NAME MISUSE IS HIT

Parent-Teacher Association Not in Politics, They Say.

BOOK AGENTS ARE EXPOSED

Society Denies Indorsement of Politicians of Recommendation of Wares—Individual Movie Censorship Advocated.

The Portland Parent-Teacher Association indorses no political candidates, nor does it give any agent the right to use its name in the vending of wares. This was emphasized at the meeting of the association at the library yesterday, when several hundred members were present. An interesting session of questions and answers by Superintendent Alderman was enjoyed. Mrs. Alva Lee Stephens presided. There has risen an abuse of the name of the Parent-Teacher Association owing to its weight with women and children and people who know of its character and prestige, say members of the association. It is said that book agents persuade people to buy histories and other books and periodicals by saying that they are recommended by the Parent-Teacher Association. Boosters for political candidates are said to be abusing the right of the use of the Portland Parent-Teacher Association's name by giving as a recommendation for their candidates the indorsement of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mr. Alderman's Talk Interesting. Many interesting things were revealed in the discussion by Superintendent Alderman. He told of the discovery of expense saving by building one-story school buildings and advocated greater work in the education of Portland adults. He urged the parent-teacher circles to give recognition to high school talent by inviting the boys and girls to appear in song or musical numbers and debates. Play sheds were advocated by Mr. Alderman, who said that they were greatly needed for the children in the winter. "Adult education should be greatly fostered in Portland. I want to see our city a leader in the education of grown-ups and our 4000 who cannot read learn to read and write. The night schools should be patronized," said Mr. Alderman. "There is no reason why education should stop at the age of 25. Then the person is grown and energy that hitherto has been expended in physical growth should be used in mental development."

Individual Censorship Approved. The motion-picture censorship question also was taken up at the meeting. Mrs. Stephens plan that every member appoint herself a censor, and when she notices anything that would be detrimental to morals and minds of the boys and girls, go to the motion-picture manager and speak of it at once, was heartily concurred in by the members. "Motion-picture managers showing social problem and vice pictures say that if it weren't for the high-school boys and girls they would have to close their doors. We must do everything to protect our boys and girls. It is not so much the small child that is induced, but the adolescent child." She advocated the boycotting of those motion-picture houses which continued to show pictures that fell under the ban of the Parent-Teacher Association.

According to Mrs. Lee Davenport, who gave her report on amendments, the petition being circulated asking business men not to employ boys who smoke cigarettes is being signed by a large number of persons. James E. Brockway spoke briefly for the Boy Scout movement.

TRAILS CLUB MAKES TRIP

Members of the Trails Club of Oregon will leave the Union Depot at 11:15 o'clock tonight for Larch Mountain on the third official outing of the organization. The trip will mark the first anniversary of the dedication of Larch Mountain Trail to the public. The plan is to reach the summit in time for sunrise, and to arrive in Portland on the return by 4:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The railroad has offered a round-trip rate of $1 to Multnomah Falls plus a charge of 10 cents a person for organizing the trip. Henry R. Hayek, chairman of the programme committee and second vice-president of the organization, has been in charge of the arrangements.

2 ATTORNEYS FIGHT

W. A. Burke Is Felled in Court by Fist of J. A. Mears.

PAIR CLASH IN KEEP CASE

Counsel for Convicted Man Charges Conspiracy and Knocks Down Opponent, Who Resents Remark; New Bond Arranged.

Attorney W. A. Burke was felled by the fist of Attorney J. A. Mears in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Gatens yesterday morning, following an exchange of words touching activities in the suit of Joseph R. Keep against E. E. Miller. Mr. Mears said he struck in self-defense. There were few people in the courtroom at the time, and Judge Gatens was not on the bench. One version of the incident is that Mr. Burke addressed Mr. Mears with the remark, "I hear you've been talking about me." "I've said nothing bad about you and nothing that is not true," is the alleged reply of Mr. Mears. He admitted later that he had mentioned to acquaintances that he believed Mr. Burke had been hired by Mr. Miller or others to get creditors of Mr. Keep to force him into

CRIME SCENE VISITED

PONTAINE'S ACCOUNT OF NELSON SHOOTING INACCURATE.

Prisoner Waives Preliminary Examination and Is Bound Over—Man's Record Unfavorable.

Nicholas Fontaine, also known as Fontaine, was charged with the murder of Axel Nelson yesterday, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury. Fontaine was taken to the scene of the crime yesterday at 410 Water street by Detective Galt and Craddock, his attorney, and a deputy district attorney. Additional details of the crime were obtained. Fontaine seems not at all perturbed by his admission or by the fact he faces a charge that involves a life sentence in the State Penitentiary. When taken to the scene of the crime detectives became convinced that there was a discrepancy in Fontaine's story. From the point where he said he shot Nelson the old United States saloon porch, where Nelson's body was found, is hardly visible. The range through Nelson's body that the bullet took shows that it would be a physical impossibility for the shot to have been fired from where Fontaine said it was. It was learned late yesterday that Fontaine is alleged to have shot his brother in an altercation in 1907 at Bonneville. Nick disappeared after the shooting and was never prosecuted. Newport Reports Big Salmon Run. NEWPORT, Or., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—

Wallowa Has New Postmaster.

WALLOWA, Or., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Edwin Marvin, ex-Mayor of Wallowa, has been installed as postmaster of Wallowa. Mr. Marvin succeeds J. P. Morelock, who will conduct a garage. He is erecting a brick and concrete building 80 by 80 feet, which will contain a machine shop, sales room, storage-room and women's waiting-room.
