TRUST CHARGE FILED

Warrants for Arrest of Marble Dealers Sworn Out.

13 MEN ARE INVOLVED

N. A. Tibbetts, Portland Salesman for Ashland Company, Acts on His Own Initiative in Instituting Legal Action.

N. A. Tibbetts, Portland salesman for the Blair Marble Company, of Ashland, yesterday swore out warrants for the arrest of 13 local marble dealers charging a conspiracy in restraint of trade. L. L. Jones, president of the local organization that Tibbetts characterizes as a "trust," vouched for the safe appearance in Municipal Court of the 13 defendants. The 13 men will be booked Saturday night and the case will have a preliminary hearing in court Monday morning.

Although Mr. Tibbetts is the Portland salesman for the company, he is acting solely on his own initiative, the company with which he is affiliated having nothing to do with the legal action instituted.

The 13 defendants who are named in the four warrants are James G. King, J. H. Imhoff, John Brookner, Lean Jones, John Doe Perry, Phillip Neu, L. L. Jones, H. J. Blesing, John Doe Hall, Ernest Schumann, Nicholas Schanen, Edward Schanen and Edward Perry. The warrants assert that these defendants "knowingly fix prices" of granite and marble.

Price Control Charged. Mr. Tibbetts has placed in the hands of the City Attorney a copy of a constitution and by-laws purported to be that under which the organization called the Oregon Monument Manufacturers' Association operates, charging that it shows clearly that the intent of the organization is to control prices on cut stone and monuments and to eliminate competition among the members of the association.

One section specifically says, it is charged, there shall be no effort made by one member of the organization to make a contract if it is apparent that any other member has carried on negotiations for the closing of the same contract.

terday, "and there would be little object in our instituting legal proceedings against the marble men. The action that was made public yesterday, exclusively.

Mr. Tibbetts has been at work for some time arranging the details of the action that was made public yesterday. As there was no anti-trust law on the state statute books he sought the counsel of the City Attorney. The legal fight on the alleged "trust" will be based on an anti-trust city ordinance framed during the time Judge Kavanaugh was City Attorney. The ordinance was passed to be used against what was alleged to be a combination of gravel dealers. It has not been used since.

POSTAL RECRUITER FAILS

Vancouver Too Near Army Post, It Is Believed.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—While J. William Shaw, postmaster, is a recruiting officer, and has made an effort to secure recruits, none has been persuaded to accept the colors. It is thought that Vancouver being located so near an Army post, a recruit would go to the post before going to the postmaster.

Recruits in Washington and Oregon, instead of being shipped down to Fort McDowell, Cal., as has been the custom, will in future be sent here.

MOKEL UNDER FIRE

Witnesses Accuse Plaintiff in Damage Suit.

WEIGHING FRAUD CHARGED

Libel Suit, in Which State Veterinarian Lytle is Sued for $50,000, Will Be Given to Jury Today.

To prove that George R. Mokel sold tubercular cattle in Oregon, as alleged in the letter written by State Veterinarian Lytle, which Mr. Mokel holds to be libelous, half a dozen veterinary surgeons who had made tests on cattle owned or sold by Mr. Mokel, were produced as witnesses in the $50,000 libel suit yesterday.

Then, to substantiate the position taken by Mr. Lytle in his letter, written at the time Mr. Mokel was hoping for confirmation as postmaster of North Portland, that Mr. Mokel was not a fit person for the office, character witnesses were called.

William H. Daugherty, president and manager of the Portland Union Stockyards, said that he had protested against the confirmation of Mr. Mokel's appointment, as he believed the man to be dishonest.

Mr. Plummer Asks Information. O. M. Plummer, secretary of the yards, and in reply to whose request the offending letter was written, said that he wrote Mr. Lytle for an opinion of Mr. Mokel for information on one side of the controversy then raging over the appointment.

In his records, making a profit of $5 for each false entry.

This was in May, 1911. Mr. Mokel was allowed to resign from the Exchange and never since has been allowed to trade upon it. Mr. Plummer said that there had been nothing personal in his relations with Mr. Mokel.

Cattle Found Diseased. Dr. Brown told of an examination made on a herd of 69 cattle Mr. Mokel had received from James Dorsey, of Illinois, in 1914. He had found 18 of the animals of high temperature and thought they were "plugged." Five were suspicious and four were undoubtedly tubercular. This veterinary also told of another herd bought by C. W. Davis, of Vancouver, from Mr. Mokel and Mr. Dorsey. Nine out of 27 were shown to be tubercular and slain, he said.

Dr. Sellwood testified that he conducted an examination last February on a herd of 44 head brought into the state by Mr. Mokel in 1913. He found 25 to be tubercular, two suspicious and no test was made of five, he said.

The defense of the libel suit consists of an effort to prove all the charges made in the letter.

Mr. Lytle was put on the stand late yesterday afternoon. The case will go to the jury today.

L. W. O'Rourke Arrested

Attorney Accused of Attacking Witness of Altercation.

L. W. O'Rourke, attorney and well-known football player, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn to by William Eaton, charging assault.

It is alleged by Mr. Eaton that Mr. O'Rourke struck him September 23 at Thirteenth and Alder streets. Mr. Eaton asserts that on that date as he was passing an apartment-house Mr. O'Rourke, who "had been having an altercation with one of the feminine occupants," came out of the apartment-house visibly hurried. Mr. Eaton alleges that Mr. O'Rourke struck him and knocked him down, much to the amazement of Mr. Eaton.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Five Methodist preachers who had been pastors of the Albany church were in Albany yesterday at one time while on their way to Lebanon to attend the annual conference. They were Rev. J. W. McDougall, superintendent of the Portland district; J. T. Abbett, superintendent of the Eugene district; Rev. W. S. Gordon, pastor at Astoria; Rev. S. H.
