BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

MRS. GEORGE ATKINSON WARREN entertained yesterday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. James Cairns with a charming informal bridge-tee, guests being asked to make up three tables of the same. Later in the afternoon the party was augmented by several additional maids and matrons. A profusion of pink roses and gladioli adorned the drawing and dining-rooms and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Edward Robertson, and Mrs. Frank M. Warren.

Two delightful events have been scheduled for today, one a bridge-tee, which is planned as a courtesy to Mrs. Vernon A. Cartwright who soon will leave for her home in England. Guests have been asked to make up five tables of the game and additional guests will join the party at tea time.

The other affair on today's calendar is the wedding of Miss Frances Cabell and Raymond W. Warren, which will be solemnized tonight in St. Stephen's Church at 8:30 o'clock. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. A. M. Curtis and a sister of Rudolph Cabell. Raymond is a son of Edgar E. Courson, the well-known musician, and, although he has spent the greater part of the last few years in Hilo, Hawaiian Islands, he has a host of friends in this city.

He is planning to return to the Islands with his bride, and the wedding date has been hastened on that account. The ceremony will be a small affair, and also the reception, which will follow at the home of the bride-elect's mother.

Honoring Miss Winnifred Wilson, fiancée of A. S. Gould, Mrs. Gordon E. Raymond and Mrs. Henry Hesseldehn will be luncheon hostesses on Wednesday. The affair will take place at the home of the former and covers will be placed for 12.

Miss Carroll McCollom, another bride-elect, will be honored for the bridge party for which Miss Laura Korrell will be hostess on Friday.

One of the most successful meetings of the Lincoln High Alumni Association was held Wednesday evening, members present representing the classes of 1912 to 1916.

After an enjoyable reunion the following officers were elected: James Thomas, president; Agnes Starkweather, vice-president; Margaret Mansfield, secretary; Helen Brigham, assistant secretary; Mary Jane Carr, editor; Stanley Mansfield, treasurer; and Robert Rogers, sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Harrison, of Chicago, Ill., arrived in Portland a few days ago and are visiting at the home of Mr. Harrison's sister, Mrs. J. K. Havely, 715 East Taylor street. Mr. Harrison spent many years here before taking up his residence in the "Windy City" and he is renewing acquaintance with former friends and associates.

Mrs. Robert H. Tate, one of the vice-presidents of the National Congress of Mothers, also is chairman of the Oregon Child Welfare Commission. Mrs. Tate has returned from Hood River and The Dalles, where she gave addresses regarding the Commission's exhibit, which was shown in the latter place under the auspices of the parent-teacher associations and in Hood River under the auspices of the philanthropic committee of the Woman's Club. Mrs. Tate will go to Salem on Thursday to give a stereoscopic lecture at the State Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bowley, of 1167 Hawthorne avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Bowley, to Frank Hahn Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lincoln Johnston. Mr. Johnston is connected with the Standard Oil Company, of this city, and is popular socially in business circles. Miss Bowley is a charming young woman. The family have been here but a few years, coming from Boston, Mass., where there are no definite plans for the wedding.

Among the many interesting and excellent duties of society women will assume today is the meeting this morning at the war relief committee quarters in the city. A number of well-known women will have been their custom for many months, devote their time to the making of surgical bandages and dressings for the European soldiers. Among those who have been faithful devotees of this work are Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. T. C. Stevens, Mrs. Harry Sherwood, Mrs. Frank Hart, Mrs. Charles Scadding, Mrs. W. H. Nunn, Miss Fanning, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. Thomas Robertson, Mrs. Lee Hawley Hoffman, Mrs. Henry Cabell, Mrs. H. N. Burpee and Miss Maizie MacMaster, aside and matrons and all who are interested in relief work and who can spare the time are asked to assist in the work. The headquarters will be opened three days a week all the season.

To raise funds for the Episcopal Church in Hood River, Miss Leona Loveland, Portland's charming songbird, will give an interesting and artistic concert tomorrow night in the Methodist Church of Hood River. Miss Loveland has a large following of devotees both in Hood River and the White Salmon Valley, as well as throughout the Northwest. Her recital tomorrow night promises to be one of the biggest events in the Hood River Valley.

Invitations are out today to society folk for the wedding of Miss Hazel Mills Dolph to Edward W. Warren, of Philadelphia. The wedding will take place in the First Baptist Church at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, October 14. Immediately following the ceremony, which will be attended by hundreds of Portland's representative families, a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Cyrus Abda Dolph, which will be one of the most brilliant functions of the season.

After a prolonged wedding trip, Mr. Clark will take his bride to Philadelphia, where the Clark family which is among the most prominent and influential in the state, make their home. Mr. Clark has selected a charming residence in the fashionable Saint Martins section, on Lincoln Drive, for his bride, and there they will make their home after April 1.

Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie and son, Kenneth, who have been the guests of Kendrick Mackley in Southern Oregon, at Wedderburn, will return this morning. Dr. Mackenzie has been enjoying a much-needed rest for several days.

Laurelhurst club will hold their regular monthly card party today at 8 o'clock in their attractive club, with Mrs. H. E. Alger and Mrs. N. D. Alger acting hostesses. All members are urged to attend.

Miss P. Troup, of this city, is visiting in New York and registered at Hotel Martha Washington.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Thursday evening, September 21, at the home of Mrs. L. E. Holman, when her daughter, Ruth, became the bride of Raymond O. Warner, III, Rev. Frank L. Loveland, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Sully Gibson as bridesmaid and Dr. Horace P. Belknap was best man. Decorations were of potted palms and asters. A buffet supper was served after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Warren left for the beach, and after November 1 will be at home at 581 Third street.

In compliment to all the teachers of St. Johns, a reception will be given on Wednesday night in St. Johns High School. The members of the Parent-Teacher Association have planned the affair. A feature of the occasion will be violin solos by Miss Mildred Nicholas. Other musical numbers will be given. A large attendance is expected.

Mrs. George W. McMath, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, is ill at her home in the Tudor Arms Apartments. Many messages of sympathy and dainty gifts and flowers have been sent by friends.

In compliment to Dean and Mrs. E. H. McCollister, a reception will be held in St. Stephen's parish house on Tuesday night, October 3. The members of the church, the clergy of the city and their friends will be invited to attend. Dean McCollister arrived yesterday from Santa Cruz, Cal., to assume the duties of dean and pastor of St. Stephen's Cathedral. Mrs. McCollister has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. Sherman Taylor, for several weeks.

STYLE TIPS

FROM PORTLAND STORES

It is the material plus a few touches by the gown artist that makes the creation, and, as we all know, the gown builder works in a mysterious way her wonders to perform. That she does perform them some way or other no one doubts. She could not help making wonderful things with the materials that this season are set before her. The shops glow with rich embroideries, spangled nets, marvelous silver embroidered Georgette crepes, and what not.

Cloth of gold used to be just cloth of gold and the silver material just plain silver. Now the gold or silver gleams over colors. There are pink, blue, yellow, orchid and ever so many other colors with silver or gold sheens. The combinations that may be achieved with the materials are hinted by the window decorators, who have artfully draped pale blue silver embroidered lace over pink cloth of silver. Rare combinations of silver and orchid tones are shown.

Popular as the embroidered crepes are, there is yet a rival—spangled net. Like jewelry, emeralds, sapphires, and garnets, beads are set on nets. Black net is the usual background for the gems, and colored nets are also spangled. Little flat jet or colored scale spangles are found in material from several inches wide to about 20. These will go into gowns of Victorian styles, much like those shown in the gown departments. Although some of the spangled nets are completely covered with the scale, others have just the scales are thin and clever workmanship has set them just the right distance apart.

Some soft-colored embroidered nets are edged with silver and have dainty sprays of silver flowers reaching but a few inches into the net. Still they become very elaborate when draped over some colored silver material.

Very dowager-like are the black satins or Georgette crepes embroidered in gold, some even resemble elegant hangings of old. In the plain Georgette crepes there is every color from coral to indigo, emerald, garnet, and sorts of rose and blue and even shades bordering on the tango tones. To say the least, they are a gay yet dainty lot.

A new material has peeped in at the shop and bids fair to rival Georgette crepe in many ways. It is almost a twin sister and is called Georgianiana crepe. It is a trifle heavier than Georgette and has tiny bars. This also may be had in a multitude of colors. Of course there are also lovely brocades and taffetas and satins for evening gowns, but all are impossible without some of the spangled embroidered trimmings, which are becoming so popular that they are seen even on Little Georgette crepe collars and cuffs, now to be had.

Idaho Progressives Name Ticket.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—A complete Electors' Progressive party state ticket was placed in nomination in Idaho through the third party vote cast in Nez Perce County, a number of the candidates for Congressional and state office names being the same as candidates at the Republican and Democratic primaries held this month.

The attitude of the Secretary of State's office is that such a ticket cannot be recognized under the law and unless a test is made it probably will not be.

Lewis County's Grains Win.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Lewis County's grains again won signal honors at the State Fair at North Yakima, according to word just received from there by Secretary Walker, of the Southwest Washington Fair. The Lewis County display was rated as the most extensive and best in its class. The Lewis County exhibit will be taken to the Northwest Land Products show at Seattle the coming month and later the transcontinental railroad lines will take part of it for advertising purposes in the East.

Society no doubt will be in evidence at the Lincoln High School tonight, when Sir Rabindranath Tagore will give a lecture under the auspices of the Drama League.

The Alberta Woman's Improvement Club will meet tonight in the Vernon schoolhouse. Mrs. Bertha Slater Smith will speak on "Green Gravel." Delegates are to be elected to attend the state convention.

Try a Little Dollar Diplomacy!

You think nothing—in your poor deluded way—of paying $2.00 for a theatre ticket or $1.35 for a new novel, but you can secure for a single dollar (half the cost of a single theatre ticket, and less than the cost of a single novel) an entire winter of Vanity Fair and with it a good deal more entertainment than you can derive from dozens of sex plays or a shelf-full of problem novels.

Stop where you are! —Tear off that coupon!

Send me my subscription to VANITY FAIR for six months beginning on _____, 1916. I will pay for it in advance by check or money order for $1.00. (If you prefer to pay by installment, please specify.)
