cereals at the highest marks of the season, has subsided and both are declining. The view of the Eastern wheat market situation, taken by Renskorf, Lyon & Co. of New York, is as follows:

During the week a rather sensational solution of 7c took place from short covering on rust reports in our Spring territory. While the imperiance of rust appearance can only be ascertained later, it has severed the nursues of starting a good has served the purpose of starting a good demand both from our domestic mills and also for export and which demand has been much conouraged by the excellent quality of our new Winter wheat. As the freight de-velopments have been such as to operate against shipments from the Southern hemi-aphere, demand for our grain should continue good. From Canada no unfavorable grop news is yet at hand, but they are now entering their critical period. The world as to ample supplies and latest cables con-firm this. We have been friendly to wheat for over two weeks and see no reason for any change from this attitude.

Terminal receipts, in cars, were reported

Wool selling is proceeding in good volume at Boston, with values showing a constantly ndvancing tendency. According to mail reports from that city, new territory wools are arriving more freely and manufacturers are showing increased interest in them. It cannot be denied that large lots of wool have been sold recently at prices far below what similar wools would cost even if present embargoes were removed. It is difficult to understand why manufacturers, under the circumstances, healtate to buy certain lines of choice wool that they know must be secured taler. Wools have changed hands during the week at prices two or three cents a pound higher than could be expected for the same lots a month ago. Manufacturers have forced dealers to carry them over the dult period and are new paying roundly for the accommodation. This is especially true of choice dealine and medium combing fleeces, asking prices for which have been advanced sharply. They are not yet up to the parity of country markets. Medium woels are reported to have brought as high as 40 cents in Ohio, though dealers claim that the extreme prices have been paid by local

Barley and Rye Harvest Has Begun in Eastern Counties.

Following is a summary of the crop conditions in Oregon for the weak, as reported to the local office of the weather bureau by special correspondents throughout the state:

Rain during the latter part of the week was unusually heavy in the western counties.

Haying is general in all parts of the state and much was caught on the ground improperly stacked, which, in consequence, was badly damaged. The second crop of sifaiffs in better, as a rule, than the first crop, as it matured under more favorable

Fall wheat is filling nicely and much 667c per pound; pineapples, 500, bananas, 4641c per pound; pineapples, 52.59. Fall wheat is filling nicesty and much more promising than expected earlier in the season. Some fields are weedy and in a few localities they will not be harvested on this account. The barley and tye harvest has begun and both crops are so far yielding as good or better than expected. The wheat harvest will not begin until about the first of next month.

Curn although will backward, is doing much better than have a season. With waim weather from new on it will make a good crop.

Potatoes are doing splendidly and no complaints are heard regarding the conditions of this crop in any part of the state. Sugar boots and garden truck are also making sailefactory progress.

Late cherries were injured in the western counties by the recent rains and this crop.

WINONA, Wash. July 19.—(Special.)—
With a big new wheat crop almost ready for harvest, farmers of this locality still held more wheat than was ever known ip, the history of the country. The Pacific Coast Elevator Company warehouse is still loaded to the brim and has several thousand bushels standing on a pistform.

Unless this wheat is sold soon this house will be unable to handle the new crop. This cane warehouse has now nearly 30,000 bushels. One farmer has $000 bushels on his farm, in tanks, which he needs for the new crop. He says he peohably will held the old crop and sell the new.
