Mrs. Con Caples Disappears: Forest Grove Stirred.

MOTIVE PROVES PUZZLE

Relatives Say She Was in Ill Health and Suffering From Melancho-Un, and Fear Her Mind May Be Affected.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Aug. 20 .-(Special.)—Forest Grove and vicinity were deeply stirred today over the disappearance of Mrs. Con Caples, who left the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Caples, last Friday afternoon and has not been seen or heard of since,

Her husband, Con Caples, was in Portland Friday and on his return home his wife was found to be missr. Search was at once instituted her, but no trace of her has been tained. It is feared she may have become demented, wandered away from home and become lost or injured

For some time past Mrs. Caples has been in ill health and during the few days preceding her disappearance she caples left the home of her husband's parents at 5 P. M. Friday. She waved her aged mother-in-law an affectionate farewell, persisting in the act until out of sight, but the elder Mrs. Caples thought nothing of it, believing that her daughter-in-law was only going to town on an errand.

Sheriff Reeves has joined in the search for the missing woman. Today parties were organized and the whole parties were organized and the whole city was thoroughly searched. Gales Creek, which runs at the edge of the city, is patroled and the county road about is being combed for some clew to Mrs. Caples' whereabouts.

Mrs. Caples is a sister of County
Burveyor George McGee and also of Mrs. James Shannon, mother-in-law of
E. B. Tongue, District Attorney of Washington County.

When she left home Mrs. Caples

When she left home Mrs. Caples wore a black crepe de chine skirt, black jacket, white waist, black hat faced with pink, and low flat-heeled shoes. She is about 40 years old and

"The disciples on the mount of the transfiguration, seeing no one but Jeeus, are a sublime illustration of those who have heard the 'chord divine.' Good men and women in all ages of time have known the glorious experience, as it came in the richer revelations of God's love. And in mome cases the melody by which Christ has permanently filled and blessed the soul has been lost because of a break with the fellowship of God.

"Sin, carelessness and an unwillingness to meet the demands of God and the higher life have silenced the music.

"Although divine, we must not forget that Christ was human," said Rev. Mr. James. "He laid aside the powers given Him by God so that he would go through the experiences of other men. As a man he bore superhuman burdens.

"The reason why he did not assert the divine right of His nature was because He came to earth to establish a kingdom, to save the souls of men, and to carry the burdens of ordinary men so that, having experience, he would have sympathy.
