WIDOW MUST SELL TREASURED BIBLE. Mrs. H. A. Cousins, 446 Clay street, has in her possession a Bible that was published in 1773, which is to be sold for the owner in whose family the book has been ever since its publication. The need of funds has induced the owner to dispose of the family treasure. The Bible was printed by John Ross. On the first page is found this inscription: "Composed by the pious and Rev. Mr. Osterwald, professor of divinity and one of the ministers of the reformed church of Neuchâtel, Switzerland." Mrs. Cousins' telephone number is Main 6255. She is a friend of the widow who owns the book.

CONCRETE AND GAS COMPANY SETTLES. The criminal action brought against Hilmar Papst, manager of the Portland Gas & Coke Company, by the road department of Multnomah County for allowing a tunnel to be driven under a county road, injuring the Highway, was dismissed by District Judge Jones yesterday, on the recommendation of the complainant. An agreement to recompense the county for any damage and to tunnel under no more county roads without permits was reached with the gas company.

PIPE REPAIRING COSTS CITY $1050.—Divers are an expensive luxury, according to a bill presented to the City Council yesterday by Commissioner Daly, for diving services by Walter Sterling during September and October when the submerged pipelines in the Willamette River were repaired. The bill for the diving service was $1050. The diver was paid the amount of $25 a day for four hours' work on days that he actually worked and $4 a day on days he did not work.

R. D. GOULD SUES J. BLANK.—R. D. Gould, of 593 Karst street, who sold a second-hand automobile to J. Blank, solicitor for a trading stamp company, informed yesterday that Blank had defaulted his payments and fled with the car. Only $50 had changed hands in the transaction. Gould declared that Blank and his wife had disposed of their furniture and left their former lodgings at 594 Fifth street, presumably going to Seattle.

NOTED MUSICIANS MEET HERE AFTER 14 YEARS

Phillip Pelz Has Reunion With Cherniavsky Brothers, Whose Father Was Fellow Student in Russia—Early Predictions for Their Success Recalled.

YESTERDAY an acquaintance made 14 years ago in Russia was renewed when the three Cherniavsky brothers, Leo, Jan and Michael, met Phillip Pelz, orchestra leader at the Multnomah Hotel. Fourteen years ago the three little Cherniavsky lads were in the first year of their world tour. Since then every country in the world, save only the United States, had been visited. Phillip Pelz had been a museum colleague of Abraham Cherniavsky, father of the famous trio, in Budapest and St. Petersburg these two had become close friends. Both Cherniavsky, Sr. and Pelz were students of the violin, and each followed the other's work with great interest.

All Meet Later On.—Later Pelz became leader with the Palace Orchestra and Cherniavsky became an eminent musical conductor and teacher. When Leo was 13 Jan was 10 and Michael was 9, the three lads were touring Russia under direction of their father. One day at a summer garden in South Russia, where Pelz was playing, they met, the two men to renew the friendship of their youth, and the boys to know their father's friend. "That day I predicted a big future for the little musicians," said Mr. Pelz yesterday. "I have never before or

THEFT CHARGE DENIED

COE C. WHITE SAYS HE IS VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

Larceny Accusation Will Be Faced Today Because of Disappearance of Chum's Cash.

Coe C. White, 23, for a number of years an employe of the Home Telephone Company, will answer to the charge of larceny before Municipal Judge Langruth this morning. He is at liberty under $150 bail. The circumstances attending White's arrest are peculiar and the defendant stoutly protests that he is innocent. On Monday night City Detectives Snow and Coleman were sent to the Conrad Hotel, to investigate the reported theft of $23 from the room of Coe C. White and his friend, Chester Brigham. The cash was in two purses and more than half of the amount belonged to White. In a private search of the room, the detectives found the purses and the money, hidden in a water tank. To trap the thief they replaced the purses without informing the owners and stationed themselves in an adjoining room. At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon White entered the room, according to Detective Coleman, coming out with the money. He was placed under arrest.

White's story is that he looked in the water tank only after a thorough search of the room and was amazed to discover the missing purses. He owns an automobile and has money in the bank. Friends are positive that the young man is incapable of theft.

Hotel Greeters Will Form Women's Auxiliary.

Preliminary Meeting Is Held at Portland and Committee Will Plan Permanent Organization.

FOR the purpose of forming an auxiliary to the local branch of the Greeters of America, a number of hotelmen and their wives met in the assembly hall of the Portland Hotel Tuesday night. As a result of the meeting, a committee, headed by Mrs. C. H. Van Duyn, was named to prepare a form of definite organization. The other members of the committee are Mrs. E. S. Robe and Mrs. O. O. Madison.

At the conclusion of the meeting a dance in the ballroom of the Portland Hotel was held. Prap's orchestra furnished music. Mr. and Mrs. August van Roosendael gave exhibitions of fancy dancing.

since heard such marvelous playing from children. Even then Leo was a master of the violin, and little Jan at the piano made my heart sing. And now after 14 years I am to hear again music by the children of my dear old classmate. I am looking forward to the concert at the Heliig tonight with greatest joy.

Prediction Comes True.—"It seems only yesterday that their father brought me to hear them play. Handsome little lads they were, and in love with their music even as babies. I told him then that some day his boys would be among the great musicians of the world, and my predictions have come to pass. They have gained the recognition of the music loving and artistic world over."

Tonight the Cherniavsky trio is to give a return concert at the Heliig, and their programme differs entirely from either of the two preceding ones. Tonight a fourth brother, Gregor, will join the trio and with Leo will give as one number Bach's concerto, which critics say is presented flawlessly as mastery of their instruments, the violin, cello and piano, and a soulful, rhythmic feeling marks the work of this trio. Their concert promises to be another splendid treat.

VETERANS TO GIVE DINNER

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Will Attend Reception at German House.

More than 2000 members of the local Grand Army and Women's Relief Corp posts are expected at the reception and supper tonight at the German House, 255 Thirteenth street, when Department Commander Dr. J. E. Hall and his staff of the Grand Army and Mrs. Jacquette Willoughby, of Eugene, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, are entertained by the local posts. The reception will be held in the parlor of the German House and a programme of music and speaking will be given by the audience. In the banquet hall the supper will be served. All corps members have been asked to wear their badges.

The Charm of the Electric Player Piano

The electrically operated player piano has been perfected. It is now an instrument of refinement for the parlor and the music-room. The blatant mechanical effects of a year ago have been succeeded by the genius of Chopin, Beethoven, Schubert and the masterworks rendered by such artists as Harold Bauer, Josef Hofmann, Gabrilowitch and a hundred others.

We offer at our stores in the latest Artistic Players:

The Artrio-Angelus, the Euphona, the Apollo

Each is an instrument playable by hand as an ordinary piano, by pedals, as the usual player piano, as the player electrically operated and controlled manually, or as an authentic reproducing player piano which embodies in its renditions all of the artistry of the greatest masters.

The electrically operated player is the piano of the present and the future. It is logical, more musical, more perfect and more desirable in every way. In no store save ours can be found such a beautiful assortment from which to select. Your old piano in part payment.
