Schuyler Kamm, however, who arrived recently, will remain for the greater part of the summer.

An event of importance on today's calendar is the tea which Mrs. P. E. Froehlich will be hostess today, complimenting her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. J. Mitchels.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Brien and grandchildren, James and Patricia McKenna, will leave today for Seattle, Wash., to pass the summer in the Allen cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Coe A. McKenna will join them next month.

Mrs. James A. Cranston left last night for a fortnight's visit with her mother, Mrs. Davy, in Vancouver, B. C.

The Soy Delphian Club finished a satisfactory year's work this month and adjourned until September, when it will resume the study of Greece. As a farewell treat, the president, Mrs. E. A. Doust, entertained her members and their husbands, with a few additional guests, at her home, 893 Kelly street.

"Five hundred" was played and the card honors fell to Mrs. David N. Mossessohn and Mr. John C. Boyer. After the cards a short musical and literary programme was enjoyed, followed by dainty refreshments. Such a thoroughly enjoyable time was had by all that the members have decided to make these "open evenings" a permanent feature of their next year's work.

Miss Florence S. Johnson, of Portland, is at the Banff Springs Hotel, Banff.

Miss Genevieve Baughman returned to her home in Lewiston, Idaho, after a few weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Stewart Mann, in Irvington. She was accompanied home by her aunt, Mrs. Anna Watson.

Kelso, Wash., June 26.—(Special).—Fred G. Stoner and Miss Roma Huntington were married at Billings, Mont., June 21. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Huntington and belongs to one of the best-known pioneer families of this section, having been born in Monticello, the first capital of Washington.

Mrs. James G. Gaud will leave today for San Francisco to join Mr. Gaud, who has returned from Battle Creek, Mich. They will return to Portland within a few days.

Mrs. Walter F. Burrell and family are preparing to leave today for Tokeland, to pass the summer in their cottage there.

Miss Evelyn Carey entertained informally Sunday afternoon with a charming tea complimenting her house guest, Miss Lea Gazman, of Seattle. The guests included many of the younger belles and beaux. Miss Carey and Miss Gazman will pass this week at Nehalem.

Mrs. Max H. Houser and children and Miss Mabel Neal, who have been wintering in California, returned to Portland Sunday. Mrs. Houser is confined to her room, suffering from a slight illness, and is unable to see anyone.

Mrs. Robert W. Lewis is convalescing from a recent operation at Good Samaritan Hospital, and is now at her home.

Mrs. D. A. Pattulo will entertain this afternoon with a large and elaborate garden party in honor of the members of the First Presbyterian Church. If the weather is unpleasant the party will be held indoors, the roof and verandas to be inclosed and decked to resemble the gardens, so that despite the weather gods, the outdoor fête is on.

An elaborate musical programme will be one of the delightful features of the event, which will be given by Miss Evelyn Padlock, Mrs. Pauline Miller Chapman, Wallace Irwin and Mrs. Hathaway. A number of prominent women will assist the hostess in making the affair one of the most delightful and successful of the season.

Miss Claire Hirsch, daughter of Meyer Hirsch, of San Francisco, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Hirsch, at the Highland Court Apartments.

Mrs. Victor Hunziker, who has been the guest of relatives in Portland, returned yesterday to her home in Walla Walla. She was accompanied by her little niece, Marian Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Myers.

Mrs. John M. Pipes entertained Saturday night with a delightful picnic supper and dance at her attractive home near Reed College, complimenting her charming house guest, Mrs. Edward Thurber, of Colorado Springs. About 23 merry-makers participated in the festivities, a feature of which was the singing of a group of songs by Tom Dobson.

A number of prominent women are planning social courtesies to Mrs. Thurber, among these being a luncheon for which Mrs. William Holden will be hostess on Thursday.

Miss Claudia Scharf, of San Francisco, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Harry Meyer, will leave Thursday morning on the steamer Northern Pacific for her home. Mrs. Meyer and Miss Scharf will be at home Wednesday afternoon and evening at the former's home, Summit Drive, Portland Heights.

Mrs. George B. Cellars and Miss Mary Cellars are at Gearhart for the season, having arrived last Wednesday, accompanied by James Cellars, who remained a few days.

Mrs. Arthur St. Clair Gay and daughter, Jean Elizabeth, are at their home in Gearhart.

Mrs. A. Tiller and her two young children, Alfred and Jane, left Portland last week for Gearhart, accompanied by Miss Comport, to remain during the summer in their summer home there.

H. B. McClure, of Visalia, Cal., is visiting his sister, Mrs. E. C. Wegmann, for a few days.

Mrs. Edgar A. Piper and son, Edgar and David, are at their cottage at Seaside, where they will remain through July.

Mrs. Frederick G. Wheeler and daughters, the Misses Katherine and Anna, will leave tonight for their summer home in Seaview, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Oskar E. Huber and daughters, the Misses Winnifred and Elizabeth, will leave Saturday for their summer home in Gearhart.

Alfred Elmer Sering and Miss Judith M. Ketchum were married by Rev. J. Bowersox at 1170 Omaha avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Forsberg attended the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Sering will make their home at 124 East Twenty-fourth street North.

The women of the Laurelhurst Club will hold their last card party of the season today at 2:15. The committee that has planned these card parties consists of Mrs. Robert Brandon and Mrs. C. B. Handy, who have had great success with these parties and are planning to begin the Fall series about October 1.

The open night for the club has been known as Orchestra night, at which time members are permitted to invite their friends to the dances. Monday, July 3 will be the next orchestra night, and the club is planning a shirtwaist party for that evening. The Laurelhurst orchestra will play for the event.

The marriage of Miss Anna Elizabeth Schade, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Schade, and William Isensee, Jr., took place last Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride in Stephens' Addition. Close friends and relatives assembled to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. G. F. Lening. The house was adorned with flowers, palms and ferns. The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Emma Isensee, who also accompanied Miss Laura Fleming, who sang "O, Promise Me."

The bride was prettily attired in white silk with face trimmings, her veil being fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. Miss Elsa Isensee, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore pale blue crepe de chine and carried an armful of pink sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Karl Hansemann was best man. Miss Veda Flynn captured the bride's bouquet.

Refreshments were served after the ceremony, covers being spread for 60. Mr. Isensee is junior member of the firm of Isensee & Co. The bride is a resident in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Isensee left for a short trip and upon their return, July 10, will be at home to their friends at 846 Brooklyn street.

Newport Celebration Arranged. NEWPORT, Or., June 26.—(Special).—Newport has made all arrangements to celebrate the Fourth in good, old-fashioned style, with patriotic addresses and firecrackers. Mark V. Weatherford, candidate for Congress, will be the speaker, and a water carnival will be held in the evening. In addition there will be prizes for athletic and water stunts, and a match game of ball between Newport and Elk City.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

BY LILIAN TINGLE.

PORTLAND, Or., June 26.—Will you please publish recipe for making rose beads?

NO. 1.—Use preferably red, highly perfumed roses, but others will do, especially if rose oil is added. The best texture results when the yellow, heavy ends of the petals are removed. For 50 medium-size beads you will need at least a gallon of fresh rose petals. Pass them through a meat grinder, using the fine blade and collecting the juice which drips in an iron pan. Repeat four times. Mix the ground petals and juice in the pan with a few drops of castor oil and let stand all day, stirring occasionally. At night regrind four times and set in a cool place. The next morning slide into beads with the hands (very messy work this, and tedious, too). Slide carefully upon a long pin, stick the pin in a board and leave to dry for a week. Cook as when they will be hard, black and fragrant. Mark, if desired, before they are too dry, by rolling a screw or file over each bead. When dry rub with a little olive oil on a piece of flannel to polish them. String on dental floss, with mounting beads.

As the iron pan is used to blacken the pulp, use an enameled pan if dark red or brown beads are preferred, and add coloring paste if the tint is not satisfactory. Light shades cannot be obtained by this method.

NO. 2.—Grind the rose petals, as above, but do not let the pulp stand all day. Once to a thick mass, stirring constantly. Citric acid (say a tablespoonful, powdered, to a quart of pulp) helps to keep a red or pink shade. I did not want, cook in an iron kettle and omit the acid. When nearly cool add a few drops of oil of rose. When quite cold turn out the mass and roll into beads, drying on pins as above.

For violet beads use violet petals and a little acid. If green, fragrant leaves are used, omit the acid and use a very little baking soda to preserve the color. Some makers of beads by this method add gum arabic and gum arabic to give "body" to the pulp, and starch might be used similarly.

WOMEN WHO LEAD THE WAY

BY MARIE DILLE.

Geraldine Henrietta Peterson—the World's Youngest Pianist. PORTLAND, Oregon, recently presented in recital the world's youngest pianist and composer, Geraldine Henrietta Peterson, aged 39 months. The child played entire airs from the old masters, bits from many well-known classics and several of her own compositions, which were most impressive, quaint little melodies inspired by the Mother Goose rhymes. Her interpretation of many well-known verses of childhood were exceedingly apt and harmonious.

To the child playing the piano is a beautiful game. She prefers it to dolls and toy tea sets. Her tongue still speaks "baby talk," but her fingers know the language that grown-ups understand.

Mrs. Grace Wilton-Peterson, mother of Geraldine, attributes the child's gift to prenatal influence and heredity as much as to early training. Mrs. Peterson is a successful teacher of piano. The child's father loves and understands music and her grandfather was a professional singer.

Geraldine loved music almost from birth. She would refuse her food at the sound of music and listen intently when but a few weeks old. She was fond of Victrola music and early showed a preference for certain selections. These were copied for her and she would soon without notes Geraldine began to play the same airs for herself at the piano. The music was of course transcribed and simplified, but the airs and melodies were unmistakable in her interpretations. She hummed the prevailing melodies from operas and had heard played upon the Victrola and finally put these into piano music for herself.

When less than a year old Geraldine had achieved the five-finger exercise and a few months later she had learned a few simple chords. No effort has been made to actually teach the child music. She has been free to play at will or let the instrument alone. In this way she has come to regard music as a game rather than labor. No attempt has been made to hurry her development. She never tires of music and she is allowed to spend the greater part of her time within hearing of good music, thus she came to know harmony and to distinguish the excellent from the commonplace.

Like other children, Geraldine Peterson began at an early age to sing little rhymes to improvised music. Her melodies differed from those of other children only in that they were a little truer to tone and a little better fitted to the theme of the verse. The tunes which she had "made up" for the Mother Goose rhymes she had soon learned to play for herself upon the piano and they have proved to be unique little compositions, full of melody and originality.

Geraldine plays entirely by ear. She cannot read print of any kind and knows nothing about notation. She plays intuitively. Her hands are too small to manage octaves. Her reach is but four keys. But she has a fondness for broken chords which gives fullness to her playing which would otherwise be lacking in her limited reach.

She knows nothing of the technique and hard work of music. These she will be taught when her love of music is so well founded as not to be shaken by the labor involved in becoming proficient. Unless she learns written notes by herself, her mother will not allow her to be introduced to them for many years.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES.

A TWO-DAYS' conference will be held here, beginning today, of the Congregational Women's Board of Oregon, Washington and California. Among the prominent visitors in the city to attend the conference are Mrs. W. W. Perrier, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Theodore Holway, a missionary of Bulgaria, who came to this country last August with her husband. They both are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Egertz at the Virginia Hill. Mrs. Holway will be one of the notable speakers.

38 BOYS GO TO CAMP

Y. M. C. A. Summer Resort to Be Opened at Spirit Lake.

Thirty-eight Y. M. C. A. boys early yesterday took the train for Castle Rock, Wash., on their way to open the Association's Summer camp at Spirit Lake for the 1916 season. Other excursions will follow each week through the summer, nearly 200 boys having signed up for their vacation at the foot of Mount St. Helens.

Nine boys, who passed the Federal tests recently and are now members of the United States Volunteer Life-Saving Corps, will do patrol duty at the lake, teaching some of the younger boys to swim and accompanying the party on its excursions.

J. C. Meahan, boys' work secretary, led the party yesterday.
