JURY FINDS INSURANCE COMPANY IS RESPONSIBLE.

Suicide Contention Falls to Save Maryland Casualty From Baxmyer Loss.

A jury yesterday returned a verdict in Federal Judge Wolverton's court directing the Maryland Casualty Company to pay to Zillah Cowen, executrix of the estate of Christian F. Baxmyer, $5000 due on an accident insurance policy.

Mr. Baxmyer, who was 55 years old at the time of his death, was found dead by one of the brakemen on the rear platform of a Pullman car March 11, 1916. He was traveling to Chicago on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road. Zillah Cowen made claims to both the Maryland Casualty Company and the Standard Accident Insurance Company, of Detroit, with which Baxmyer carried policies for death benefits. The cause of Baxmyer's death could not be learned and the attorneys for the insurance companies said it looked like suicide. As the policies carried by Baxmyer did not insure against suicide, her demands for death benefits were met with refusal.

STUDENTS FAVOR HUGHES

Willamette University Plans to Organize Alliance.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, Salem, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special).—It seems an assured fact that a branch of the Hughes Alliance will be organized by the varsity men who are supporters of Charles E. Hughes for President. Russell Brooks, a senior in the College of Law, who is treasurer of the Salem Hughes Club, is the promulgator of the plan and he has been meeting with much support from the students. The first meeting will be held Thursday evening, October 19, at the Red publican headquarters in the Masonic Temple, at which time an organization will be perfected.

Dayton Candidates Announce.
DAYTON, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special).—The following have declared their candidacy for the city offices on the citizens' ticket: N. E. Barr, Mayor; J. G. Israel, Treasurer; J. L. Wallace, Clerk; N. E. Hamm, City Attorney; Willis Wilson, Councilman-at-Large; Frank Davis, Councilman First Ward; George Carpenter, Councilman Second Ward; and W. L. Jackson, Councilman Third Ward. The election does not take place until December, so a second ticket is expected to appear.

PORTLAND MAN HANDLES BIG CONTEST HERE.

R. H. Corson.

Local dealers who handle the products of the American Eveready Works are featuring the fact that that organization has offered $3000 to that person suggesting the best name to replace "Eveready," by which electric pocket lamps manufactured by the company are now known. The company is represented here by R. H. Corson. When the word "Eveready" was given to the electric pocket lamp, it was but a flashlight and was not perfected so as to give a steady stream of light. Mr. Corson has blanks that he will furnish dealers, and any person is allowed to enter the contest. In the event two send the winning name, $2000 will be given to each. The money will be sent the winner on Christmas day. The contest is open from October 7 until November 7.

NAVY MAN IS BURIED

FULL HONORS ACCORDED AT FUNERAL OF ALWYN T. HUNT.

Crew of Marblehead and Oregon Naval Militia Attend Ceremonies—South Dakota Sends Flowers.

Escorted by 50 uniformed officers and men from the United States Navy and from the naval militia, the body of Alwyn T. Hunt, seaman of the United States cruiser South Dakota, who was drowned at Los Angeles September 28, was borne to Multnomah Cemetery yesterday afternoon, following funeral services held at the Larch undertaking chapel.

Members of the naval recruiting service, as well as all men of the United States cruiser, Marblehead, who were not on regular duty, attended the funeral of their comrade, the pallbearers being seamen of the United States Navy. They were: O. C. McMinn, W. Becker, J. Thornton, A. Lycke, R. Gould, J. Lycke, A. Z. Mangum and M. W. Paepke.

Honorary pallbearers from the naval militia were: W. J. Banks, W. D. Middleton, W. R. Wood, A. E. Chitty, W. L. Gregory, W. C. Kelly, V. D. Shoemaker and Ward Cunningham. The funeral address was delivered by Chaplain J. Richard Olson, of the Naval Militia.

A floral set piece consisting of an anchor in roses and chrysanthemums was borne by the comrades of Seaman Hunt aboard the South Dakota. The Marblehead and the recruiting office were also represented by floral offerings.

Alwyn T. Hunt was a former Portland boy, who for the past seven years had resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy T. Hunt, on their ranch near Estacada. On January 22 he enlisted in the naval service and was assigned to the South Dakota, rapidly achieving progress in seamanship. While serving as a member of a launch crew he fell overboard and was drowned, despite the gallant attempt of comrades at rescue.

He was the grandson of Mrs. Helen M. Felling, of 361 East Forty-ninth street, one of the state's most prominent pioneer women.

Non-Suit Is Ordered.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special).—In Lewis County Superior Court yesterday Judge Rice granted a motion for a non-suit in the case of A. Bertschinger vs. R. H. Campbell, the charge being extortion. When the case was tried in the local court a year ago the jury found Campbell guilty. It was appealed to the Supreme Court, that trial ordering it retried and the rehearing was on Wednesday.

STUDENTS SCAN MEASURES

Election Topics to Be Discussed at Today's Rally.

Reed College students will hold a political rally today at 1 o'clock, when the Oregon initiative measures to be voted on at the coming election will be discussed. The meeting will be non-partisan and, although in no way non-institutional in nature, will be under the auspices of the Amanda Reed Association, an organization of Reed College women. The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint the students with the measures.

Many Reed students of the politics and sociological departments have been seeking before local gatherings on the measures.

Honest Men Return Roll of Lost Currency.

Banknotes Picked From Sidewalk Are First Thought to Be Hoax Planned by Practical Joker.

If peevish old Diogenes could return with his lantern, he might properly conclude his quest for the honest man by visiting Portland and casting a little light upon the persons of Charles A. Jester and A. Richanbach. Through the integrity of these two citizens the disconsolate loser of $250 in crinkling currency was gladdened yesterday morning.

James L. Sommer, trustee of the Fourth Street Department Store, entered the United States National Bank to deposit funds he found that his pocket was empty. Somewhere along the course taken to the temple of finance lay the lost $250. Mr. Sommer registered despair.

Jester and Richanbach, companions on their way down town, spied the lost lucre as it loomed up on the walk before the bank. They eyed warily about the prize and debated the possibility of it being a hoax. Then they took the lost currency and their problem to Desk Sergeant Thatcher, at the police station.

TOURIST HEAD IS NAMED

EMERY OLNSTEAD TO BE VICE-PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION.

Legislatures Will Be Asked to Provide Funds to Present Scenic Beauty of Northwest in East.

At a meeting yesterday of the Oregon directors for the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, which was formed at Tacoma Wednesday, Emery Olmstead was unanimously chosen as the Oregon vice-president.

The Pacific Northwest Tourist Association is the result of a movement originated with the Portland Automobile Club and the Portland Chamber of Commerce. The intent of the association is to combine all the scenic resources of the Northwest in "The Pacific Northwest Tour" and to make a drive for the tourist business. Instead of Medford being relied upon to advertise the beauties of Crater Lake, that wonderful spot will be made a feature of the big tour, and the resources of Washington and British Columbia will be combined with those of Oregon to make the tour known to the entire world.

The plan contemplates opening offices in the East, each to be in charge of a skilled salesman of the scenic wealth of the Northwest. It is much the same plan as was adopted by California and by Colorado in selling their scenic wonders.

FUND WORKERS NAMED

Christie Home Campaigners Are to Meet Again Monday.

The general committee of the Christie Home fund-raising campaign held a meeting yesterday. Dr. Andrew C. Smith as general chairman of the committee made the following appointments: James D. Farrell, first vice-chairman of the governing board; Ben Selling, second vice-chairman; John F. O'Shea, third vice-chairman; and Franklin T. Griffith, fourth vice-chairman. He also appointed on the executive committee J. C. English, John Manning, M. J. Clodessy, John Cronan, M. Brady, James Clarkson, John Casey and W. D. Whidwright. This committee will hold its first meeting at the campaign headquarters, parlors E and F, at the Portland Hotel, on Monday next at 8 o'clock.

Secretary J. C. English has issued a call for women who are interested to meet at the campaign headquarters, parlors E and F, of the Portland Hotel, next Wednesday at 3 o'clock. At this meeting a general chairman of the women's auxiliary board will be elected.

GRANGE OPPOSES MEASURE
Land and Loan Bill Declared to Be Vicious Law.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special).—Pomona Grange, including representatives of all of the granges of the county, at its Parkplace meeting today, condemned the people's land and loan bill as a confiscatory measure and called upon the farmers of the county to oppose it.

Chris Schuebel, formerly a partner of W. S. U'Ren, father of the bill, condemned it as "the most vicious measure on the ballot."

The grange also recommended that the state open its lime deposits in Benton County and that the lime be sold to farmers at cost. C. E. Spence, state grange master, presided.

BOND ELECTION DATE SET

Klamath Falls to Vote on Railway Matter November 14.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special).—At the last meeting of the City Council it was decided that November 14 should be the date of the municipal election to vote on the $200,000 bond issue to aid in the construction of the Strahorn railroad. It was also decided by the Council to give the voters an opportunity to express their wishes as to whether the Keno Power Company, a local concern, should be granted a franchise to furnish electrical energy in Klamath Falls in competition with the California-Oregon Power Company.
