HAT PIN SAVES GIRLS

Miss Goldie Bates Drives Off Would-Be Assailant.

SISTER'S SCREAMS HEARD

Unidentified Man Springs From Wood and Chokes Blanche Bates, 11, Till Older Sister Approaches—Police Eluded.

With a hatpin drawn, Miss Goldie Bates stood her ground against a would-be assailant late yesterday in Marquam Hill woods, just off of Terwilliger boulevard, and also saved her younger sister, Blanche, from probable attack by an unidentified man. The assailant withdrew and fled through the woods when, plying the hatpin, Miss Bates gave battle.

Blanche Bates, aged 11, was attacked by the man about 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon while on her way from her home, 468 Curry street, through the woods of Marquam Hill. The man sprang upon her from a clump of bushes near the path and attempted to drag her into the brush. The girl screamed and fought, and the man tightened his hold and choked her.

At that moment her sister, Miss Goldie Bates, and another girl came down the path. As the assailant saw them he loosed his hold on Blanche and sprang toward her sister. The young woman plucked out a hatpin and stood her ground, menacing him with the point.

"I'm going to call the police," she threatened.

"Go to it," snarled the man. "I won't be here when they come." He ran down the path and entered the woods.

Motorcycle Patrolman Bales was at the scene within a short time and searched the hill thoroughly. He found no trace of the man.

The assailant is described by Miss Bates as being about 22 years old, height five feet seven or eight inches, weight 150 pounds, black hair and brown eyes. He is smooth shaved and dressed in a blue suit, gray shirt and black derby hat.

The little girl's neck was quite severely bruised by the throttling administered, while the groceries she carried were scattered and trampled about the path, giving evidence of the struggle.

In Wenatchee this week. He is again on the road after having served a period of five months as a prisoner of war in the detention camp at Vernon, E. C. Bloch was in Vancouver and his Teutonic name, as well as features, bespoke the fact that at least his ancestors came from the land of the Kaiser. He was picked up as a suspect, the Canadians being fearful of spies. In the detention camp at Vernon, E. C. Bloch remained in the camp until recently, when he was set at liberty.
