Mr. Hanly Says Abolition of Liquor Traffic is Essential to Efficiency.

AMERICAN POLICY URGED

Great Navy Indorsed, Without Large Standing Army—Platform Demand for Initiative and Referendum Repeated.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 8.—J. Frank Hanly, nominee of the Prohibitionists for President, was notified formally here today of his nomination. In the course of his speech of acceptance he said:

"Called to the administration of the Government of the great commonwealth in which I live, I found it impossible to reconcile my public and official duty with silence and inaction concerning an agency that levied an unpayable toll upon the social, civic, economic and moral life of the people, such as I found the traffic in intoxicating liquors daily levying."

"Desiring a remedy, I turned instinctively to the party with which I was affiliated. I spoke to it, exposed the wrongs as best I could, and pleaded for action. The hearts and the minds of the rank and file of the party were willing to make an affirmative response, but the party's leadership rebelled. It did not, would not act, save only in guarded, timorous phrase and with halting, uncertain steps. It simply would not stand. It had no vision, no conviction. Its councils were corrupted and its actions made futile by covert understandings and secret commitments."

"Then I left it and came to you, knowing that your councils as to this great issue would neither be corrupt nor divided, your purpose turned aside nor your action delayed should you be given power."

"Initiative and Referendum Rejected. "There is in the platform one plank which I cannot defend in the campaign; which, if elected, I would oppose, and which, if brought to a referendum, I would veto. I refer to the following: "We favor the initiative, referendum and recall."

"Wherever they have obtained they have wrought confusion and harm. Where the initiative and referendum have been adopted to amendment of constitutions they have made these solemn and organic charters liquid as water and volatile as oil. This will do to the same to the federal Constitution. All three are revolutionary, but not progressive. They are the weapons of the bad officers rather than they are the defense of the good."

"In my judgment nothing could be fraught with greater peril to state and national prohibition than the application of these three principles to the state and National Government."

"Scientific Tariff Advocated. "No inconsiderable portion of the income of the National Government is now derived—and must continue to be derived—from import duties."

"In the levying of this revenue and in the making of schedules, knowledge—special, expert and accurate—based upon scientific investigation and ascertainment, and not on party advantage or the enhancement of the interests of great and powerful corporations and combinations—should be the basis of all tariff action."

"With this knowledge in mind duties should be so laid and adjusted as to secure to American labor and American manufacturers such degree of protection as to equalize the difference in wages between the labor entering into any American industry and the labor entering into any foreign commodity with which such American commodity is compelled to compete."

"Woman Suffrage Simple Justice. "For 40 years you have favored woman suffrage. Your attitude in regard to it has been neither born of fear nor forced upon you by party expediency. To you woman's enfranchisement has been and is a measure of simple justice—a thing she has a right to claim. On this I stand four-square with you, and if power is given us we will not be satisfied to recommend the extension of the franchise to her by states or to recognize the right of each state to settle the question for itself, but will by constitutional amendment forbid any state to deny or abridge her right to vote because of her sex."

"Duty Shirked When Difficult. "To meet this duty in the case of Haiti and San Domingo has been easy and we have met it. To meet it in the case of Mexico has been difficult and we have shirked it, pursuing a policy of indecision and of meddlesome laissez faire."

"If we owe this duty to the citizens of foreign governments living or sojourning in Mexico, we owe even a more imperative duty to protect the lives and property of our own citizens who live or sojour in there. And I agree with you that these must be protected and that in the event of a breakdown of government across the border it is the duty of this Government in the interest of civilization, to do whatsoever shall be necessary to establish law and order in that distracted land."

"We are opposed to the violation of the sovereignty of the Mexican people and would countenance no war of aggression against them, but responsible, stable government must be established there, though armed intervention be required to establish it; intervention not for territory, not for conquest or for ourselves alone, but for and on behalf of the nationals of other countries, of the Mexican people themselves and of Christian civilization."

landed in Vera Cruz or permitted to cross the Mexican border, except with the clear purpose, frankly confessed, of establishing law and order and a responsible government there.

"Duty to Philippines Plain. "Through the acquisition of the Philippine Islands the American people assumed a grave and solemn duty, not only to themselves, but to the inhabitants of the islands and to all nations who had or have interests there. To this hour it has met that duty in a manner wholly creditable to the genius of our people and cannot now be abandoned without dishonor."

"Ultimate independence is the just expectation of the Filipino people, but independence now would be destructive of their progress and fatal to their well-being."

"I am in favor of a National defense and of a preparedness sufficient to preserve our territory from invasion, to enforce our international obligations and to defend our interests and purposes on the high seas, if necessary, but this can be done by the Navy that is now being provided for and by the construction of coast defenses that shall be impregnable to naval assault and without a great standing Army. Beyond that danger lies and our purpose ought to be set as in adamant against it."

"Prohibition Part of Preparedness. "In connection with any adequate programme of preparedness there must come consideration of another matter, the major tenet of our faith—the abolition of the beverage liquor traffic. Without it there can be no adequate preparedness. It is known to every patriot. It is the foe of all."

"We should not wait for war to strike and destroy it. We ought to do it in time of peace, do so now, when the strain of war is not upon us."

"Of all political parties, we alone are pledged to destroy it, and it power is given us we will keep the pledge."

WOMAN ACQUITTED OF ARSON SUES ACCUSERS.

Mrs. Mary C. Wells, of Oswego, Declares Insurance Company Tried to Defame Her.

OREGON CITY, Or., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mary C. Wells, the 70-year-old woman who recently was acquitted in the Clatsop County Circuit Court on a charge of attempting to defraud an insurance company after a sensational trial lasting five days, returned against Mrs. Wells and the Firemen's Insurance Company of Newark, N. J.; W. J. Lloyd, an insurance adjuster; Frank H. Greenman, a detective, and Mrs. Carrie Bickner, wife of an Oswego merchant, Logan & Logan, of Portland, and George C. Brownell and Charles T. Sievers, of this city, appear as Mrs. Wells' attorneys.

The plaintiff charges that the case against her was worked up by the defendants, the aim being to defame her character. A copy of the indictment of the grand jury which was returned against Mrs. Wells and of the verdict of the jury are made a part of the complaint.

Greenman and Mrs. Bickner were witnesses before the grand jury and the state played up the testimony of Mrs. Bickner during the trial, as she was alleged to have overheard Mrs. Wells and William H. Newman, now a convict, plan the burning of Mrs. Wells' three houses in Oswego. The houses were burned August 15, 1915. Newman confessed and was sentenced to seven years in the State Penitentiary. Although he said on the witness stand that Mrs. Wells had employed him to burn her houses, the jury acquitted her.
