Visiting among the families of the men who have answered the call to service will be begun in earnest today. The visits will be general and not confined to any particular military unit. Yesterday two of the members, Miss Helen Whitney and Mrs. W. C. Witzel, made such visits.

The Eastern Outfitting Company made a donation of supplies to the relief work yesterday, the first by any Portland firm. Enough khaki to make 500 cemfort kits was its contribution. McCargar, Bates & Lively contributed 500 little cases of court plaster.

The work committee of the D. A. R. will meet at reltef headquarters, $15 Journal building, this morning at 10 celeck. The methods of distribution of funds and materials will be discussed and the work of distribution probably will be organized.

Methods," at yesterday afternoon's session of the Cregon Summer school for the Episcopal clergy.

Bishop Page lamented the failure of the Episcopal Church to hold its youns people in churches he had observed.

The ultimate result of Bishop Page's talk was a resolution adopted at the business session to emphasize the importance of the Sunday school.

"We were on the ground floor 35 years ago and are no farther ahead," said Bishop Page. Other clergymen suggested that the popular method of "dragging out everybody for a day was repulaive."
